GOP CALLS FOR AN END TO U. S. SEGREGATION

WASHINGTON, D. C.—We look forward to the day when segregation is completely eliminated in public places, Republicans said in a report on "Human Rights and Needs" Saturday, October 10.

Given by the Republican Committee on Program and Progress, the report called for "vigorous programs to be developed to make effective for all members of minority groups equality of opportunity to compete for jobs and upgrading on the job to receive the best in education and obtain health service and financing."

The following two recommendations to the nation were included among others made by the Committee: (1) Increase its current public and private expenditures of $20 billion annually on education to $50 billion by 1976, and (2) Provide for the rehabilitation of 90,000 disabled persons next year in a continuously accelerating program.

"This goal is one of high priority," the Republicans said. "To achieve it a cooperative effort by government is needed at all levels. The Federal Government must never allow the peaceful and orderly transition that must take place to lag."

RACIAL HATRED IS BLAMED FOR YOUTHS' CRIMES

NEW YORK — Racial hatred instilled by parents is the cause of juvenile crime in New York City, declared Kings County Judge Samuel S. Leibowitz on Saturday.

He said parents go out and say "That's a Nigger" or "That's a Kike," and the little child is only the carbon copy of the parent and goes out and mimics the same thing.

The judge said such conditioning occurred "even in the finest of families."

Appearing on the television program "American Forum of the Air" along with Dr. Frederic Wertham, Mr. Leibowitz complained that "there just aren't enough institutions, and the institutions that they go to are stew pots. They throw the bad, the indifferent, the normal, the degenerate, into one stew pot. And you know what comes out of there? A worse individual than went in."

Dr. Wertham charged that the city's Youth Board was "a most inadequate institution."

"I think it is a shame that the City of New York has such terrific faith in this one agency instead

DOCTORS SAY EMOTIONS CAN PROVE FATAL

SAN FRANCISCO — Emotions that run wild can be the cause of some illnesses and deaths, a group of medical researchers said here on Saturday.

The researchers tended to blame nerve exhaustion for the trouble on Omaha Beach, where on June 6, 1944 American soldiers drowned in two feet of water after having received slight flesh wounds.

Healthy persons have died under conditions they should have survived easily all because of their inability to adapt themselves to sudden frightening emergencies, they declared. They indicated that the same was true of animals.

These dangers were cited in a discussion on the psychology of emotions by Doctors David McK. Riech, psychiatrist at Walter Reed Army Hospital, Maurice S. Goldstein of Michael Reese Hospital, and Edward A. Weinstein, director of mental health for the Virgin Islands. Experiments with rats were responsible for many of their conclusions.

A NEW COLLEGE FOR W. AFRICA

SHAGAMU, Western Nigeria—A $600,000 college building to be called "Adventist College of West Africa" is being erected at West-Ishan-Remo near the Seventh-Day Adventist Mission.

A post-secondary institution, the college will serve the youths from the Seventh-Day Adventist Mission in Nigeria, Ghana, and the Ivory Coast, Liberia, and Sierra Leone. The development program of the College will cover 20 years during which time about 50 buildings will be built.

Classes will meet next month in rented quarters at Ilishan until the first three buildings now under construction are completed.

CONGO UNIONISTS WALK OFF JOBS

LEOPOLDVILLE, Belgian Congo—Workers on Belgian Congo railways, docks, and river transports walked off their jobs last week to stage the first organized strike in this area. The workers are demanding wage increases which the Confederation of Congolese Christian Trade unions presented to the governments some months before. Thousands are participating in the strike.

AFL-CIO HEARS CALL FOR BAN ON JIM CROW

LOS ANGELES—The California Eagle reports that a request for "immediate steps to eliminate" discrimination practices against Negroes has been filed with the Los Angeles County Federation of Labor, AFL-CIO.

The request which came in the form of a resolution, was passed by United Steelworkers Local 1058 at a special membership meeting recently.

The resolution said that "striking steelworkers have been hired for work in the movie studios through the studio unions on a discriminatory basis with Negro steelworkers barred from such employment."

The union denies discrimination; however, its executive committee promised to have met last week to consider all resolutions that have been submitted to it and report its recommendations to the next council meeting scheduled for 8 p. m., Oct. 19, the Eagle said.

THE LARGEST PLANTATION FOR RUBBER

LAGOS, Nigeria — A 10,500 acre rubber plantation of 1,890,000 rubber trees may be expanded to be the largest rubber plantation in the world. Part of the plantation scheme of the Dunlop Rubber Company, the plantation is to be expanded to some 20,000 acres, according to P. M. Laine, general manager of the Dunlop Nigeria Plantation Ltd. Laine said the plantation was likely to be one of the largest of its kind in the world. It would employ 8,000 workers, many of whom would be Nigerians, he added.

Laine further stated that arrangements were being made to provide the company's employees and their dependents with eight village camps, free medical facilities, shops, markets, and other amenities.

The company, which makes automobile tires, has Sir Francis Ibiom, an African, as one of its directors. Over $4,000,000 has been spent on the project.

VIOLENCE SETS BACK BY-VOTING

ACCRA, Ghana — A threat to the progress of the forthcoming by-election here has been voiced by the deputy leader of the United Party. Violence in which four persons were shot, two fatally, is the alleged reason.

Joe Appiah, deputy leader of the opposition United Party, warned that his group would pull out of the parliamentary by-election unless police halted what he termed violence and intimidation against workers of his party.

United Party Chief S. D. Dombo said that for three days prior to start of the balloting, his workers and supporters had been "attacked and assaulted" in the Wench area by "thugs" of the ruling People's Convention Party, of which Premier Kwame Nkrumah is leader.

Son Builds Farm Into $150,000 Enterprise By Carefully Following Improved Methods

SHELBY, Miss. — Unlike many heirs to family-sized farms who sell their holdings and move to the city, John T. Williams, Jr., of Shelby, Miss., has done just the opposite: reports State Extension Leader W. E. Ammons.

Mr. Williams, a graduate of Pisk University, left a position in Nashville 21 years ago and returned home to take over his late father's 20-acre successful farm which has now been in the family for 71 years.

By continuing to use good farming methods, says the Extension leader, Mr. Williams has developed the farm into one of the most modern in Mississippi. Valued at $200,000 when he took charge in 1938, the farm is now estimated to be worth about $150,000.

Farmers and 4-Hers from his own and nearby counties visit the farm frequently with their Extension agents to observe the improved farming and homemaking methods of Mr. and Mrs. Williams, who count on their own farm and home demonstrations agents, Ira D. Thompson and Mrs. Vera S. Rainey, for advice and counsel.

The visitors are impressed with Mr. Williams' use of pre-emergent weed killers, the results he gets by testing his soil and then applying fertilizer according to need, the determined way he controls boll weevils and other insects, and his careful method of keeping records in a rear room of his home.

Principal crops grown by Mr. Williams are cotton and soybeans. He raises 100 acres of the fiber crop and about the same number of acres of the oil bean in rotation.

"Growing cotton on land that's been in soybeans helps keep my yield up," says Mr. Williams. "Most years I also plow under 40 to 50 acres of soybeans as a soil-building practice. I grow these acres extra, in addition to those I put in to beans for market."

Mr. Williams has increased his cotton yield from one bale to two bales per acre — three times the average for the State, and nearly twice that for his county. His soybeans yield stands at 45 bushels per acre, compared with a State average of only 19 bushels.

He likes driving a tractor and working in his repair shop. And although he doesn't care for record keeping, he spends some time in his office almost every evening going over the books.

During the harvest season, Mr. Williams often operates his mechanical cotton picker or one of his combines in the afternoons when he and Mrs. Williams return from their positions as principals in the county school system.

Both like teaching, and seldom miss a summer taking special grading methods and school administrative work to keep abreast of teaching. "We like to see things grow—children are the best crop," said Mrs. Williams.

He also stressed the responsibility of the parents in giving active support to programs for all academically talented pupils and to organize their efforts to solicit the active participation of groups in the community toward this end.

Delivering the principal address before approximately 1,000 members of the State-wide professional organization of school instructors of the Commonwealth at a drive-in conference at the Luther P. Jackson High School, Merrifield, Va., Oct. 2, Dr. Robinson discussed the topic, "The Educational Problems Which Demand Immediate Attention."

Four points in this talk were (1) the need for providing special education for academically talented pupils in all grades in the public schools, (2) a report on the advanced placement program and the Pre-College Sessions conducted by Hampton Institute, (3) the need for teachers to raise their own sights in cultural and educational advancement through study and travel and (4) the need for a higher level of expectation in pupils performance.

Dr. W. H. Robinson Delivers Two Big Speeches In 10 Days

HAMPTON, Va.—Dr. William H. Robinson, professor of education and director of the Division of Teacher Education at Hampton Institute, within a space of ten days (Oct. 1-10) delivered two speeches, served as consultant for one drive-in-conference of teachers and as a resource person for an education workshop.

His first talk, "The Responsibility of Parents for the Education of Academically Talented Pupils," was given at the first in a series of state-wide drive-in conferences at the Lucy Addison High School Oct. 1, in Roanoke, Va. This meeting was financed by the Virginia State Teachers Association in cooperation with the Virginia Conference of Colored Parents and Teachers and was sponsored by the Ninth District Association of the State PTA.

In his talk Dr. Robinson stressed the responsibility of the parents to understand the need for special instruction for superior pupils in the elementary and secondary schools at least equivalent to that accorded athletics and music.

Montgomery To Appeal "Mixed" Park Ruling

MONTGOMERY, Ala.—(AP) — A Federal district court ruling last month which declared unconstitutional a city ordinance requiring segregation of municipal parks, will be appealed to the Fifth Circuit Court of Appeals, it was disclosed Wednesday.

City Atty. Walter J. Knahe filed notice of appeal in the Federal clerk's office.

The anti-jin crow ruling by U. S. Middle District Judge Frank Johnson, was consistent with a U. S. Supreme Court mandate on the same question, it has been pointed out by several stages of the law here.

Segregation statutes which deny to Negroes equal rights and privileges in parks have been found to violate the Equal Protection and Due Process Clauses of the 14th Amendment.

Judge Johnson ruled on Sept. 9 that if Montgomery ever reopens its now padlocked city parks, they must be integrated. A White Citizens' Council controlled City Commission ordered the parks closed last January after eight Negroes filed suit to have them integrated.

Scholarship Better, Failures Declining At Morgan College

BALTIMORE, MD. — Academic excellence is on the increase while student mortality is declining at Morgan State College, President Martin D. Jenkins reported here last Wednesday.

Dr. Jenkins made the disclosures in his annual Report to the Students during the traditional convocation exercises which celebrated the formal opening of the ninety-third year.

"In 1958-59 there was a sharp decline in the number of students placed on probation for poor scholarship. On the other hand, more students made honor averages."

He reported that the number of students placed on probation for the first time dropped from 142 in 1957-58 to 84 last year.

This improved academic picture led Dr. Jenkins to compliment the students on "the increased seriousness of purpose you are evidencing here."

PRECEDES INSPIRATIONAL ADDRESS

Dr. Jenkins' report, which preceded delivery of the formal convocation address by the assistant dean, Dr. Albert N. Whiting, carried enrollment figures as of Wednesday morning.

Solve a Crime

By A. C. GORDON

YOU ARE THE DETECTIVE

You and your friend, detective Lieutenant Jack Harrison, are seated in his office discussing various activities in his precinct. He brings up the subject of a dope gang that has been plaguing his territory for the past several months.

"Here," he tells you, "is a copy of a report handed in recently by one of our rookie detectives after an intensive investigation of this gang."

You accept the report and read: "The four members of this gang are Ethel Beard, Bert Holley, George Trainor, and Millie Jorgenson. One of them was recently released from the penitentiary. Two of them are Americans, and two are foreigners."

"(1) Three days ago, the gang leader heard Millie Jorgenson and the ring's front having a discussion over a split in profits. (2) The gang leader told Ethel Beard that he had fallen in love with Millie's sister. (3) George Trainor and the gang front, and the member just freed from prison were recently involved in an automobile accident. (4) We arrested Millie and her ring sweetheart in the gang's hideout, and we apprehended the other two as they were boarding a westbound plane. (5) One interesting fact is that the gang leader, the front, and Bert Holley are all redheads."

You glance up at Lieutenant Jack Harrison, after your perusal of this report, and find him grinning at you. "Well," he says, "can you tell me now which one of these four smart people is the leader of this diluted dope ring, and who is the front?"

SOLUTION

(1) Millie Jorgenson is neither the leader nor the front. (2) Ethel Beard is not the leader. (3) George Trainor is not the front. (4) Bert Holley is neither leader nor front. Hence, George Trainor is the gang leader, and Ethel Beard is the front.
