"TRACTORS FOR FREEDOM"

Now that the much-publicized "Tractors for Freedom" deal with Cuba's strong man, Fidel Castro is apparently off, we would like to suggest to President Kennedy that instead of allowing the U. S. Committee that was handling this matter to disband, he put it to work here in the U. S. A.

Hundreds of persons were jailed in Castro's Cuba in an a-

Publishers Report Successful Meeting

CLEVELAND, Ohio — The National Newspaper Publishers Association closed the most successful convention that has been held since the organization was organized here Saturday, with the Cleveland Call & Post as host.

The three-day meet discussed every phase of the newspaper, with an eye singled to closer look at the local command a better product and munity. It was the consensus of opinion that each paper owed its respective locale a definite service and that the job should be done for every segment of the community.

News gathering, due to the fact that the whole paper is built in and around its readers, was the main topic. It was generally agreed that too many news stories are being missed about the rank and file. It was also agreed that the greatest opportunity to serve the community as a public service agency was in the fact that the newspaper should and must have the pulse beat of the community. There was a tendency to tone down crime and to build constructive stories on the accomplishments of the people of the community.

The publishers brought out the fact that advertising was predicated upon the impact that the newspapers had upon the community and this could only be reflected in the circulation figures. It was also noted that the product must be made attractive so as to draw the attention of the reader and to make an impression on the potential reader.

The fact that the Cleveland Call & Post produced an 80-page paper was the rave of the meet. It was produced on its recently installed 16-page Offset Rotary press. The publishers agreed that it was an innovation in newspaper production and felt that it was the answer to a better product.

SC Closes Parks; No "Mixing"

COLUMBIA, S. C. (AP) — There's a possibility that South Carolina will run out of parks before Negroes win the right to enjoy them.

Last week the state closed down Sequi Park temporarily to prevent its being entered by Negroes who claim they have a right to enjoy it as tax paying citizens.

But there is a possibility that the park may be shut down permanently.

Ediston Beach State Park on the coast is now closed and idle after the legislature voted in 1956 to close it in the face of a legal suit brought by Negroes in federal court in Charleston.

Shepard, 34-year-old married son of Rev. Marshall Shepard, nationally known minister and member of the city council, escaped prosecution on a similar charge in July 1959.

Shapely Vicki Diaz, whose real name is Victoria Gadsden, said she didn't want to testify against the truck driver because she wanted to put an end to the matter and because she felt the Shepard had learned a lesson.
