ROCKY MOUNT — A seventy-year-old retired Baptist preacher was bound over to Edgecombe County Superior Court without privilege of bond by Judge Norman Gold in City Court April 20 on the charge of statutory rape of an eleven-year-old girl after the finding of probable cause by Judge Gold.

The Rev. D. L. (Doc) Lawrence of 315 Park Avenue retired a few years ago from the pastorate of Hart's Chapel Baptist Church near Tarboro after serving there for more than a score of years. Previously, he had served other churches in the area as pastor. Policemen I. G. Dickerson and W. O. Moore testified against Lawrence at the hearing, along with an 11-year-old girl, alleged victim.

The girl allegedly admitted relations with Lawrence on the day of the arrest, although Lawrence denied any improper conduct to officers.

Reportedly, the child's mother had caused an investigation to be made which led to the apprehension of Lawrence in the home of

WEATHER

The five-day weather forecast for Raleigh, beginning Thursday, April 27, and continuing through May 1, is as follows: Temperatures will be near or somewhat above average with little day-to-day change, except a cooling trend is expected near the end of the period. Scattered showers are expected to occur over the weekend, averaging one-half inch or more. Normal high and low temperatures will be 75 and 52 degrees.

President Of College Gives Plans

The building and property of St. Agnes Hospital here will be taken over by Saint Augustine's College, President James A. Boyer of the college announced Tuesday.

An agreement, under which the direction of the hospital was separated from the college's board of directors in 1942, provided that the college could resume control of the hospital's property any time the facility ceased to operate, Dr. Boyer stated.

Prior to that time, the college trustees had controlled the hospital, since 1896.

Citation Set Friday For Ex-Ligon Honor Student

DURHAM — President Thomas H. Henderson of Virginia Union University has been named keynote speaker for the annual observance of Awards Day at North Carolina College at Durham.

Some 300 NCC students will be honored for outstanding curricular and extra-curricular activities in a day-long celebration on May 12. Dr. Henderson's address will represent the highlight of a series of events, including assemblies, installation ceremonies, and an honors dance. The school has an enrollment of approximately 2,300 students.

Dr. Norman Johnson, chairman of the Awards Day Committee, said here last week that the College's emphasis on achievement emphasizes "our concern for all-around excellence in the pursuit of quality education." One of the features of the celebration will be the awarding of a Hamilton Watch to Carl High, Raleigh senior, as the "most outstanding student" at NCC. High is an honor graduate of the J. W. Ligon Junior-Senior High School here and is the son of Mr. and Mrs. H. C. High, Sr., of E. Hargett St.

Dr. Henderson, who succeeded Dr. Samuel DeWitt Proctor as president of Virginia Union last July, is a graduate of that institution. He holds master's and doctorate degrees from the University of Chicago.

A native of Newport News and the son of a minister, Dr. Henderson taught at Armstrong High School in Richmond from 1928 until 1941, when he became dean of the college at Virginia Union University. He was also professor of psychology and education until elevated to the presidency in 1960.

His community activities include membership in the Urban League and the Virginia Council on Human Relations, both of which groups he serves as chairman. He is also a member of the Richmond Public Welfare Board and of the Board of Directors of the Richmond Area

Sanford's Assistant Is Heard

"There are frontiers all over the world and they are both opportunities and battlegrounds," stated Tom Lambeth, youthful administrative assistant to Governor Terry Sanford at the opening session of the N. C. YMCA Youth Conference held here last weekend. Sessions were held at the Bloodworth Street YMCA and the J. W. Ligon High School.

"The New Frontiers are everywhere — in the inferior schools of North Carolina, in the land of the Banta where opportunities are scant and wherever people are hopefully seeking greater opportunities in education, employment and other areas of life," Mr. Lambeth continued.

The 335 delegates were officially welcomed by Mayor W. G. Enloe, H. E. Brown, principal of the Ligon High School, Billy Robinson of the H-Y Club and Carol J. Hall of the Y-Teens Club. Response to the Welcome Address was given by Freddie Ricks, first vice-president of the conference.

"Ride-In" Attempt Thwarted

JACKSON, Miss (AP) — Four Negro College students last week were arrested on breach of peace charges for their unsuccessful attempt to ride in "white-only" seats on a city bus. This is the second demonstration on the part of Negro students here to end color bars in recent weeks.

Jackson police identified the four as George Anne Washington, 20, of Jackson; Doris Ruth Bracey, 19, of Raymond; and Walter H. Jones, 18, of Forest, students at Jackson State College; and Johnny Harbour, Jr., 21, of Greenwood, a student at Campbell College here.

Chief of detectives M. B. Pierce said the students were released on $500 bond each. Bonds were posted by Dr. W. E. Miller and Cornelius Turner, both Negroes. The two men and two coeds boarded a city bus on Capital St. in the main part of downtown Jackson. They said later they planned to ride to the Municipal Park Zoo.
