Vandals Hit On Halloween

Halloween vandalism was heavy in the Kings Mountain area and police were kept busy as reports of cutting tires and egging of vehicles made the evening unpleasant for many citizens.

According to Kings Mountain Police Department clerk Marti Southards the incidents included:

Breaking and Entering at First Presbyterian Church, reported stolen were a bank bag containing one check, paperweight and magic marker.

Louise Lybrand reported larceny of a battery, valued at $60.

Inez Crowley of N. Roxford Road reported that tires on her automobile were cut.

Barbara Vess, of Charlotte, reported that her automobile was damaged by rockthrowing vandals on Watterson St. Rock throwing vandals also damaged an automobile operated by Jack Martin, of 104 Marigold St., as he was traveling on Watterson St.

Lloyd Wiggins of Bessemer City reported the theft of a CB, a pocket calculator and six smoking pipes from his car, estimated loss, $168.

Helen Marlowe, of Shelby, reported that machines at Piedmont Washerette were vandalized and an undetermined amount of cash stolen.

Tires were cut on automobiles parked at Dilling Heating Co., estimated damage $400.

Kay Taylor, of 803 Williamsburg Court, reported that her pocketbook was stolen containing credit cards, personal checks and $60 in cash.

Margaret Byers, Route 3, and Michael Woods of Landing St. reported that tires were cut on their vehicles while they were at work at Sadie Mills.

Philip Henning, of Monroe, reported that three tires were cut on his 1980 Pontiac while the car was parked at KM Country Club.

Joyce Ware, of Gastonia, reported that her car was struck by a brick or rocks as she traveled on Cansler St. Estimated damages were $250.

Noah Causby, of 102 Center St., reported that his car was "rocked" as he traveled on Cansler St.

Barbara Dixon, of Shelby, reported that a tire was cut on her car and her vehicle was "egged".

The Pantry, on Linwood Rd., reported the theft of three books from a newsstand.
