

Bazaar Slated November 22

The Kings Mountain Parks and Recreation Department will be sponsoring a "Fall Bazaar" on Saturday, November 22, 1980 from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. in the Gymnasium of the Kings Mountain Neighborhood Facility Center.

Any groups of individuals interested in participating and selling any articles on that day are urged to contact the Neighborhood Facility Center as soon as possible. There are only a limited number of table set-ups available, which consist of 2-8 ft. long tables and will rent at $10.00 for the entire day.

Reservations will be taken up until all set-ups are sold out or until Friday, November 14, whichever comes first. Reservations can be made at the office of the Kings Mountain Neighborhood Facility Center, Room 102, located at 208 N. Cleveland Avenue, Kings Mountain.

All table set-ups area selections will be done on a first-come, first-served basis at registration.

For more information on the Fall Bazaar, call the Kings Mountain Neighborhood Facility Center at 739-3549.

All proceeds from this bazaar will go towards a Universal Weight Machine to be used in the physical fitness room of the Center.

Industries Increased In County

Industrial development in Cleveland County has increased by nearly $105 million and added more than 1,450 new jobs during the first three and half years of Governor Jim Hunt's administration.

Hunt said, "The outstanding record of Cleveland County in economic development proves that we have the skilled workers and resources to attract high-wage, high-quality industries to North Carolina. One of my top priorities will continue to be the attraction of this kind of investment to Cleveland County and to all of North Carolina."

New investments in the county accounted for $25.5 million in investments and the creation of more than 1,300 new jobs. Industrial expansions totalled more than $79 million and accounted for 627 new jobs. The figures cover the period from January 1977, through the first six months of 1980.

"Jim Hunt is a good jobs governor," said Pat Spangler, chairman of the Jim Hunt Re-Election Committee for Cleveland County. "He's brought more good jobs to this state than any Governor in our history. The high-quality industry that Jim Hunt's leadership has brought to Cleveland County and to this state will go a long way toward improving the quality of life for all our citizens."

The largest single new investment came from Union Carbide Corp. with their announcement in June of their plans for a $10 to $12 million investment in Shelby, creating 700 new jobs. There were five other new investments of more than $1 million, resulting in the creation of nearly 500 new jobs.

PPG Industries and Fiber Industries, both of Shelby, were the largest expansion investors with $30 million and $36 million respectively.

Girl Scouts Attend Conference

Lynda McGinty and Kim Greenway, leaders, Belmont; Janet Bishop, leader, Mount Holly; Valerie Eaker, Senior Girl

Scout from Cherryville; Joann Parker, Neighborhood Chairman, Lincolnton, Eileen Yates, outbased Field Director, and Norma Steeves, Neighborhood Chairman, Shelby; and Harriet Cobb, leader, Forest City.

Centered around the theme "Where The Future Begins: Girl Scouting in the '80s", the conference presented an overview of the totally revised and updated program for Girl Scouts aged six through 17. Some of the newest developments introduced were a Girl Scout Gold Award for girls of exceptional achievement, a handbook for Cadette and Senior Girl Scouts and 76 forward-looking badges for Junior Girl Scouts to earn.

Highlights of the three-day event included a gala international luncheon on the second day and a workshop conducted by personnel of the Children's Television Workshop entitled "Television As A Resource: 3-2-1 CONTACT As A Model." This presentation demonstrated how 3-2-1 CONTACT, an educational TV show produced by C.T.W., relates to several of the new Girl Scout badges.

The last day of the conference was devoted to group meetings on the topic, "Where Do We Go From Here?" These meetings provided a forum for discussing future possibilities and directions in Girl Scouting.

The Richmond program conference is one of ten to take place during October and November in cities from coast to coast. Registrations for the series were received from all 340 local Girl Scout councils in 50 states, the District of Columbia and Puerto Rico. Guam was also represented, as was North Atlantic Girl Scouts, which serves U.S. Girl Scouts residing in foreign countries.
