Candidates are being elected in nine farming communities in the county.

Jaycees Attend Convention

Four members of the Kings Mountain Jaycees attended the North Carolina Jaycee Mid-Year Convention held Nov. 16-18 at the Radisson in Charlotte. Those attending included Mike Neely, Allan Propst, Jim Tate and Doug Burch.

The Kings Mountain Jaycees were honored with several outstanding Awards. The local chapter placed second in the Parade of Chapters competition in their statewide population division. The local chapter was also presented a Leadership Award for recruitment and retention for the month of August. Individual awards were presented to President David Dilling for outstanding leadership in becoming a member of North Carolina Jaycee President Maurice Wilson's "Marauders." Tom Franks was also awarded in recognition of his achieving significant programming in the area of community fund raising for the Run-Walk-a-thon project.

Future projects of the Kings Mountain Jaycees include Christmas Tree Sales which will begin Dec. 1st and the selling of "Accent Basketball Magazines" which will begin the latter part of November. Magazine proceeds will benefit the "Light Up My Life" chapels for the mentally retarded of North Carolina. These chapels will provide a place of worship for the people at these institutions. The center closest to Kings Mountain will be located in Morganton.

"Your support of these projects is greatly appreciated by the Kings Mountain Jaycees and those that these projects benefit," said a spokesman.

Former KMer Commended For Effort

Roger Gantt, formerly of Kings Mountain, son of Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Gantt of Kings Mountain and grandson of Mrs. W.R. Miller of Kings Mountain, was driving his private car enroute home on I-80 recently when he came upon a vehicle accident prior to the emergency units and immediately took charge.

Gantt was cited by the Citrus Heights Fire Department, Citrus Heights, Ca., for his heroic action recently.

According to Fire Chief James A. Gannell, Gantt saw that the driver was trapped in his vehicle and unable to get out. Even though Captain Gantt knew that gasoline was leaking from the ruptured fuel tank, he, along with an unknown passerby, attempted to remove the victim from the vehicle. At this time the vehicle caught fire, according to Captain Darnell, and Captain Gantt continued to try to remove the victim but to no avail. Even though the victim died, this does nothing to diminish the quick, unselfish, heroic actions of Captain Gantt and the unknown passerby," said the letter of commendation from the Board of Directors of the Citrus Heights Fire District.

Mrs. Anthony First Woman On GMA Board

Elizabeth (Mrs. W.P.) Anthony, elected as the first woman to the first board of directors of Green Mountain Association, has enjoyed camping with her husband and 11-year-old son, Neal, for five years.

The Anthonys are among five families from this area who are active in the private luxury resort camping program at Lenoir and are among 400 members of the Association. Other area families are the Richard Rosses, the Broadus Herndons, the Bill Queens and the William K. Smiths. New campaign memberships are invited.

Mrs. Anthony, the former Libby Camp, was elected to a three-year term on the board and received the second highest number of votes among 32 candidates for board positions. She was elected by the new board to serve as secretary.

"It is a beautiful season at Green Mountain, located three miles from Lenoir on Zack's

Fork Road," said Mrs. Anthony, as she and her family packed their camper to participate in Thanksgiving weekend activities which included a covered dish dinner. "These crisp days are great for hiking, fishing and gatherings around camp fires and indoor swimming, games and dancing are also provided in the Great Hall," she said. "Surrounding the paved, developed camping area is a wilderness wonderland, she added, with its fishing lakes, nature trails for hiking or horseback riding and 15 miles of four-wheel drive trails."

Mrs. Anthony, an employe of Durham Life Insurance Co. of Gastonia, is committee chairman and treasurer of Cub Pack 294. In addition to being an assistant Sunday School teacher and pianist in the Adult Department of Patterson Grove Baptist Church, she is also a student in the business program at Gardner Webb College.

The Anthonys reside on Waco Rd.
