Solicitor Lester V. Chalmers' acceptance of the guilty plea came while only 10 jurors had been selected, and 65-member special venire had been called. The change in plea spared Phelps from a possible death sentence had he been convicted without a jury recommendation of mercy. Chalmers earlier indicated the state would demand the death penalty and had excused jurors who said they did not believe in capital punishment.

With the state apparently insisting on the death penalty, Phelps had pleaded not guilty. Defense attorneys had not planned earlier to call him to the stand.

A prison psychiatrist testified that he found no evidence of mental imbalance and a defense move to have Phelps committed to a mental hospital was turned down. Phelps must serve two 12 month sentences for escape before beginning the life term.

city, from which Treasurer Mance was graduated.
The Treasurer, after being graduated from Allen University, entered Howard University and received the degree A. B. and M. D. For upward of twenty years Dr. Mance was a practicing physician in Columbia, S. C. He has rendered distinguished service and is easily one of the first citizens in the capital city of the Palmetto State.
Dr. Mance is highly respected and beloved. He is a trustee of Allen and a member of Bethel AME Church, Columbia. His deep love for the church moved him to invest his life as Treasurer. The Treasurer's wife is a daughter of the late Dr. H. W. Murphy. They have two children: Robert Weston III, and Elizabeth Lillian.

those who have been seeking ways and means to prove that their vicious piece of chicanery is nothing but a hypocritical farce. The finding of the Civil Rights Commissions are explicit and factual.

The report, to be submitted to the president and the congress says, "discrimination on account of race in public schools in North Carolina is general." Pointing out that, "the lone handful of Negro children in a large white student body endure substantial handicaps and disadvantages," the commission emphasizes that under such abnormal conditions normal adjustment for these children is difficult.

A few of the significant facts included in this revealing report are: six years after the 1954 desegregation order only 77 of this state's 324,000 Negro children are enrolled in desegregated schools; Negro schools are discriminated against in the expenditure of public funds; by maintaining a department of Negro education, the State Department of Public Instruction has apparently given no thought to school integration.

Notwithstanding the bally ho of praise given this sham integration by this state's high officials and its leading newspapers, no fair minded, right thinking person could fail to appraise the N. C. Pupil Assignment Act for what it is a devilish conceived plan to evade the school integration demand. Because of its devilish conception, it will go down.

want the same thing for ourselves and our children.
After reviewing briefly the hard, but victorious, fight of the two previous campaigns against bigotry, Sanford warned that his supporters must not take anything for granted and look for an easy victory in the final campaign ending November 8.
Sanford said: "If you believe, with me, that, indeed, a new day has come to North Carolina when better schools, highways and agricultural programs can be achieved for all our people, we'll have to get out and work to that end."
Harkening back to the Depression days of the 'Hoover-cart' era, Sanford warned against complacency and over confidence as he declared that "the Democratic

"Dancing Waters" One Of State Fair's Highlights

"Dancing Waters" a series of fountains which send multi-colored streams 20 to 40 feet into the air in striking patterns, will attract thousands of fairgoers at North Carolina State Fair, October 11-15, according to Dr. J. S. Dorton, manager.
"Dancing Waters" is a portable fountain with 19 electric motors and almost a mile of pipes, with jets that throw thousands of streams of colored water into the air in precise rhythm with music controlled from a console-like switchboard, explained Dorton.
Invented and perfected in Europe, "Dancing Waters" started a novelty at New York's famous Radio City Music Hall, some years back. It has since starred in arenas, stadiums, theatres, trade shows, hotels, conventions, private parties, television and fairs. It remained 8 weeks in Radio City Music Hall, has been featured on Ed Sullivan's TV show and three times on Perry Como's program.

Lendward Simpson, Jr., 11, Seen As Future Net Star

WILMINGTON — A future tennis star seems to be in the making in the person of Lendward Simpson, Jr., 11-year old local native. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Lendward Simpson, Sr., of 1417 Ann Street, and a standout prospect in the ATA Junior Development program.
After training with Dr. R. Walter Johnson, tennis enthusiast, of Lynchburg last summer, young Simpson gave an encouraging account of his potential during an extended tour with Dr. Johnson's junior tennis players.

Lendward captured four trophies during the tour. He entered the finals of the South-eastern Tennis Tournament at Durham for the below 12 singles. He was the winner of the singles runnerup trophy but took down the championship trophy in the doubles.
He shared his third trophy in Washington, D. C. with Pop Hawkins in the doubles. His fourth trophy was annexed in New England as he teamed with Miss Edith Gill to

Louisburg Notes

BY MRS. ALVIN WILLIAMS
CHURCH ACTIVITIES
LOUISBURG — Club no. 5 of the Mitchell Chapel Baptist Church held its monthly meeting Oct. 5 at 7:30 p. m. at the home of Mrs. Esther Davis. The chairman, Mrs. Esther Davis, presided over the meeting. The adults were in charge of the devotional period. After the dispensation of business, Mr. Arthur Williams gave an interesting talk on church work. The hostess served apple pie, ice cream and punch.

On Sunday, Oct. 9 at 10 a. m. Sunday School began at the Mitchell Chapel Baptist Church. The supt., Mr. David Long, was in charge. Subject of the lesson: Adoration of God. After the classes re-assembled, the lesson was very beautifully reviewed by Rev. H. B. Floyd. Interesting and helpful remarks were made by Mr. G. Alston, a field worker of the Franklin County Sunday School Convention.
At 11:15 the junior missionary circle of the Mitchell Chapel Baptist Church held its monthly meeting.
The worship committee chairman, Miss Shirley Solomon, was in charge of the devotion. The vice-president, Miss Emma Fogg, presided over the meeting.

Goldsboro

BY J. H. GRAHAM
GOLDSBORO — Mr. T. C. Coley of Canal Street continues very ill and was taken to Duke Hospital Monday morning.
Miss Rosa Gray of Virginia St., after having been very sick and in the Wayne Memorial Hospital, is now at home, improving rapidly.
The Dillard Tigers journeyed to Washington, N. C. Friday evening and pleased the coaches very much, winning the game, 14 to 6. Their next foe will be in Tarboro, Oct. 14.
Mr. Porter Fennell of New York City, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Fennell of 306 Brazil Street, is visiting parents and friends.
Miss Vera Raynor, daughter of Mrs. Lella Raynor and the late Willie Raynor of Goldsboro was united in matrimony to Sgt. J. W. Edwards, son of Mr. and Mrs. Eddie Edwards of Athens, Ga., Oct. 1, at 6:30 p. m. by Rev. R. B. Sykes, in the home of the bride's mother, 603 Canal Street. A reception for the couple will be held at that address Oct. 15, after which the bride and groom will depart for Ft. Bragg, N. C. where he is stationed and will make their home.

EAST END SCHOOL NEWS

(W. A. Foster, Principal)
East End School begins this school year with an enrollment of 232 pupils and thirty-three teachers. New teachers are Mrs. Cieta Jackson, and Misses Margaret Bennett, Vernal Heath, and Georgia Smith, librarian.
Plans are now underway for the first activity for the year, the annual musical tea. This event will take place on Sunday, October 23rd in the school gymnasium. Mrs. P. M. Foster is serving as chairman of the affair.
Miss Marie Iler's sixth grade class presented the first chapel program for the year on Friday at our weekly chapel hour. A very colorful program, "Jolly Circus Day," was presented complete with bears, lions, camels, monkeys, giraffes and clowns. Parents present were Mesdames Rixie Rowe, Eloise Mitchell and Naomi Korngay.
