Students Return From Tour

Dallas....Gaston College students in the "Great British Heritage" study tour have recently returned from London, Edinburgh, Oxford-upon-Avon, and Dublin.

Fourteen students, with their instructor Bob Blanton, departed on June 24 for two weeks visiting, learning, and enjoying interesting and historical sites. They attended museums and theatres.

The group visited Canterbury Cathedral, Hever Castle and Chatwell, the Tower of London and the British Museum. They spent a morning excursion to Windsor Castle and Hampton Court. Sightseeing in Edinburgh, they visited the Edinburgh Castle.

A full-day trip to the Trossachs then a flight to Dublin where they were guided by a local guide to view interesting and beautiful sights.

On Thursday, July 9 they made their way back to the United States where they will relive, many times, the places they visited, the things they saw and the friends they made. They look forward to other study tours which will be held by the Sociology Department of Gaston College. The next study tour will be an after-Christmas study tour to Mexico. Next summer a two week European study tour will be held.

Students interested should contact Bob Blanton, Study Tour Director at Gaston College for more information.

Book Reviews

Following are two more book reviews from the Children's Reading Program at Mauney Memorial Library:

CHOCOLATE FEVER

The book is about a boy that loved chocolate. One day he saw brown spots all over him. He had Chocolate Fever.

I like the book because I like chocolate.
Kim Ware, age 9

THE DETECTIVE OF LONDON

I read "The Detective of London" by Robert Bruce Kraus. It is a mystery about a dog detective who is on the trail of the missing dinosaur bones. I enjoyed it very much.

Herbal remedies that may kill

An alert is out for so-called Chinese herbal remedies sold by health food stores and through the mail. Such remedies have been shown to contain strong prescription drugs including doses of an anti-inflammatory agent, a potent diuretic, and a tranquilizing agent.

If you are taking herbal products, or know someone who is, the caution is to stop immediately and check with your physician — particularly, if you're an arthritis patient on drug therapy using such remedies.

We stand ever ready to answer your questions about health matters — confidentially.
