The victory of the Overmountain Men ultimately delayed Lord Cornwallis' sweep of the Carolinas for three months, during which the Continental Army organized a new offensive in the South. General Nathanael Greene, who was to become Continental Army commander of the Southern Department, seized from Cornwallis the military initiative in the Carolinas, an initiative the British general never regained before he was forced to surrender at Yorktown in 1781.

The commemorative postal card series began in 1978 with the card honoring Molly Pitcher, heroine of the Battle of Monmouth, New Jersey, in 1778. The second card, issued in 1979, honored George Rogers Clark, Revolutionary war frontier military leader. It was followed by cards honoring General Casimir Pulaski, who was fatally wounded at the Battle of Savannah, Georgia, in 1779, and marking the arrival of French forces under Comte Jean-Baptiste de Rochambeau at Newport, Rhode Island, in 1780. All of the cards in the series, including the Battle of Kings Mountain issue, have been designed by David Blossom of Weston, Connecticut.

The Kings Mountain postal card is being printed by the offset process at the Government Printing Office. Its dimensions are 3 1/2 x 5 1/2 inches or 88.9x139.7 millimeters.

The vignette of the card features one of the frontiersmen standing behind a tree in the foreground, with other members of the Patriot force appearing to the rear in positions behind fallen timbers. At the upper right, in one line of black type, is "USA 10c." Across the bottom, in another line of black type, is "Battle of Kings Mountain, 1780."

Requests for first day cancellations for the Kings Mountain postal card should be addressed to "Kings Mountain Postal Card, Postmaster, Kings Mountain, N.C. 28086."

Personal checks in the exact amount will be accepted for orders up to the limit of 50 cards. Postage stamps and cash are not acceptable as payment. Orders must be postmarked by October 7.

To eliminate the requirement for Postal Service personnel to apply return addresses, and thus speed processing, customers are requested to send self-addressed envelopes of an appropriate size of return address labels with their orders.

Tennis Tourney Slated During Bicentennial Week

A four-day tennis tournament has been scheduled for Oct. 4-7 as part of the 200th anniversary celebration of the Campaign and Battle of Kings Mountain.

Sponsored by the City of Kings Mountain Parks and Recreation Department, the tournament will be the first here to be sanctioned by the United States Tennis Association (USTA). Matches will be played at Kings Mountain High School and Kings Mountain Country Club.

Play will be in four divisions: men's and women's open, and men's and women's 35 and older. The entry fee will be $10 and all entries must be submitted by Sept. 26.

First and second-place winners in each division will be awarded commemorative plaques.

Entry forms and information are available from Mike Nappi, Supt. of Parks and Recreation, City of Kings Mountain, P.O. Box 429, Kings Mountain.
