Mirror Asks:

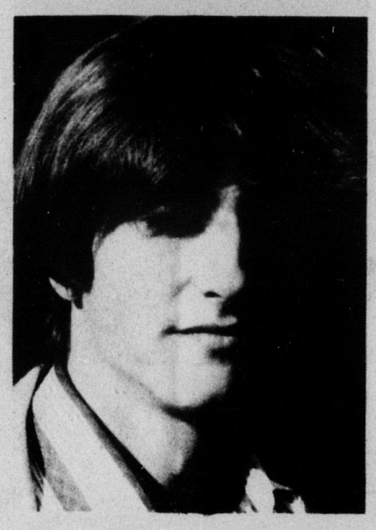
This year's Presidential election will be the first in which the newly enfranchised 18-21 year olds will have the opportunity to vote. Some think the so called youth vote will carry a lot of weight in the election, or will there be any such block vote at all?

We asked students in front of Kings Mountain High School one afternoon this week what effect they think the 18-21 year old vote will have on the outcome of this year's Presidential election.

Editor's Note: This is not intended as an opinion poll, as each student would probably have a different answer. No attempt was made to solicit contrasting opinions.

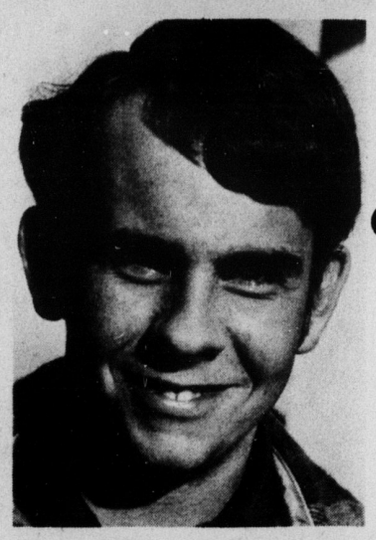
MICHAEL DYKE: "Young people should use this privilege, and be informed before they use it... It should be used as a privilege, and not as a wedge to get their ideas into the government."

LOU ANN ALEXANDER: "I think it will come out a lot better. A lot of young people are more aware of the issues than many older people."



JOHN PLONK: "I think the candidates will try to make the issues go to say they'll help the 18-21 year old voters out."

JOHN BRIDGES: "I don't think it'll change the outcome. I think Nixon will win anyway."



JEROME CASH: "I think the 18-21 year old vote will be in favor of Nixon. He is doing his best to stop the war - people will realize this."
