Lee Calhoun Helps U. S. Equal Russia In Points

ROME, Italy—Former North Carolina College star Lee Calhoun joined other U. S. hopefuls in performance here Monday as the United States equaled Russia's total of 21 gold medals. The following persons staged fine comebacks in the Olympic events Monday: Sprinter Wilma Rudolph, three United States boxers and Calhoun.

In leading the grand slam in the 110-meter hurdles, Calhoun had to dive for the tape to beat out teammate Willie May of Chicago. Both were clocked in at 1:35. Calhoun fell to the track, skinned his back, but bounded up again. Immediately after his victory, Calhoun announced he was retiring from competitive sports.

This was the third grand slam the United States has scored at the Olympics, the others coming in the shot and the 400 meter hurdles. Calhoun led America to its third 1-2-3 sweep of the games by winning the 110-meter hurdles as the U. S. closed in on Russia.

Big Rafer Johnson of the United States, running his heart out under the floodlights, won the Olympics decathlon championship Tuesday night with an Olympic record of 6,392 points in a dramatic windup

STATE IN BRIEF

DR. ADAMS AND MISS MITCHELL REPRESENT CITY'S NAACP

RALEIGH — The first Southeastern Regional NAACP Youth Retreat was held at Boggs Academy in Keyville, Georgia, recently. Delegates were from the following Southeastern States: The Carolinas, Tennessee, Alabama, Florida, Mississippi, and Georgia.

Delegates attending the Retreat from North Carolina were Shirley Heath, Clayton Jovelyn, McKissick, Durham, Dr. M. M. Adams, Raleigh and Barbara Ann Mitchell, representing Raleigh's Youth Council of the NAACP.

During the Retreat they were asked and answered the following questions: Who do you think you are? What about Human Rights and Civil Rights? Where do you go to play tennis and swim? What kind of job do you want? Are you going too fast? and what can you do about all this? Very interesting discussions took place with all states represented on panel discussions.

Mrs. Ruby Hurley, Southeastern Regional Secretary, planned the retreat, along with field secretaries.

Youth Shot On Grounds Of Palmetto's Capitol

COLUMBIA, S. C. — Three Negro youths were arrested Sunday in connection with the Tuesday night shooting of a white boy on the grounds of the state capitol.

300 Cops Attend NAACP Meeting

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. — The NAACP staged a youth rally here Sunday "To Talk About" racial violence which swept this seaport city last week.

Meanwhile, more than 300 city, county and state police officers patrolled the Jacksonville area to nip any new violence in the bud. But there were few incidents reported Saturday night.

The rally at 3 p. m. at Ebenezer Methodist Church, was similar to the peaceful rally a week ago. ACP Field Secretary Robert C. Karl Lichtman, slated to be the main speaker said the group would "talk about the background which led to the uprisings.

and why it reached the breaking point.

Sit-down demonstrations in the downtown Jacksonville area triggered riots August 27 which disintegrated into vandalism last week. One man was killed, some 70 injured and about 150 arrested during the disturbance.

STILL FUMBLING

The decision to wait until October for moving into the new City Hall because the needed furniture is not on hand, is just another example of the costly fumbling which has been the "trade mark" of the present Raleigh City Council.

The fact to be considered in this instance is that for each month Raleigh's city govern-

Deserted Infant Is Discovered

GASTONIA — A 26-year-old Gastonia painter was arrested Monday after his four-week-old baby was abandoned in a patch of woods.

Police quoted Eugene F. Pruitt, neighbors as saying the man had threatened to kill the baby, Donna Rose, and had left the house with the infant, a butcher knife and a pint bottle of whiskey.

Officers found the baby crying in the woods where she was believed left to die.

Pruitt, who was found about a mile from where the baby was located, was believed to have become enraged at contributions of

Liberal Minister Quits Job

CHAPEL HILL—The pastor of the University Baptist Church resigned Sunday, saying his integrationist view in a pro-segregationist climate made an unworkable situation.

"My integrationist view on the race question make my pastoral leadership of this church impossible," The Rev. W. Wesley Shrader told his congregation.

He said when he came here last year his views on the racial question were fully known by the congregation. But since the early part of the year, he said he learned his views were opposed by many members of the church and the board of deacons.

TO FORMER ALL-WHITE SCHOOL HERE — Seven-year-old William Campbell, left, was assigned to former all-white Murphy Elementary School here Tuesday by the Raleigh School Board. A second grader, William is the first Negro to be assigned to the North Carolina capital city schools. Sitting behind William are his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Campbell, Sr., and younger brother Edwin.

William Campbell Now 2nd Grader At Murphey School

The Raleigh School Board, minus its Negro member, Attorney F. J. Carnage, bowed to the growing trend toward integration Tuesday afternoon and admitted William

Campbell, 7, 804 E. Edenton St., to return to St. Monica's Catholic

Murphy Elementary School, N. Person Street. William became the first Negro child to be okayed by the Board to attend what has been termed an all-white school.

The Board refused to permit William's sister and brother to go to the Hugh Merson Junior High School on the grounds that the school was already overcrowded and that playground facilities were taxed to capacity. This meant that Mildred and Ralph, Jr., will be back at Ligon.

The decision was reached by unanimous consent, according to information released from a luncheon session. The motion to admit William was made by J. W. York and seconded by LeRoy Martin.

Attorney Carnage told the CAROLINIAN that he was in Washington, D. C., on business. He expressed no surprise over the fact that the Campbell child was admitted to the Murphy School. He was neither surprised that the other two were left at Ligon.

Ralph Campbell, father of the children, told the CAROLINIAN that Mildred would definitely not be going to Ligon School as designated by the Board, but would return to St. Monica's Catholic School, where she will be a member of the 6th grade. Ralph has already enrolled at Ligon and has started his work in the 9th grade.

The father had the following to say, "I think that as a
