Students Strike At Lunch Counter; Prexy Of A&T College Comments

SPECIAL TO THE CAROLINIAN
GREENSBORO — This so-called Gads City of the South got a real taste of non-violence here Tuesday afternoon when a group of students, alleged to be members of the A and T College, took a "sit-down strike" and decided that if their money was good enough to be exchanged for books and papers in the F. W. Woolworth Store, it was fair exchange for food. They came into the store welland dressed and equally demeanored. They took their seats at the counter and waited to be served. They did not sit together and vowed to remain there until served.

The clerks very methodically evaded the would-be diners. Their action did not daunt them apparently and even though they are said to have been studying for forth-coming exams they held on until 12:30 P. M. They left at that time, but vowed to return.

The action of the students seemed to have stunned the manager and many other persons in Greensboro. The manager, I. C. Harris, had no comment as to the policy of the store, but is alleged to have said they could sit there.

The students refused to give their names, according to reliable reports. The reason for this was not readily explained. An investigation by college officials is said to be underway.

Woman Unknowingly Eats With Killer Of Husband

DANIELSVILLE, Ga. — According to Sheriff Dewey Seagraves, Leo Appling, Jr., 34, killed his uncle, Robert Upshaw, 76, from ambush and then calmly ate breakfast with the slain man's widow.

Seagraves said he jailed Appling on a charge of murder. The Sheriff gave these details: Appling got up before dawn and walked six miles to the home of Upshaw, his uncle by marriage. He lay in wait until Upshaw finished some chores and came out of the barn, then allegedly killed him with a 22 rifle and hid the body under some hay. Appling then went to the house

Hodges Speaks At Harvard On Tarheelia Integration

CAMBRIDGE, Mass.—Gov. Luther H. Hodges of North Carolina has termed his state's approach to integration a "recognition of the simple fact that, to have public schools, we must have public support of those schools."

Hodges noted Friday night that about 59 Negroes have been admitted to previously all-white schools in his state without court action. He said his major concern during the early days of North Carolina's gradual integration was to maintain a public school system and law and order during what happened to be an "ever-darkening crisis."

Speaking to a Harvard University law forum, Hodges conceded the solution was not easy. Long regarded as a "moderate" on the integration question, Hodges expressed hope that congress would not upset the "delicate balance" achieved in North Carolina in solving school integration. "We are meeting the individual problems as they arise and we hope to

'The Worker' Selects New Editor In NY

NEW YORK—A communist Negro leader from Richmond, Va., has been appointed editor of the communist weekly newspaper, The Worker, the publication announced last week.

The newspaper's announcement described Jackson as "a member of the national secretariat of the communist party and the chairman of the party's southern regional committee."

Jackson has been a member of the communist party since 1931 and in 1959 he represented the U. S. communist party as a visitor to the 21st congress of the communist party of the Soviet Union, the announcement said.

Say Youths Forced Girls To Disrobe In Trolley

PHILADELPHIA — Police rounded up 64 colored boys Thursday following a riot aboard a trolley car in which three 15-year-old white girls were molested and their clothing torn.

Nine of the boys, all students at Daniel Boone Disciplinary School, were held as the ringleaders. Some of the pupils had gone to the aid of the girls during the melee.

The three girls were treated for shock at St. Mary's Hospital and later identified their assailants at police headquarters.

Police said the first two victims were molested and stripped of some of their clothing after the pupils entered the trolley following dismissal from their classes. The two girls, screaming in terror, managed to get off the trolley and attract a police car.

The third girl boarded the trolley about three blocks away and immediately was given the same treatment. George J. Willis, 38, the trolley operator, began changing his belt to summon police.

Police entered the trolley and rescued the girl. Other reinforcements arrived later and herded the pupils into police wagons.

"Uncle Sam" Steps In On "Daddy" Grace's Estate

WASHINGTON — The government Monday filed $5,966,000 in tax liens against the estate of C. M. (Sweet Daddy) Grace, spiritual leader who died in Los Angeles last month and was buried in New Bedford, Mass., after a cross-country funeral.

The Internal Revenue Service said the liens were filed in 13 states and the district of Columbia to protect an "assessment" of $5,966,000 in back taxes and interest for 1945 and 1946.

The 78-year-old self-styled "boy friend of the world," who founded Houses of Prayer in cities strung along the Eastern Seaboard, was understood to have left an estate valued at $25,000,000.
