"AFTER FORTY YEARS" ROCKY MOUNT - It was Sunday morning, March 20, 1921 when the writer "landed" with his invalid father, at Entfield and Bricks in Eastern Tarheelia...

"PLAY IT SAFE" "Play it Safe" is not only the warning of the coach to a baseball runner, but is the warning of the age when "Everything is Moving Too Fast"...

During recent years the Piedmont section of Tarheelia has shown rapid "Strides Toward Freedom", having gotten a wonderful push by the courageous college and high school students...

After 22 years of NAACP effort in Rocky Mount—the so-called leading town in Tobacco-land—it is more than evident that 99 per cent of our people—educators, preachers and professionals included—are just "not ready yet" to accept their "unalienable right" to full citizenship...

As Hambone said some 30 years ago, he was "using the same kind of cars his boss man used, except that he had to wait until the boss man got through with them."

FAISON BATTLES BATTLE FOR ELKS PRESIDENCY This column meant no offense to either party when we wrote a fortnight ago—that Northampton county mortician J. W. Faison had formally announced himself as being a candidate for the presidency of the IBOPEW (Elks) of Tarheelia...

We tried to say an equal number of complimentary things about both gentlemen. It was not our fault that THE CAROLINIAN did not have room for all the laudatory remarks we had written about Mr. Battle and highly esteemed Mrs. Letitia Smith of Hickory...

CLINTON NEWS

BY H. M. JOHNSON

CLINTON — The senior usher board of the Lisbon Street Baptist Church celebrated its 40th anniversary Sunday at 3 p.m. Words of welcome were given by Mrs. P. S. Moultrie. The sermon was delivered by Rev. Willie Beaman.

The members are: Mesdames Catherine Bennett, Ida M. Blackwell, Emma Corbett, Marie Faison, Ann Godwin, Francis Jackson, Elsie Ledbetter, Bessie Mathis, Magaline Sampson, Gerlie Underwood, Garhan Bennett, Harold Boykin, Norman Boykin, George Fennell, Robert Fyran, John Killeit, and Albert Underwood. One honorary member, Mrs. Rennie Swinson, was present.

The G. C. Club of Lisbon Street Baptist Church held its regular meeting recently at the home of Mrs. Nora Foreman. Following the business session, the hostess assisted by Mrs. Sinkie Herring and Mrs. Frances Jackson, served refreshments.

Miss Frances Sampson is in Goldsboro at the bedside of her sister, Mrs. Sude S. Sykes.

Miss Joan Bennett of Weldon was in town Sunday visiting her mother, Mrs. Alice Jackson.

The Nineteenth Annual State Council Meeting of Home Demonstration Clubs was held last Wednesday at the Memorial Auditorium in Raleigh. Among the two thousand farm women, 61 were from Sampson County. Dr. Samuel Proctor, president of A&T College, in Greensboro, was the guest speaker.

Dr. Proctor used as a subject "Saving Today's Home." It was very inspiring and each person was helped. The choir and band of the Oxford Orphanage rendered a program at the Sampson High School, March 19 at 3 p.m. The program was very much enjoyed by the audience.

We are happy to report that the sick ones on the list last week are improving.

Mrs. Mollie Stevens, who has been a patient at Sampson Memorial for the past three weeks is at home now and still improving.

HOLY WEEK SERVICES HELD Holy Week Services are being held this week at First Baptist Church. On Easter Sunday morning, sunrise services will be held at Lisbon Street Baptist Church.

The Rev. J. H. Everett, pastor of the Mt. Olive Baptist, Fayetteville, will bring the message.

The Women's Guild Club of the First Baptist Church rendered a program Sunday night at the church. Mrs. Bessie Dupree and her first grade students from Butler Ave. School presented music and poetry. It was very much enjoyed. At that time the popularity contest came to a close. The winners were: Little Denese Adkins, first place; Angella Freeman, second place; Maryland Sampson, third place; Alva Ezzell, fourth place. $113.35 was raised. Mrs. Josie Moore is president of the club.

OFF TO EXPAND ZION CHURCH

This picture shows Bishop W. M. Smith and Mrs. Smith as they left Mobile, Alabama, recently, to visit the work of the denomination in the Virgin Islands and South America. They traveled to Miami and thence to the Virgin Islands. A report from Bishop Smith revealed that the trip was proving highly successful. At Georgetown, South America, where the South American Conference was held, it was revealed that 28 persons joined the Conference. Bishop Smith has mapped a program to add 20,000 persons to the faith, during the year.

Louisburg Happenings

BY MRS. MARY L. WILLIAMS

LOUISBURG—Sunday School at the Mitchell Chapel Baptist Church began at 9:45. The superintendent Mr. David Long was in charge. Subject of the lesson was: "Christ died for us." After the classes reviewed the lesson, at 4 p.m. on March 26, the Junior Missionary Circle met at the home of Miss Francis Bobbitt for their social. Feature for the month was: "A trip around the world." The group represented different countries telling of the religious activities, industries, and the government of those countries which climaxed a very interesting discussion among the group. Each member brought refreshments and served at the close of the meeting.

The Missionary Circle of the Jordan Chapel Church held a program March 26 at 7:30. The sermon was preached by the Rev. A. L. Morgan.

Club Activities Sixty-five members from the Franklin County Council of Home Demonstration Clubs attended the State Council that was held in Raleigh at the Memorial Auditorium March 22.

The Epsom Development Committee held its monthly meeting at the Mitchell Church March 23. The chairman, Mr. James Hawkins, presided. After the dispensation of business, there were committee reports, followed by an interesting talk by the county agent, Mr. L. D. Baldwin.

Personals Mrs. Julia Mason and son, Mr. James E. Malone, were the Sunday afternoon guests of Mrs. Lizzie Williams. Mrs. Francis Mason and Mrs. Nelson Mason were the Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Williams.

YOU ARE THE DETECTIVE

There's a gang that has been running rampant in your community for the past several months, and in a recent building-and-loose-company robbery, one of the hoodlums shot and killed Elias Peters, one of the clerks. The police finally succeeded in rounding up all five members of the gang, and during the interrogation each of the gangsters makes three positive statements. You know that ONE statement made by each man is a lie. Here are the statements:

BARKER: "I'm not the killer. I've never killed anyone. Holloway is the only one who killed Peters."

SIMPSON: "I didn't kill Peters. I've never owned a gun in my life. The other guys are stalling you off."

ROGERS: "You can't pin this on me. Holloway is the guy you're looking for. I was out of town when it happened."

HOLLOWAY: "Leland is the killer you're looking for. Barker lied when he said I was the killer. I sure didn't do it."

LEELAND: "I don't know nothing about the shooting. Simpson is your man. I can prove I wasn't nowhere around when it happened."

Now, knowing as you do ONE statement made by each of these men is false, can you put your finger on the hoodlum who did the actual killing?

The killer is Simpson. Since the first two statements by Barker cannot both be false then his third statement is false, which makes both Barker and Holloway innocent. Digesting Holloway's statement, we find his second and third statements are true, and therefore his first statement is false—which eliminates Leeland.

A consideration of Rogers and Simpson reveals that Rogers said Holloway is the one we're looking for, and we know that statement is false. Therefore, we know that Rogers is innocent and that Simpson is the killer. Simpson's only false statement is, "I didn't kill Peters."

EAR TRAINING In retraining children in a program of speech correction, we really a great deal on ear training (auditory training, or acoustic training as it is sometimes called). For example, we can play phonographs auditory training records that are designed to assist children in isolating, discriminating, and identifying the sounds made by animals, sounds in our immediate environment, and finally speech sounds. We must literally bombard the young child with environmental and especially gross and fine speech sounds. No parent can underestimate the value of training the child's ears to listen. This is the basis for learning how to talk correctly. Ear training techniques are recommended for children between three and eight years of age. The next steps in speech correction training are visual stimulation and phonetic placement.
