Invitation To NBA Off In West Va.

CHARLESTON, W. Va. — The welcome mat for the National Basketball Ass'n has been withdrawn at the New Civic Center here, at least during the tenure of the building's present manager, William S. Bolden made the statement Saturday after a break down in negotiations to have the Minneapolis Lakers play the Cincinnati Royals here next Jan. 24 in a league game.

An apparent protest over segregation practices which cropped out when the pair played here earlier this year was given by Bolden as the reason for the failure to reach a new agreement.

That incident involved Minneapolis star Elgin Baylor. The former Seattle University great refused to play in the game last January after failing to get a room in a Charleston hotel which did not accept

The woman, who was not identified, said the man walked up behind her as she walked home, grabbed her, placed a knife to her throat and said: "You go with me or I'll kill you."

She said she was dragged into an alley, raped and the man took $5 from her purse and fled.

The latest report of night-time violence in the Capital City came as the City Council studied a $500,000 program to bolster police protection. It includes the addition of 50 patrolmen and 8 police dogs to roam the city's streets.

Charlotte Man First: Loses Driver's Permit

CHARLOTTE — Sammie Lee Carothers, 26, of Charlotte, has become the first driver to lose his license under a newly-enacted point system to control habitual traffic violators.

Motor Vehicles Department officials said Friday the man's license was suspended for 60 days after he was convicted of reckless driving.

The new law provides that persons accumulating 12 points because of traffic violations will lose their licenses for 60 days. The law was passed to replace the habitual violators act that was outlawed by the State Supreme Court. The new law went into effect last spring.

Officials said Carothers had acquired points earlier on convictions for failing to yield the right-of-way, running a traffic light and speeding.

When his points reached seven, officials called him in for a conference and offered to erase three points if he would take a driver improvement course. The Negro declined.

Try Convicts In Maiming Incident

YANCEYVILLE — Seven convicts charged with maiming themselves, were tried in Caswell Superior Court last week under a new state law which makes it a felony for a prisoner to injure himself to avoid work.

The case against William T. Hunter, 23, of Raleigh, was the only one to be heard by a jury. He and Luther Honeycutt, 31, of Wadesboro, were accused of cutting tendons in their heels with a wire while in solitary confinement. All seven were prisoners at the nearby Ivy Bluff Maximum Security Prison Camp.

The other five defendants were Negroes. One of them, Cleveland McNeil, 26, of Fu-

Discusses Southern Politicians:

'We May Bloc Vote,' Wilkins

'No Other Alternative,' Wilkins Says

MANNING, S. C. — "If white politicians make race an issue, heaping insult and slander upon a whole people, Negroes are forced, out of self respect, to vote as a bloc." Thus declared Roy Wilkins, national executive secretary of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

Mr. Wilkins was addressing a Clarendon County group of about 1,500 on Sunday when he made the statement.

"Under this compulsion they could not support a candidate for high national office with a southern regional background," he added. "To be blunt, they could not support in any effective fashion the candidacy of Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas."

RECEIVES HONORARY DEGREE AT SHAW — Left to right, Dr. F. P. Payne, dean of Shaw University, presents Miss Angie E. Brooks, assistant secretary of state of Liberia to Dr. William R. Strassner who confers upon Miss Brooks the degree, Doctor of Laws. Miss Brooks was the Founder's Day speaker on the occasion of the University's 94th observance, Friday, November 20th.

Liberian Diplomat Heard In Challenging Shaw Address

Attorney Angie Brooks, assistant secretary of the State of Liberia told the Shaw University audience on their ninety-fourth Founder's Day Anniversary, Friday, November 20, that the great qualifying test of civilization is that of building stronger for a better tomorrow. This, she stated, should be done in the area of education and in the development of international understanding.

The speaker described the lack of adequate educational facilities in Africa and pointed out that the free countries of Africa are putting forth tremendous efforts to end these inadequacies.

These issues, she claimed, tend to divide black people from white and embitter race relationships as African representatives contrasted the furor over oppression in Hungary with the silence about oppression in all of Southern Africa.

The tragedy of South West Africa where segregation laws go beyond any measures which American Negroes have ever experienced. The Union government, she informed, refuses Africans permission to leave the country to appear before the United Nations and prevents any UN representative from setting foot in the Territory to investigate conditions.

2. In the territory of Portuguese Angola, which abuts South West Africa, and opposite it to the east, Portuguese East Africa, documented evidence of impartial scholars, show that "forced labor" or slavery exists in these areas. And for two years, by clever procedural maneuvering in which the American government played the leading role, such action has been prevented.

Influence Of Citizen' Councils Under Tests

JACKSON, Miss. — The influence of Mississippi's White Citizens' Councils is being put to a stern test in a controversy concerning the U. S. Civil Rights Commission.

The Commission has asked nine Mississippians—seven whites and two Negroes—to serve on a State Advisory Board which would suggest courses of action to be taken by the Federal Commission in the state.

The two Negroes, neither a member of the NAACP, reportedly agreed to accept appointment. Of the whites, a Methodist minister has said he will serve, an editor has rejected the offer and the others are undecided.

A similar attempt to organize an Advisory Board failed last year after the Citizens' Councils said any Mississippi who accepts a Board appointment would be a traitor.

Again, the Councils are saying the same thing. "It is our firm belief that no decent or responsible citizen in the South will be so stupid as to allow himself to be used for the betrayal of his own people," asserted William J. Simmons, editor of the official Citizens' Councils of America publication.

High State Post Given Virginian

ARLINGTON, Va. — Attorney Lutrell F. Parker, 35, was expected to be named to the Arlington County Planning Commission this week, believed to be the second of his race to attain a similar post in Virginia.

County Board of Supervisors Chairman David L. Krupshaw said Parker would probably be appointed at the meeting.

Pointing out that the Arlington Negro community has "special, unique problems," Krupshaw said "These people deserve representation on the Planning Board by a citizen thoroughly familiar with their problems."

Parker, a civil engineering graduate of Howard University, who attained his law degree at Georgetown University, will be the second Negro to serve on a Planning Commission in Virginia, an NAACP spokesman said.

One man served on the Richmond Planning Commission for 7 years. Three Negroes are reported

Girl Says Four Boys 'Leered'

AHOSKIE — "There's a white girl, let's go get her!" is the alleged statement which led to the arrest and indictment of four youths for verbally assaulting a white girl last Thursday.

The 14-year-old girl ran to police headquarters here and charged the youths of assault.

All under their early 20's, the youths—Roosevelt Slaughter of Aulander; Richard Hardin, Johnnie Ray Slaughter and Thomas Cobb, all of Ahoskie—were to be tried on Tuesday.

The girl pointed out the four young men before Justice of the Peace J. Stanley Vinson as the men she saw. However, they denied having been on the street at the time the incident occurred.

If convicted, the youths could be punished by fines of $50 each and up to 30 days in prison.

WINSTON-SALEM — Charles Junior Carpenter, 25, is being held without bond on a charge of first degree burglary in connection with his entering a woman's bedroom early Saturday morning.

Carpenter was arrested at his home and later identified by the woman, Mrs. Blanch Whitley, 37, and neighbors who rushed to the screaming woman, police said. The accused man denied the charge.

Mrs. Whitley was quoted by officers as saying a man entered her bedroom and tried to get into bed with her. She told police he tried to rape her but she was able to resist him. She said the man fled when she started screaming.
