

50 Percent Increase In Stamp Program

RALEIGH — Major changes in the food stamp program that took effect in January and March of this year have resulted in a 50 percent increase in the number of low-income people in Cleveland County participating in the program.

In July 1979, there were 2,340 residents of the county participating, compared to only 1,565 in July 1978. The total value of the stamps issued in July 1979 was $99,099.

Even with this increase in participation, there are still 3,938 people in the county who are eligible for the program who are not participating based on estimates from the Division of Social Services of the N.C. Department of Human Resources.

Many changes have taken place in the program this year as a result of food stamp reform legislation enacted by Congress in 1977.

John Kerr, chief of the Food Assistance Section of the Division, cited two changes, however, as the most significant in determining the number of participants. "The elimination of the requirement that people have to pay a certain amount of their money in order to get a larger amount of food stamps became effective on January 1. Participants now receive a smaller amount of stamps at no charge. Lowering the eligibility level to the federal poverty level on March 1 had little effect on the number of recipients in North Carolina because the vast majority participating already had very low incomes," he indicated.

Kerr said that statewide there were 510,375 people participating in the program in July 1979, compared to only 375,011 a year earlier. This was a 36 percent increase. "We still have 490,725 people across the state with incomes low enough to qualify for food stamps, based on estimates by the U.S. Department of Agriculture, who are not participating," Kerr said.

The total cash value of food stamps issued statewide in July 1979 was $16.5 million. He estimates that over $200 million in food stamps will be issued during the current state fiscal year, which ends June 30, 1980.

Alvin Levine Named To Pic N Pay Position

CHARLOTTE — Alvin E. Levine, President of Pic 'N Pay Stores, Inc. was elected Chairman of the Board and Chief Executive Officer today.

Edward Karp, Executive Vice President, was elected President and Chief Operating Officer. Both assume their duties January 1, 1980.

Albert G. Segal, 67, Chairman of the Board, announced his retirement effective January 1, 1980. Segal was named Honorary Chairman of the Board. Levine announced that the Board of Directors declared a regular quarterly dividend of eight cents per share payable January 2, 1980 to shareholders of record December 10, 1979.

The shareholders approved an amendment to the Certificate of Incorporation to increase the authorized common stock, par value 10 cents per share, from 3,500,000 shares to 5,000,000 shares. "The purpose of the increase is for possible stock splits, stock dividends, mergers, and acquisitions," said Levine.

Elected to the board were Albert G. Segal, Alvin E. Levine, R. Stuart Dickson, Charles R. Jonas, and Edward Karp.

Pic 'N Pay operates 428 shoe stores in 13 Southeastern and adjoining states.

Majority Of Children In State Immunized

Seventy-three percent of North Carolina's two-year-olds are fully immunized against the serious childhood diseases, according to a survey just released by the Division of Health Services of the Department of Human Resources.

Additional thousands have partial protection. For example, 92 percent have been protected against diphtheria, tetanus, and whooping cough (DTP), with three or more shots. The other immunizations required under state law are polio, measles, and rubella (German measles). Mumps vaccine, while not required, is usually administered.

Frank Lewis, coordinator for the state's immunization program, said that while the percentage of two-year-olds having full protection is still short of the announced goal of 95 percent, "we are making solid progress in getting children started on their immunization schedule. In 1973, we found that 5 percent of the children at this age had none of the required shots; in 1974 the figure was 4 percent; in 1977 it was down to 2 percent, and in the current study it is 1 percent. This indicates that progress is being made."

The recommended schedule calls for the first shots to be administered at two months of age, and by two years the child should have completed the schedule.

Lewis said that there was some increase in the administration of all vaccines to two-year-olds, except for the oral polio vaccine, which showed a decrease from 88 percent last year to 79 percent. This can be explained, he said, by the July, 1977, change in recommended dosage. At that time the third dose for an infant less than one year dropped to two doses, with the third to be given at 18 months of age. "Clearly, a lot of children who received two doses in the first year of life never got their third shot at 18 months," Lewis said.

"The children we are reaching now reside in segments of the population that are extremely difficult to reach, so that progress, as reported in percentages, will come slowly," said Lewis. "Although it is an expensive process, most local health departments have established tracking systems for patients who need additional shots."

All immunizations can be obtained free of charge at the health clinics.
