

Congressman Kemp To Visit Gardner-Webb March 23

BOILING SPRINGS, N.C.—Plans for Congressman Jack Kemp's (R-N.Y.) visit to Gardner-Webb College are taking shape.

As Congressman in Washington prepare to vote on President Reagan's proposed tax cut plan, Kemp will take time out to visit the Boiling Springs campus on March 23.

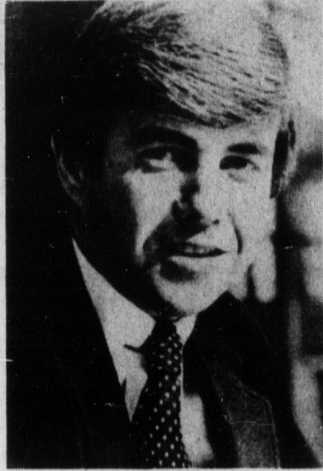

He will arrive in Shelby on Sunday, March 22 and will speak on Monday at a 9:30 a.m. Convocation program at Gardner-Webb. The program is open to the public. Preceding the 9:30 a.m. address, Kemp and Congressman James Broyhill, (R-N.Y.) will hold a press conference.

Congressman Kemp is in his sixth two-year term in the House of Representatives. He is co-author of the Kemp-Roth Tax Rate Reduction Act, presently included in Reagan's tax proposal which will be introduced to both the Senate and House.

The Kemp-Roth Bill calls for a 30 percent personal reduction in personal income tax rates over a three year period. That part of the bill is included in the Reagan proposal, however, the call for indexing and spending limitation are not. In a statement made on Feb. 25, a spokesman for Congressman Kemp's office said the bill is expected to pass this year.

Kemp has been an active member of the House of Representatives since his election in 1970. He has served as chairman of Policy Development and chief spokesman during the 1980 campaign for President Reagan and as Chairman of the Republican Platform Committee's Subcommittee on Foreign Policy. Congressman Kemp was an active congressional delegate to Strategic Arms Limitations Talks in Geneva, to the Jerusalem Conference on International Terrorism and at the United Nations Commission on Refugees meeting in Geneva. He is an influential spokesman for human rights, including the freedom to emigrate and worship for persecuted Jews, Christians and others in the Soviet Union and captive nations.

Kemp will be accompanied to the Gardner-Webb campus by Congressman Broyhill (R-N.C.). Broyhill is serving his tenth term in the U.S. House of Representatives and is senior minority member of the Energy and Commerce Committee in the House. His legislative interests are in the fields of economy, public health policy, energy resources, environmental laws, communications and consumer protection.

The visit of Congressmen Kemp and Broyhill to the Boiling Springs campus is sponsored by the Broyhill Academy for the Study of Independent Concepts at Gardner-Webb College. Supported by the Broyhill Foundation and contributions from other private industries and foundations, the BASIC program is designed to promote the concept of independence and the values of the free enterprise system.

According to Dan Moore, director of BASIC, one of the major goals of the program this year, is to bring a nationally known speaker, preferably an advocate of the free enterprise system, to Gardner-Webb College.

Ten students from each of the 21 schools in the five county district surrounding Boiling Springs have been invited to the Convocation program.

Rauch Appointed Chairman

Lieutenant Governor James C. Green announced this week the appointment of Senator Marshall Rauch, D-Gaston, to the Chairmanship of the Legislative Ethics Committee.

Senator Rauch also represents Lincoln, Cleveland, and Rutherford Counties.

The Ethics Committee was formed in 1975. It collects financial statements from legislators, receives reports, prepares ethics guidelines, and can give advisory opinions.

As Chairman of the Ethics Committee, Rauch will serve only a one year term. Other committee members are appointed to two year terms. Rauch will be replaced in 1982 by a member of the House of Representatives.

The other members appointed by Lieutenant Governor Green are Senator Craig Lawing, D-Mecklenburg, Senator J.J. Harrington, D-Bertie, Senator William Redman, R-Iredell, and Senator T. Cass Ballenger, R-Catawba.

Speaker of the House Liston Ramsey, D-Madison, will also appoint four Representatives to the committee.

How much you have to pay for your fuel, your food, your furniture and practically anything else it suits your fancy to buy, could depend, at least in part, on how much attention people pay to American Energy Week, March 15 to 21, 1981.

That week, called a "people's movement" to increase awareness of our energy problems and focus government attention on a search for solutions, is backed by more than 200 organizations of all kinds across the country.

If it is successful, and America can regain a degree of control over some of our most basic necessities, the overseas oil payments could be cut back, allowing us to improve our domestic economy, employment and productivity. By sharply reducing our large trade debt to foreign oil suppliers, the United States could strengthen the value of the U.S. dollar in international markets.

That can help your dollar go further in our own supermarkets. That could be super for all consumers.
