

Farm Bureau Names Officers

Jack Scism, Patterson Grover farmer, was elected president of the Cleveland County Farm Bureau at the annual dinner meeting Thursday night.

Other officers are Everette Lutz, vice-president, and T.Z. Hord, secretary-treasurer. The officers will serve three-year terms.

Directors, who were elected for two year terms, are Forrest Carroll, No. 2 Township chairman; Cameron Ware, No. 4 Township chairman; Larry Baxter and G.E. Wright, No. 6 Township; Thomas Covington, No. 8 Township; and Jeffrey Crofts, No. 10 Township.

Mrs. Dwight Beam was elected to succeed Mrs. Jack Scism as chairman of the Women's Committee. Mrs. Scism reported that the Cleveland Farm Bureau has 3,387 members. She said the board of directors has approved renovating the office building to provide two additional offices and an addition to the board room.

The Dale Blanton family of Rt. 1, Gaffney, S.C. were honored as Cleveland County Farm Family of the Year.

The Kings Mountain Scisms are also former recipients of the coveted honor.

Paper Staff Hosts Dance

The Central School newspaper staff will sponsor a Halloween disco dance on October 25 from 7:30-10:30 p.m. in the Central gym.

Admission is 50 cents in advance and 75 cents at the door. Tickets may be purchased from any member of the newspaper staff.

Only Central School students may attend.

CONSERVATION MEETING

The Cleveland League on Conservation will meet at 7 p.m. tonight at Jackson's Cafeteria in Shelby. Peggy Carr, landscape architect, will speak on the South Mountain State Park and the zoning controversy at Crowder's Mountain State Park. The Cleveland Conservationist of the Year Award will also be presented.

THIS IS SPIRITWEEK—Colette Reynolds and Mike Spears, president of the KMSHS student body, get in the "spirit of things" in preparation for Friday's big Homecoming Day events at the church. Colette, a varsity cheerleader, dressed up for Hoe Down Day on Monday. Today is the 50's and KMSHS students will be dressed in the style reminiscent of that era.

Some of the ladies of David Baptist Church show off some of the many crafts that will be on sale at their fellowship hall. All persons are urged to attend and support the church. bazaar which will be held this Saturday at the church.

Excuse Us, And Forget Tie-Breaker

By now, all of you football "guessperts" have probably realized that a line of type was lost off the Football Contest in Tuesday's Herald.

The line was left off the tie-braker, leaving the prognosticators puzzled and the telephone lines ringing at our office.

The tie-breaker game was supposed to be UNC-N.C. State, but since it's so close to the Friday deadline, the tie-breaker has been eliminated from this week's contest.

In case of a tie this week, the $75 prize money will be divided.

We regret the miscue. But keep those entries coming. Maybe there won't be a tie.

Oldtimers Day Sun

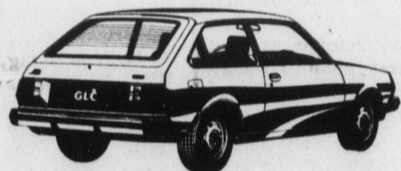

The Kings Mountain Church of the Nazarene will observe oldtimers day Sunday morning.

The "Swinging Mountaineers" senior citizens band will be in charge of the 10:30 a.m. worship service.

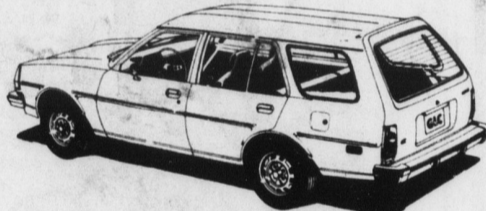

All senior citizens will dress in oldtimey clothes and the church will present special gifts to all senior citizens.

Rev. George Neighbors, pastor, invites the community to attend.
