

Son Shoots Dad Fatally

Liberian Official To City

OBJECT OF WIDE SEARCH—Patrice Lumumba, president of the Congo National Movement, reportedly said last week at the closing session of a movement general meeting, that "the divorce between Belgium and the Congo is final." Africans wearing war-paint battled against Belgian led troops in riots that claimed the lives of at least 24 persons. An official statement said a warrant had been issued for Lumumba, who has reportedly "disappeared." He is shown above in a file photo. (UPI PHOTO).

Father Slain By Son Over Mother

ROANOKE RAPIDS — A Roanoke Rapids man was shot to death Sunday in what officers described as a family fight that began when the victim tried to beat his wife and 19-year-old son. Deputies said Wesley Johnson was killed instantly by a blast from a 12-gauge shotgun. "I saw the shot, which struck Johnson in the abdomen, was fired by the son, Roland," a hearing for the youth has been set.

Decomposed Body Of Youth, 12, Found

HENDERSON — A farmer looking for firewood Sunday, found the badly-decomposed body of a 12-year-old Kirtrell youth who had been missing four months. The body was identified as that of Samuel Perry, Jr., a sixth-grader who failed to return to his home on the night of July 8. His father made the identification from clothing found near the body and from a pair of shoes he had given the youth only two days before his disappearance. Coroner M. W. Wester, Jr., said

Young Perry was apparently killed by a blast from a shotgun fired at close range. The shot was of sufficient force, Wester said, to tear away the boy's left arm which has not been found. The disappearance of the youth prompted a search by more than 100 persons, including 75 volunteers from a National Guard task force then on duty here in connection with a violent strike at the Harriet-Henderson Cotton Mills.

The area of the search extended over eight square miles and stopped only 150 yards from the spot where Charles Clark found the body Sunday.

Gunman Gets 60 Yrs. Here

Purse Ring Broken; Five Bound Over

Five Raleigh youths, charged with snatching purses from white women, were bound over Monday to Wake County Superior Court. Detective Sgt. J. H. Bowers said the youths, who were charged with taking several pocketbooks from white women, were placed under $2,500 bond each. Officers said warrants were signed after one of the youths, identified as Bobby Rogers, admitted he took a purse from Elizabeth Norris. Bowers said the woman heard someone running up behind her. When she turned around, she said, the youth grabbed the pocketbook and kept running. A witness reported she saw the

Waldo C. Falkener:

"Fairminded Liberals Will Support Us," Councilman Tells YMCA Body

"There is a large and growing nucleus of fairminded liberal people in North Carolina who will support qualified Negroes for public office," stated Waldo C. Falkener, Greensboro city commissioner at the membership meeting of the Bloodworth Street YMCA Tuesday night. Falkener was presented by Herman L. Taylor, local attorney. Cecil H. Flagg, chairman of the committee on arrangements, presided. C. A. Raywood, chairman of the YMCA's board of management, officially welcomed Mr. Falkener to the city and the "Y," an agency of the United Fund. "The appeal for support for office must be made along general lines appealing to all voters, rather than strictly racial lines," stated Falkener. In the last election in which he won, Falkener received 3,200 votes in predominantly white districts and 1,800 in predominantly Negro districts. "Thus, it was impossible to win by Negro votes alone." His selection was made possible by a coalition of liberal forces including labor, Catholic, Jewish as well as Negro groups. As a city councilman, Falkener has been able to eliminate several types of discrimination and suggested that active participation in policies by

Mixed Pair Caught; To Court Soon

NORFOLK, Va. — A 60-year-old Norfolk white man and his Negro wife awaited grand jury action Saturday on charges of interracial marriage. The couple, Mr. and Mrs. William George Makre, told a Police Court Judge Friday that they went to New York City a year ago to get married because Virginia law forbids whites and Negroes to marry. Police said they arrested Makre and his wife, Armentia, 48, when their neighbors

Shot Wrong Man, Gaines Tells Judge

John Gaines, 37, of South Street, looked into the face of Superior Court Judge William Y. Bickett Tuesday morning, and found himself being sentenced to a total of 60 years at hard labor for shooting a man, reported to be an invalid, and second degree burglary. Gaines claimed the shooting was meant to be one of revenge against Paul (Rabbi) Dunn, and said he did not mean to injure George Washington Ligon, who was hospitalized for several weeks. Gaines pleaded guilty to assault with a deadly weapon with intent to kill.

Decision Of Court "Unfair"

JACKSON, Miss. — Mississippi Gov.-Elect Ross Barnett has criticized the U. S. Justice Department's decision to re-enter the Mack Charles Parker Lynching case. The Pearl River County Grand Jury at Poplarville, Miss., did not return indictments against a group of white men believed to have lynched the 23-year-old Negro. The county jury adjourned without considering the case. The Justice Department announced last May when the FBI completed its investigation in the case that the federal government had no jurisdiction in the case. But the department announced later it would take the case before a federal grand jury. Barnett said "if the federal government has no jurisdiction in the matter it has no business doing this. The county grand jury would have final authority," he asserted. Barnett said the depart-

MOVING SIGHT — Although they can't walk, these young patients know the excitement of moving as they roll from an obsolete building to a unit of the new orthopaedic center of Orthopaedic Hospital at Los Angeles, Calif. The modern center was built at a cost of $6,500,000. Nearly half of which must still be raised through public appeal. The hospital is especially equipped for the care and treatment of children suffering disabilities of bone, muscle and nerve. (UPI PHOTO).
