

Lunacy Commission Resumes Investigation As to Thaw's Sanity

New York, April 2.—The Thaw lunacy commission resumes today, Justice Fitzgerald's instructions to the jury to report Thursday morning are taken to mean that the justice expects the commission to conclude by Wednesday evening.

It is reasoned, therefore, that the commission will not spend much time hearing the State's alienists.

Evelyn Thaw was perturbed over being subpoenaed to appear today, fearing she would have to testify against her husband.

Dr. McGuire Testified. Dr. McGuire, the Tombs physician was the first witness before the Thaw commission.

They Think Thaw Sane. Dr. McGuire was asked about the book in which he kept the record of the prisoner and which Jerome produced before the commission Saturday. He said the book contained mostly hearsay matter and but few original entries by himself.

Dr. McGuire said on cross-examination he had never made any special examination of Thaw to determine his sanity. He had been refused permission to be present at Thaw's examination by the alienists for the offense on June 28th.

Dr. McGuire said he had not talked with Thaw regarding his trial or his mental condition. Their conversations had been confined to current topics. Michael J. Delahanty, the prison guard, who attended Thaw at his trial, said Thaw always talked in an understandable way and appeared rational.

Chairman McClure wanted to know if the witness thought Thaw had had a good day when he used the expression he had a good day.

"Yes, sir, it impressed me that way." Frank J. Sheridan another of Thaw's guards, said he had never seen Thaw do anything irrational.

Cross examined by the district attorney, the witness said he had never discussed White with the prisoner.

"Did you ever hear him say anything about being St. George rescuing Virgins from the red dragons?" asked Jerome.

"No, sir." Mrs. Emily S. Walker, probational officer of the court of special sessions, and a constant visitor to the Tombs, said she had talked with Thaw many times prior to and during the trial. His talk and manner of speech were always rational.

Rev. John Armstrong Wade, chaplain in the Tombs, never noticed anything in Thaw's facial expression which suggests irrationality. Thaw's conversations were rational and at some times seemed unusually keen.

Jerome asked Mr. Wade if the first conversation he had with Thaw after his arrest was rational or irrational.

Thaw tugged at Hartridge's coat sleeve and said in an audible whisper: "Object to that." Hartridge did so, but the question was allowed.

"His conversation at that time," said the chaplain, "was irrational." Rev. Luke J. Evers, who conducts the Roman Catholic services in the Tombs, declared he had discussed many topics with Thaw, including religion, and always found him rational.

Dr. Hamilton Called. Jerome then called Dr. Hamilton, who was allowed to testify.

Dr. Hamilton testified that in his opinion, Thaw is not capable today of understanding the nature of the charges against him or of rationally advising his counsel.

Dr. Hamilton said that Thaw suffers from chronic delusional insanity—otherwise known as paranoia.

24 pages of the suggestions made by Thaw to Delmas for his summing up address, and declared they emanated from a diseased brain. The commission asked the witness to point out what he considered the insane evidences among the memoranda.

Defendant pointed out one passage which Jerome started to read aloud. "I must protest against this," interrupted Hartridge. "Those papers were produced for the benefit of the commission at a secret session and the district attorney is reading them to the reporters. It is another case like the Lyon letters from Pittsburgh. They were sent here to the clerk of the court. It was agreed they might be copied in the district attorney's office, and then they mysteriously appeared in the newspapers."

"There was nothing mysterious about the publication of those letters," said Jerome, "I gave them out myself. They were public documents produced in open court."

Thinks Thaw Unbalanced. Chairman McClure put an end to the discussion by saying the Lyon letters were not before the commission.

Defendant said the suggestions made by Thaw indicated a delusional state of mind.

"Did you think he had delusions when he committed the homicide?" asked Chairman McClure.

"Yes," replied the witness.

Defendant admitted he had never personally examined Thaw but thought him suffering from paranoia.

The Ficial Test. The commission went into executive session at 12:18 for the final mental and physical examination of the defendant.

Declared Thaw Sane. The defense asked permission to call two more witnesses—Dr. Wagner, of Binghamton, N. Y., and Dr. White, of Washington, D. C.

Dr. Wagner declared that throughout the trial Thaw had acted in a composed and an entirely rational manner. He fully understood the nature of the proceedings against him, and had advised with his attorneys in the hearing of the doctor.

On cross-examination District Attorney Jerome showed Dr. Wagner the suggestions that Thaw made to Delmas for his summing up, and asked:

"Assuming these not to have been written as a joke, but in good faith by a man on trial for his life, is it your opinion that they are the product of a sane and normal mind?"

"There are many very excellent suggestions among those made by Harry Thaw," replied the doctor.

The witness then stated that from a conversation he had with Thaw this morning he was unable to discover any thing to warrant the opinion that Thaw is not sane.

When Dr. Wagner had concluded Hartridge stated Dr. White was ready to go on the stand, but the commission said it would be unnecessary; Mr. Olney saying he thought the commission could get all it required from the examination of Thaw.

The commission then went into executive session.

The lawyers on both sides were barred out.

It was announced that Dr. Putzel, of the commission, would make whatever physical examination was deemed necessary.

CHEW Grape TOBACCO

"THIS IS A HORSE"

ONCE there was a small boy who wrote "This is a Horse" after trying for hours to draw a copy of his slate of a thoroughbred racer. He admired the horse, wanted it, but had neither the ability nor the experience to get him. He therefore tried to draw one. When his labors were complete, he looked first at the genuine article, then at the miserable imitation, and after long, deep study wrote THIS IS A HORSE, realizing his failure and inability to reproduce the genuine, and he knew without written below, no one would recognize what he had tried to make. Would-be competitors have tried for years to imitate Grape Tobacco. They make black plugs of similar size, but of less weight, and put in it all sorts of artificial connections, mixtures and kinds of Tobacco, but all failed to get the business, and finally hit upon the small boy's plan, and printed on the tag "SOMEBODY'S SUN CURED." They all advertise and tell you that SOMEBODY'S SUN CURED tag is valuable. Of course it is (it cost about 15 cents per thousand) but how about the miserable imitation of Grape Tobacco the tag is on? Somebody's Sun Cured tag no more makes good Tobacco than does THIS IS A HORSE make a valuable genuine horse.

PINEVILLE NEWS AND HAPPENINGS

"Society" in Wall Street
New York Evening Post.

Among the very numerous explanations of last week's panicky break in stocks was one which appeared to come with some stamp of authenticity. It was this: When the raising of Union Pacific's August dividend was about to be announced a financier not unconnected with that operation confided the secret to certain acquaintances in the circles of high society and wealth. A "pool" was made up in their behalf to which a number of gilded younger sons and financial favorites contributed their several mites.

Wall street gossip fixes the total amounts in the tens of millions; probably it would be safe to divide by two or three. The "social pool" had a merry autumn, a trying Christmas, and was able to foot up its losses definitely by St. Patrick's Day.

This social tragedy is no novelty in Wall street. In 1892 the owners of a certain $10,000,000 "industrial" club members themselves, allowed other clubmen to take a hand in "boom" it. The "tips on Corbridge" were distributed in all well bred circles, and a generally aristocratic following attracted. The price rose from 91 to 147, the annual dividend, which had been 9 per cent, then 10, was put up in February, 1893, to a 12 per cent dividend, and a 100 per cent stock dividend declared. In May the stock sold at 9; the concern was in the hands of receivers. It had been insolvent from the start. The echoes of that social catastrophe were only stilled by the larger panic of 1893.

Not all "social" ventures in Wall street have been thus tragic. William H. Vanderbilt's "tip" to a troublesome gilded relative, after a protest of his ignorance of the stock exchange, was to "buy Lake Shore quick." Lake Shore fell abruptly; on the relative's next call, the elder financier cried out: "Don't say a word; you have yourself to blame!" To which came the response: "Why bless your soul, you don't think I bought it on that tip. I sold 500 shares."

Blacksburg News.
Blacksburg, S. C., April 3.—Mrs. Blanch Anderson, of Salisbury, N. C., is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Wilkes.

Last week the race for mayor was made by Dr. W. E. Anderson and Mr. J. F. Whisnaut. Dr. Anderson won out by a large majority.

One evening last week a Mr. Crow, from Salisbury, N. C., who came here to run a hack line from this place to Gaston Shoals Power Plant got on too much booze and tried driving his hack on the railroad instead of the public road, but Chief Duncan, seeing the danger of a collision arrested Mr. Crow, and as they were putting him in the lock-up a pistol fell out of the chief's pocket. The fall caused the weapon to be discharged and the bullet penetrated the leg of a Mr. Surratt, who was helping the officers. It was a very painful wound but not a serious one.

Dr. J. M. Boyce and family are visiting friends in town.

STOCKHOLDERS MEET.
Only Three Men Attend Meeting of Charlotte and Atlanta Air Line Stockholders.

Greenville, S. C., April 3.—Only three men attended the meeting of the Charlotte and Atlanta Air Line stockholders here today. In order to carry out the laws of the State Mr. K. K. McKennie carried with him the proxies of the majority of stockholders.

All the old directors were elected, which include Charles S. Fairchild, H. W. Sibley, Herbert L. Griggs, Robert Harrison, Fred Cromwell, John A. Middleton, George F. Canfield, Harland P. Stone, Geo. F. Cumming, Henry Parish, Jr., E. W. Lancaster, William L. Wilner, all of New York.

Pineville, N. C., April 3.—Mrs. M. L. Rone, who has been visiting her sister, Mrs. Lafayette Gallant, of Charlotte, returned this afternoon.

Our Sunday schools were attended Sunday by only "the elect." A scattering flock were present at the Presbyterian and Methodist Churches in the forenoon, and as the cold rain increased in the afternoon, although our Baptist brethren are lovers of water, very few braved the steady downpour to attend at the Baptist Church. There is generally a "cold snap" at Easter and the late one kept up the reputation.

Miss Annie Lee Winget, of Gastonia, who has been visiting her cousin, Miss Mary Spencer, has returned.

Mrs. S. L. Hoover and little son, Sam, are visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Davis, of Mint Hill.

Mr. John Elms and wife, of Los Angeles, Cal., who have been visiting their uncle, Mr. J. H. Elms, and aunt Mrs. A. R. McCullough, have returned. "Cover" Elms, as he was generally called, was reared in the home of his uncle, Mr. J. H. Elms, and left his native State 23 years ago, while still in his teens and this has been his first visit in all these years.

Our marrying "Squire, W. O. Bailes, of this vicinity, is said to have the prettiest country home south of Charlotte. His residence is situated on quite a commanding eminence, and is so surrounded with convenient outbuildings and tenant cottages, all of which are bright and fresh with the improving touch of the paint brush, that one is struck with the beauty and taste displayed and wonders if the place is a cottage village.

Our marrying artist has "run the gauntlet," but all the same he is a most obliging kind, kind neighbor, and will do one a favor if he discommodates himself. Quite a compliment, "Squire, but it is all true.

Miss Maud Guion, of Union county, is visiting her sister, Mrs. M. G. Harkey.

Miss John Miller, who has been teaching a flourishing school in the Pamlico State, is at home at present. The school terms in South Carolina have been considerably shortened by the dispensary law.

Little Maud Fisher has gone to Granite Quarry, to visit her sister, Miss Johnnie Fisher. The little Miss can't count a hundred straight along and has no idea of the length of a year, but she sent her mama a message that she expected to be gone six years!

We had a visiting preacher with us recently who while quietly chatting to some friends in Mr. S. L. Hoover's store was spoken to by a gentleman from the county who said, "Why how do you do. I am glad to see you but I really thought when I first noticed you that you were Carey Dowd." "wondered what brought Carey down here, but honestly, I thought you were Carey." The preacher smiled as he knew it was a compliment and remarked, "This is not the first time I've been taken for Mr. Dowd."

Souvenir post cards are flooding the mails, some of which are simply disgraceful! One of our ladies whose name is a synonym for purity received two which conveyed the most disgusting insults and although she was aware that "malice, like death" loves a shining mark," (and most certainly she is a shining ornament to her home and society) her "Irish" got up. She took measures to find out the sender who was exactly the reverse of refined and quietly placed the cards into the proper hands and it is to be hoped that the woman who sent them will regret it! Two of our boys, than which there are none more inoffensive, or gentlemanly, were the recipients of the lowest, most obscene cards that could be printed. The individual who hides behind a dirty wall, obscene card to which is attached no signature, is lost to all sense of decency and therefore beneath the notice of respectable, intelligent men and women!

San Francisco, Cal., April 3.—President Bratton of the San Francisco Gas and Electric Company, estimated the loss at $2,500,000 in last night's fire.

Gov. Heyward and Adjutant General Boyd taking the place of Adjutant General Frost, Col. D. A. Spivey succeeding Col. D. O. Herbert and Col. W. J. Johnson succeeding Col. Robert Aldrich. It was stated last year that if Gen. Frost had consented to allow his name to be used for the place he could have been elected superintendent to succeed Col. Coward, but he declined to do so, partly for the reason that he had himself gone to the Citadel under Col. Coward.

Hot Fight Predicted.
The adjutant general, the superintendent of education and the Governor as well as the chairman of the military committee of the Senate and of the same committee of the House are expected members of the board of visitors and the change in these offices causes the change in the board of visitors. The elective members are Col. C. S. Gadsden, of Charleston, Col. J. J. Lucas, of Society Hill, Col. W. W. Lewis, of Yorkville, Maj. E. M. Blythe, of Greenville, and Mr. Orlando Sheppard, of Edgefield.

Superintendent of Education Martin who holds over, several years ago advanced a proposition to abolish the South Carolina Military Academy altogether, claiming that it is a useless expense and fills no good purpose in the State's educational system. This aroused the ire of the Citadel's friends but Mr. Martin was re-elected last year without any opposition, so that he is in a position to renew his proposition whenever he deems advisable and it would not be surprising if he did so. At any rate the fight for a change in is considered sure to come now.

There will be a meeting of the stockholders of the school building next Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock. The meeting will be held at the school house to dispose of the building in some way that will be satisfactory with all the patrons and stockholders. The patrons are anxious to make some disposition of the property and all stockholders are urged to be present.

Hopewell News.
Hopewell, April 3.—The severe action of the weather has charred the plaintive note of the whip-poor-will in to the more plaintive whistling of the winds, and the song of the ploughman seems to be a mere echo. However, it is encouraging to note that the farmers in this section made good use of the pretty weather by getting their land in readiness for planting.

The children celebrated Easter by an egg hunt Saturday, which was enjoyed by all, even some who were older ventured to mix with the boys for a pleasant change.

Mr. and Mrs. Van Potts, together with Miss Mary Harry, of Statesville, spent Sunday at Mr. Peterson's.

Miss Mary Lee Parks, who is attending school at Gastonia, spent Easter at home.

Dr. W. W. Craven, of Marion, and Mr. Walter Craven, who is studying law at the university are visiting their father, Dr. W. C. Craven.

Miss Mary Henderson has secured a position at the Presbyterian Hospital.

Mrs. Thos. Gresham, who has been visiting her father, Captain Guyas, returned to her home at Norlina on Monday.

Miss Fanny Shaw, of Elizabeth College, has been the guest of Mrs. E. D. Brown this week.

Reception For White Brothers

Raleigh, N. C., April 3.—Thomas J. and Chalmers L. White, two brothers of Concord, who have served two years of a six-year sentence in the penitentiary for killing Russell Sherrill, whom they charged with the ruin of their niece in Rowan county, walked out of prison at 11 o'clock today, free men. The pardons were granted by Governor Glenn on the findings of the council of State.

The governor had been of the council for the prosecution, when they were convicted, and for that reason he had referred the applications for pardon to the Council of State, whose report was signed and sealed on Monday night.

However, the absence of the governor from the city prevented the document being opened until this morning, when the pardon was promptly issued, and Superintendent Mann, of the penitentiary, telephoned directions to liberate the prisoner.

The report of the council of State was effected after having carefully considered petitions, letters and the evidence of every sort, together with the arguments of the council on both sides, and advise that they be pardoned on condition that they remain of good behavior.

Governor Glenn had expressed his opposition to the pardon and his conviction that the Whites were guilty and should not be pardoned at this time. He concluded the official statement reviewing the case and the report of the council with the statement: "In view of this decision of the council of State, without giving any opinion myself, I hereby grant application for a pardon, conditioned on their remaining of good behavior."

Welcomed Home.
Special to The News.
Concord, N. C., April 3.—News of the pardon of the Whites was received here with great enthusiasm.

Great interest followed every move and the Whites will be given a big welcoming reception tonight.

Their wives were notified to come at once.

Action of U. S. Stirrs Comment

Puerto Cortz, Honduras, March 28, via New Orleans, April 3.—The intentions of the United States in landing marines on the Honduras coast and the evident latitude granted them in protecting foreign life and property is exciting much comment here.

It has been remarked as especially significant that American landing parties, not only here but at Ceiba and Trujillo, have in each instance placed a Hotchkiss gun which they took ashore with them so as to sweep the seaward approach.

The foreigners believe this means the United States will not permit the ports to be bombarded.

The unusual circumstances of half of the country, not much over 200 miles broad, remaining in ignorance at least a week of the fall of the capitol and flight of the nation's president, is shown to exist by dispatches from Puerto Cortez and by stories brought here. As late as last Wednesday (July) 1,000 men engaged in a sanguinary battle at Camaguay. Fruit ship passengers all tell of busy preparations of the soldiers in the Caribbean port towns. They say the soldiers swarm so thickly that at night a person cannot stir about without being continuously challenged and compelled to give the pass word.

They say also these people are still placing implicit faith in the ultimate success of Leo Christmas, an American from Memphis, Tenn., who they believe to be heading an expedition into Nicaragua, although he was reported wounded and captured several days ago by the Nicaraguans.

The Nicaraguan minister called at the State Department and inquired as to what authority Secretary Brown, of the American legation, had for interference with the bombardment of Amapala, Honduras by the Nicaraguan forces.

Such interference is a radical step and all the Central American republics are much interested in the outcome.

The State Department officials have refused to disclose what Brown's instructions have been.

Green Falls, N. Y., April 3.—All paper makers employed at the International Paper Company's plant, at Port Edward, went on a strike last night.

The strike is the result of trouble between the paper makers' union and the pulp, sulphite and paper mill workers.
