

Ontario—Refreshing Vacationland

ANGLER'S PARADISE

Each of Ontario's 33 variety vacation areas offers its own particular fishing delight. Here, at Eagle Lake near Vermillion Bay, this little fellow, who's all of three feet tall, marvels at the Muskie that towers over him.

Your youngsters, too, will share the joys of angling in Ontario, the natural habitat of thirteen varieties of fighting game fish: large mouth bass, small mouth bass, yellow pickerel, speckled trout, rainbow trout, lake trout, brown trout, muskellunge, great northern pike, muskellunge, Atlantic salmon, and Lake Ontario trout.

All the Great Lakes (except Michigan) are shared by Ontario. Many other large bodies of water—Lakes Nipissing, Nipigon, Simcoe, and the Muskoka, Kawartha and Rideau chains—lie inland. Lake of the Woods, Rainy Lake and Quetico chains adjoin the International Border. In addition, 250,000 smaller lakes and count-riage or his role in life," the author points out.

Similarly, he continues, "A wife who has always been a good homemaker but now does not care whether meals are prepared or the house is kept clean or the children get to school in time may be reflecting her belief that her husband does not appreciate her."

The author notes "increased fault-finding" as yet another danger signal. "A certain amount of wifely nagging is par for the course in marriage," he concedes. "But incessant nagging can literally drive a man to drink. When a man or woman finds more and more things to criticize—perhaps the male's way of speaking, eating habits, conduct in the company of friends, or way of dress—it is a sign of basic dissatisfaction, a decrease in the harmony needed for the success of the marriage."

The sixth danger signal is "inability to enjoy each other's company. When a husband of several years' standing spends more and more recreational hours away from home he probably does not obtain the pleasure he should from his wife's company. She may be blamed for this but he may be at fault too. At any rate, it is a red light—a sign to stop and consider what lies behind the inability to tolerate each other."

Monsignor Kelly's list of danger signals ends with "indifference to religious duties. No one will deny that a husband and wife united by a common bond of religion and faithful to their religious beliefs are likely to make the best marriage. When one or both become indifferent to religious duties, however, it indicates some weakening of the union. When sin is involved—such as repeated missing of Mass on Sunday or failure to receive the sacraments in accordance with the laws of the Church—there is a lessening of the sense of solidarity which every marriage needs to survive."

Rev. Abernathy Gets Aid From Baptists For Accused Ministers

LOS ANGELES (ANP)—While his property was being auctioned off in Alabama, Rev. Ralph Abernathy was praising Dr. Gardner C. Taylor in a speech here for a $2,500 contribution.

Rev. Abernathy delivered the closing address at a regional meeting of the National Baptist Convention, USA, Inc., of which Dr. Taylor is one of two contesting presidents. The other is Dr. J. H. Jackson of Chicago.

Speaking before 2,000 persons, the militant Montgomery minister praised Dr. Taylor's contribution to the Negro's struggle for freedom and first class citizenship, and challenged other Baptists to do more than give lip service in the current struggle for equality.

He said that under the leadership of the former president of the convention Rev. Jackson, no financial support or encouragement was given to "our own pastors who are among the leaders fighting for freedom."

The $2,500 was "given to the Southern Christian Leadership Conference to help replace the property taken from two of our pastors by the state of Alabama."

Hold Sheriff's Sale of Property

Meanwhile in Montgomery efforts to satisfy a $500,000 label judgment obtained last November by L. B. Sullivan, Montgomery police commissioner, against Rev. Abernathy.

Catholic Writer Warns Of Marriage's Danger Signals

UNION CITY, N. J.—A leading Roman Catholic writer on marriage warns of seven danger signals for married couples in the April issue of The Sign, national Catholic magazine, published here.

Monsignor George A. Kelly, Director of the New York Archdiocese's Family Life Bureau and author of "The Catholic Marriage Manual" which has headed best-seller lists with sales of more than 100,000 copies, tells of "danger signs which should cause concern and which indicate that deeper, unresolved problems exist in a marriage."

signor Kelly, is "difficulties in expressing affection. Husbands and wives should always find it possible to show their affection for each other with a kiss or a glance or in acts of gentleness and kindness. As long as the ability to display affection exists, the avenues are kept open by which other marital problems can be solved."

"Lack of responsibility" is also listed as one of the danger signs. "If a man who has faithfully provided for his family over the years begins to show weakness and indifference, it may indicate his serious dissatisfaction with his marriage."

"One of the most conspicuous signals," he asserts, "is an inability to communicate with each other. Almost invariably, the man or woman who takes his or her problems elsewhere in the last stages of a sick marriage has tried to solve it within the family, but a cold wall of silence has built up around it."

"Drinking to excess is a contributing factor in two out of every five disturbed marriages that counselors are asked to help," the author reports. "Quite often it starts with innocent social drinking but many persons are susceptible to alcohol for emotional, spiritual, or physical reasons, and their continued use of it gradually impairs their control. If the drinking continues, ultimately the subject may be discussed no longer and the cold, deadly silence will set in."
