MEMPHIS, Tenn.—Five young children perished Sunday in a fire which swept their two-room frame home in suburban Memphis. The mother of the youngsters, Mrs. Luzella Wright, 26, said she ran outside the house for help when the blaze started, but that the dwelling was destroyed before fire men arrived. Although investigation is being continued, no report of the origin of the fire had been received by The CAROLINIAN at its press time.

“Selective Buying” Discussions Thurs.

The effect of the present campaign of “selective buying” aimed at a group of grocery stores in the Raleigh area will be one of the main topics of discussion when the Raleigh Citizens Association holds its semi-monthly meeting, Thursday evening, February 2 at 6 p. m. at the Bloodworth Street YMCA. Pamphlets urging “selective buying,” have been distributed.

The Citizens Association, in conjunction with the Raleigh branch, NAACP, is promoting a “selective buying” movement in this area. The idea is to encourage Negroes to shop where they can obtain employment on all levels. The present “selective buying” movement is directed against the employment practices of the A&P Store, the Winn-Dixie Stores and the Piggly Wiggly Stores. The public, as well as the association’s members, are urged to be present at this important meeting.

Jiles Held In Lottery Crackdown

Norman Jiles, 32-year-old grocer, was arrested Tuesday and charged with operating a lottery and with two counts of breaking and entering.

A resident of 224 S. Tarboro Road, Jiles was nabbed in his auto on Bragg Street around 2:30 p. m. Both city and county officers took part in the arrest.

Ministers Hear Noted Educator

Dr. Benjamin E. Mays, president of Atlanta, Ga.’s Morehouse College, reminded the N. C. Council of Churches here Tuesday that men must maintain brotherhood connections in order to keep ties with God.

Some 250 ministers were present at the luncheon meeting, which was in conjunction with the Council’s annual meeting here. St. Michael’s Episcopal Church was the scene of the address.

Dr. Mays continued, “We are all so intertwined—white man, black man, yellow man and red man—that I cannot break my bonds with you without breaking my bonds with God.”

The meeting’s theme was: “The Ministry of Reconciliation.” Fourteen denominations were represented.

Also speaking at Tuesday’s luncheon were Dr. Theodore O. Wedel, canon of the Episcopal Cathedral in Washington, D. C.; Dr. Bernard H. Boyd, head of the department of religion at the University of N. C.; and the Rev. Morton Kurtz of Durham, executive director of the Council.

During an evening session at the White Memorial Presbyterian

Clean Knife Clutched In Hand Of Durham Woman

DURHAM — The frozen body of Miss Mary Lee Jones, 36, of Durham, was discovered Monday after a neighbor became curious.

The body had been pierced by a bullet hole in the chest and a clean butcher knife was clutched in Miss Jones’ open hand.

County Coroner, Dr. B. R. Perry, estimated that the woman had been dead for a week or more.

Detectives Frank McCrea and Clyde Cox expressed the opinion that Miss Jones was killed on the afternoon of January 21, shortly after Buster Orange, Jr., alias Elijah Bass, Jr., 41, of the same address, was seen leaving the duplex apartment.

A bill of indictment of murder was drawn against the man Monday afternoon by Solicitor H. W. Murdock. The grand jury quickly returned “a true bill” of murder.

Orange, who detectives said had been living with Miss Jones for several weeks in his apartment, has not been seen here since spotted leaving the apartment on the particular Saturday afternoon.

James A. Mitchell, a resident of the other side of the duplex reportedly made a telephone call to police headquarters relating to the gruesome find.

New Executive Secretary Named By Urban League

NEW YORK, N. Y.—Whitney M. Young, Jr., dean of the Atlanta University School of Social Work, has been selected by the Board of Trustees of the National Urban League to be the organization’s new Executive Director, Henry Steeger, Sr., League President, announced last week.

Mr. Steeger said, “Mr. Young has been chosen with the unanimous consent of the Board. We are delighted with his acceptance. A dynamic and vigorous leader, who has a record distinguished well beyond his years, I am convinced that Mr. Young will move the Urban League forward to exciting new achievements.”

“An organization with a fifty year history of ‘firsts’ has chosen a man who has blazed for himself one first after another.”

Mr. Young, 39, will take over the organization’s top professional job from current Executive Director Lester B. Granger who retires October 1, 1961. Mr. Granger was recently elected to the Presidency of the International Conference of Social Work.

Presently, Mr. Young is on leave from Atlanta University studying at Harvard University under a special Rockefeller Foundation grant.

A graduate of Kentucky State College, Mr. Young holds a Master’s Degree in Social Work from the University of Minnesota. He also did graduate work at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

Mr. Young began his professional social work career with the organization he will soon lead. His first professional assignment was with the St. Paul Urban League as a Director of Industrial Relations and Vocational Guidance. He later became the Executive Director of the Omaha Urban League, holding that post from 1950 to 1954.

Young has been extremely active as a civic leader in Atlanta, serving on the Executive Board of the

Dress Fire Fatal

SCOTLAND NECK — A 3-year-old child died of burns suffered when her dress caught fire at her home Saturday. Coroner Rufus Britton said the child, Louise Hannon, suffered second degree burns over most of her body. Her father reported to Britton that the little girl was playing near a fire with some other children at the time of the tragedy.

Wake Farm Families Consider Problems

Farm and home leaders of Wake County took an active part in discussing their problems at their Annual Institute held in Greenleaf Chapel of Shaw University, Tuesday, January 31.

The day-long program started with invocation by Rev. Millard Jones of Raleigh, Route 7, and Mrs. Cora B. Taylor presiding.

The purpose of the institute was given by Mrs. Romealia Chavis of Raleigh, Route 6, followed by a discussion on home beautification by T. W. Flowers, extension horticultural specialist.

A panel entitled “The Family Garden” was participated in by Wake County farm families. Mr. and Mrs. Haywood Denning, Route 1, Apex; Mr. and Mrs. Lancy Caudle, Route 1, Wake Forest; Mrs. Erma Dunn, Route 2, Wendell; Willie Chavis, Route 6, Raleigh. The panel was presided over by W. C. Davenport, Wake County Agent. Summarizing the discussion

Fatal Abortion Nets 12-15 Years For Wake Resident

Mrs. Willie Mae Hinton, 38, was convicted Monday in the Wake County Superior Court of manslaughter in a fatal abortion case and sentenced to serve from 12 to 15 years in prison.

The Raleigh, Route 2 resident had been charged with murder originally. The State, however, accepted a plea of no contest to a charge of manslaughter.

Mrs. Hinton’s alleged victim was Mrs. Fannie Mae Polk of 304 N. Carver Street. According to testimony, the abortion was performed on January 2.

Testimony presented at the beginning of the case showed that Mrs. Polk answered her door on a morning in January, returned to another room in the house and dropped dead.

‘NAACP Day’ Observance Feb. 12

Plans are being finalized for the observance of the 52nd anniversary of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People in all Raleigh churches on Sunday, February 12th. It is hoped by President Ralph Campbell that all ministers in the city and outlying Raleigh communities will allow speakers to discuss the NAACP program on this day. The speakers will be members of the Undergraduate Chapters of the Alpha Kappa Alpha Sorority of St. Augustine’s College and Shaw University. This bureau of speakers will be under the direction of Mrs. V. K. Newell.

The Rev. D. N. Howard, president of the Raleigh Interdenominational Ministerial Alliance, is assisting Mrs. Newell with this project. The speakers will discuss the questions: “Has any Real Progress been made along the lines of the NAACP’s Program 1. Lynching 2. Armed Services Segregation 3. The right to vote 4. Justice in the Courts 5. Job Equality 6. Education, Housing, public accommodation 7. School desegregation.”

WEATHER

The five-day weather forecast for Raleigh, beginning Thursday, Feb. 2, and ending Monday, Feb. 6, is as follows:

Temperatures will average a few degrees below normal. It will be colder Friday and Saturday with a slowly warming trend Sunday and Monday. There is a chance of showers on Friday and some precipitation about Monday. The precipitation will average one-half to three-fourths inches.
