Heather Bryte Bradshaw, 10-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Bradshaw of Canterbury Rd., was presented in her first voice recital Saturday evening at the home of her instructor, Mrs. Luther Cansler, at "Greenway" on Canterbury Rd. Miss Bradshaw delighted the group present, including three generations of the Bradshaw family and four generations of the Ramsey family, in a program of readings.

HEATHER BRADSHAW
...gave voice recital

Co-hostesses for the recital program were Mrs. Cansler and Mrs. Don W. Blanton, assisted by Miss Penelope Cansler of Greenville, S.C., Mrs. Charles Ramsey II and Mrs. James Sellars of Charlotte.

After the program, Mrs. Cansler took the occasion to present Miss Bradshaw with a book of poetry and Miss Bradshaw presented gifts to the hostesses.

A benedictory prayer was prayed by Robert Bradshaw, II, Matthew Bradshaw and Heather

Bradshaw. Carla Ramsey also assisted in serving refreshments. The tea table in the dining room was decorated in pink and white. Miss Penelope Cansler presided at the punch bowl and guests enjoyed pink fruit punch and pink and white party cakes and pickups.

Mrs. Cansler gave the welcome and introduced the various selections of poetry by Heather Bradshaw. She commended Heather, who has studied voice since age five, for her outstanding work during the past year.

The talented young lady wore a long white dress and a corsage of pink sweetheart roses. The hostesses were also gowned in long formals and wore shoulder corsages.

Heather's program included:

"Friendship"; From Henry Wadsworth Longfellow, "Hiawatha's Childhood" and "The Village Blacksmith"; Eugene Field's "Grandma's Prayer"; "Letta Georgio Washington" by John Augustine Daly; "Someone" by Walter e la Mare; "A Trilogy" by Nancy Byrd Turner of "The First Thanksgiving Of All", "Washington" and "Lincoln"; "Trees" by Joyce Kilmer; A Selection of Favorites by Eugene Field, including "The Sugar Plum Tree", "Wynken, Blynken and Nod", "The Duel" and "Seeing Things"; "A Song of Little People" by Bliss Carman; Henry Van Dyke's "America for Me"; and A Trilogy of Favorites including "Spring Song" by Elizabeth Goudge, "King David's Psalm 100" and Christina Rossetti's "My Gift."
