Ptl. Mike Criswell was on the street this week implementing Kings Mountain's new idea on parking. With the meters gone, the officer chalks tires and returns two hours later to check on violators. Although the notion of no meters appeal to the majority of shoppers and merchants there have been numerous complaints. Most of those complainers think the city should erect signs explaining the two hour limit. Someone must have been listening in the high places of local government because the foot officer disappeared the latter part of the week. The next step is yet to be seen.

Total School Expenditure In KM System Reached $1,655,879

received nearly $487 million from the state nine months school fund for the 1971-72 fiscal year. That's an increase of slightly more than 6% over the previous year. The figures are based on an audit of the fund by the State Board of Education, released today by Controller A: C. Da-

The nine months school fund includes the bulk of the state money allocated for public

Most of the state money in the fund is earmarked to pay teachers, principals, super-visors, and school superin-tendents. During 1971 - 72, cipals received a total of $367,093,383. Another $3, 420,109 went to supervisors, and $4,281,074 was paid to superintendents and assistant superintendents.

The average classroom teacher in North Carolina earned $8,054 last year, $442 more than the previous year. By comparison, the average teacher pay five years ago was $5327 and in 1962 it was $4649. These figures do not include any supplement paid to teachers by local school units.

The average salary in 1971-72 for supervisors in North Carolina schools was $10,961 and the average for school principals was $12,486. Superintendents had an average salary of $17,114, and assistant superintendents $14,997. Again, these figures do not include any local supplement.

The number of classroom teachers and principals paid from the nine months school fund was 44,496 in 1971-72 as compared with 44,671 in 1970-71--a decrease of 175 instructional positions. The decrease was due to a decline in student enrollment.

The number of classroom teachers for 1971-72 includes 2,391 exceptional education teachers who were employed from a seperate allotment. This number represents an increase of 194 over 1970-71. These teachers work with the retarded, those with speech and hearing handicaps, those who are emotionally disturbed or who have other disabilities. This groupalso includes those who teach the exceptionally talented.

The nine months school fund also includes appropriations for kindergartens, During 1971 -72 the kindergarten program was expanded by 36 additional centers over the 18 which were in operation during 1970-71. This makes a total of 54 centers serving 2,484 children. The total allocated for the kindergarten program was $1,734,491.

326 were used to purchase replacement buses and service vehicles. The unalloted equip-ment, plus the purchases of additional equipment, provided a total of $4,615,749 for allocation to the counties in also includes $451,707 for the child health program.

Total expenditures in the Kings MountainSchool system reached a total of $1,655,879. 78. Unit breakdown includes $25,331.72 for general control which includes such items as salaries for superintendents and assistant superintendent as well as travel and office expense and salaries for clerical assistance in the super-intendent's office. Wages for teachers, principals and supervisors and costs of instructional supplies and clerical assistance in the schools reached $1,363,292.20. erational costs such as utility bills and janitor wages were listed at $75, 123.00. Wages for bus drivers and mechanics, operation of school buses, library supplies, child health programs and kindergartens were $1,827.00. Compensation which includes tort claims, reimbursement to injured school children, employer's retirement cost and employer's social security
