PLANNING COMMITTEE — The four persons shown in this picture were in charge of the arrangements for the sesquicentennial celebration. They are l-r: Rev. C. W. Ward, pastor; J. W. Yeargin, historian; W. C. Davenport, co-chairman and Mrs. Nora Evans Lockhart, chairman.

DEACONS — Shown are members of the 1962 Deacon Board of First Baptist. These men serve as administrators of the business of the church, in cooperation with the pastor. When one proves himself worthy of becoming a deacon in a Baptist church he is believed to have attained a high position of service.

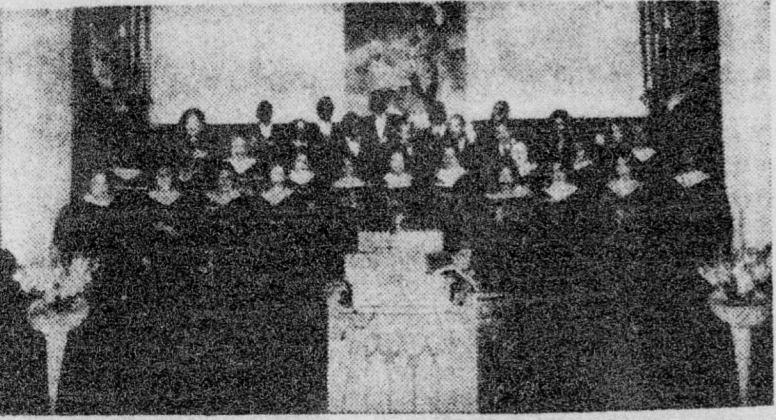

DEACONESS — One of the main Boards of any Baptist Church is the Deaconess Board. Much of the success that has come to First Baptist, during its 150 year history, has been due to the work of the Deaconess Board. The persons shown above are members of the 1962 board.

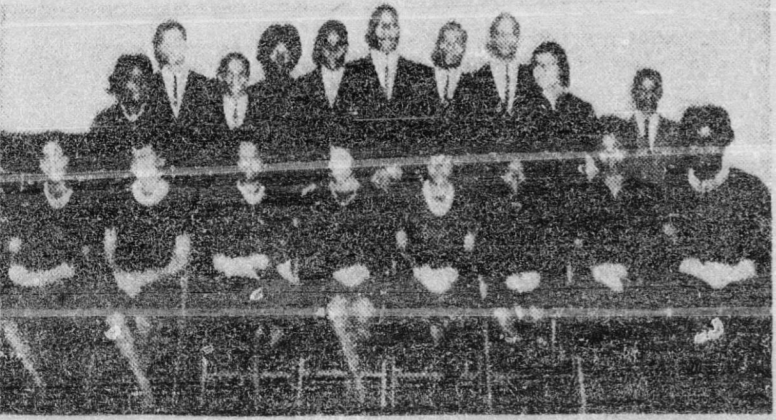

EDUCATION COMMITTEE — First Baptist was one of the pioneer churches in Christian Education, in the state. It has one of the best equipped and commodious buildings to be found anywhere. Its education program has gained wide favor. The persons on this picture, constitute the Education Committee.

GROUP LEADERS — Most well organized churches find that group leaders keep a fine relationship between the pastor, officers and members. First Baptist's membership is divided into 10 groups. These persons are the current group leaders. They carry a message of good cheer to sick, distressed and delinquent members.

MOSELEY JONES CHOIR — The Moseley-Jones Choir is one of the many singing aggregations of First Baptist. Its history is deep rooted in the church. The name denotes recognition to the devotion of the departed members and serves as a criteria for potential musical devotees. It is named in honor of Dr. George T. Jones, John Moseley and Miss B-rene D. Jones.

JUNIOR USHERS — The attitude of ushers usually portrays the spirit and temperament of the pastor and congregation. In order that friends and visitors of First Baptist might get the right impression of the atmosphere, the selection is very important. These young people are members of the Junior Usher Board. They are under the supervision of the officers of the Senior Usher Board.

CA Stands Firm On UF Criticism

Vance Seeks Presidency Of State Elks

Alphonzo Vance of Raleigh, has announced his candidacy for the office as State President of the North Carolina State Association of Elks of the World.

In a meeting held on February 11, the past Exalted Rulers Council, which consists of Past and Present Exalted Rulers of all Lodges in the Fifth District of North Carolina, voted unanimously to endorse Vance for this high office when the convention convenes in Washington, North Carolina in May.

Vance, a member of the Fidelity Lodge No. 277 of Raleigh, N. C. for 30 years, has served every office in the Lodge. He served as exalted ruler and membership increased from 15 to 65.

During his two years in office, the Lodge paid all indebtedness and had a large sum left in the bank at the end of his term. He also put the lodge in a burial league.

YOUTH WANTS TO KNOW — These young pickets, who are picketing the new wing of the Charlotte Memorial Hospital want to know why city and federal government money was used in the construction and yet it is segregated. They want to know why Negro patients are not admitted like other patients and why Negro doctors cannot practice like other doctors, who passed the same state examinations.

Leaders Rap Stand Taken By 'Y' Board

Despite the back-hand stop aimed at it by the Board of Management of the Bloodworth Street YMCA for the Raleigh Citizens Association published criticism of some practices of the United Fund, the Association in its regular meeting on March 1st, overwhelmingly reaffirmed its backing of the report of its special committee which had, after a study covering a period of 2 years, issued a report charging the United Fund with bias and discriminatory practices.

The only persons taking the floor to defend the "Y" board at this meeting were two of the persons who had helped formulate the resolution which, among other things, called the findings of the Association, "untrue", "unfair" and "misleading".

The Association directed this special committee to continue with its work and voted down an amendment that would have deleted that section of the committee's report which proposed that the operation of the fund in areas of real public need should be taken over by publicly operated agencies.

This was one of the items in the Association's report which had seemingly raised the ire of some of the members of the YMCA Board. However, it was brought out that this specific proposal was offered as an alternative because of the allegation that the United Fund was protected in its actions and practices because the agencies participating with the fund and sponsored by the fund are considered to

HOSPITAL OBSERVATION SUGGESTED

The essence of the bible saying, "The way of a transgressor is hard" could certainly be applied to the actions of John Ervin Sanders, who allegedly lost his mind in the city lock-up Monday, after he had been sentenced for a series of crimes.

He faced assault charges of several natures. He is said to have gone on a rampage with a long-bladed knife and welded it so recklessly until Lawrence McNeil was cut from the back of his neck to the left corner of his mouth. He was also charged with using a knife on Mrs. Juanita Green Fowler, and as a result she is alleged to be without a nose.

The crimes did not revently counter with Sanders until he was sentenced by Judge Pretlow Winborne, in City Court, Monday morning. The 19-year-old youth was convicted of carrying a concealed weapon and was given a 90-

Daniel-Strassner Feature First Baptist Celebration

The services of the sesquicentennial celebration of the First Baptist Church will feature Dr. Robert P. Daniel, president of Virginia State College, Sunday, 11:00 a. m. He will speak on the "Unfaltering Trust."

He will be the second president of Shaw University to appear on the program. It is to be remembered that he served as president of the Baptist college for sometime and was very closely connected with the First Baptist Church. President W. R. Strassner is scheduled to speak Thursday night and will talk about the "Debt and Duty to the Founders".

The Shaw Head will tell what a great contribution that the founders and others made in the establishing of the First Baptist Church and bringing it thus far. He will also tell what we owe them for this feat and what our duty is to their memory and the church.

An anniversary banquet is booked for Chavis Heights Recreation Center, Friday night. Mrs. Nora Evans Lockhart, chairman of the general committee, will serve as toastmistress. From all indications this will be the highlight of the social activities, attendant to the celebration.

The week-long commemoration will close Sunday with a pageant depicting the founding of the famed church and its history. The pageant will be directed by Mrs. Mildred T. James.

WEATHER

The five day weather forecast for the Raleigh area beginning Thursday, March 8th and continuing through Monday, March 12th is as follows:

Temperatures average well below normal, with some what Thursday and Friday, followed by much colder weather. Rain likely about Saturday.

First Negro Monk Takes Belmont Abbey Vows

BELMONT — Church circles moved nearer their goal here Sunday when Martin Anthony Boags 22-year-old Charleston, S. C. man, was given the final vows as a monk at Belmont Abbey.

The ceremony, cutting him off from the outside world, for life, was the first ever administered to a Negro. Boags is said to have made up his mind about 4 1/2 years ago, while attending high school in his native city. He read what the duties of a monk were and decided that he would be happy and dedicated to the work.

He begins his day's work with prayer at 5 a. m. and will continue through until 11 p. m. He has been assigned to the library, as a bookbinder, and also be an aid in the treasurer's office, helping with the bookkeeping.

The ceremony climaxed four and one-half years of training, which kept him out of communication with the outside world. Abbot Walter A. Coggin, who performed the ceremony, said that he was not quite sure that Martin was willing to pay the price that it costs to become a monk.

His dedication to the work and the way he deported himself, while in training, proved to the higher-ups that he had decided to go all the way and thus become a symbol of purity. His association will be only with his fellow monks. His father was present and saw him accept the vows. The elder Boags took pictures of the ceremony. It is believed that this will be the last time that he will have an opportunity to see his son.

He chose to live forever in a closed religious fellowship and in a community inhabited by men of similar convictions. He is bound to a life of chastity, obedience and poverty.

Monroe Court Agrees To Take Williams Testimony In Cuba

NEW YORK — Two important developments have taken place in the fight to save four fighters against Jim Crow from trumped-up kidnap charges in Monroe, N. C. One was a setback, the other was an advance.

The setback was in the fight of Mrs. Mae Malloy, 35, against extradition from Ohio to North Carolina. At a court hearing March 1 in Cleveland an appeal against Gov. Michael V. DiSalle's order of extradition was lost. Bail was revoked and Mrs. Malloy was taken into custody. Common Court Pleas Judge Thomas J. Parrino, however, announced that the extradition order would be stayed 30 days thus permitting the filing of an appeal to a higher court.

In Monroe the prosecution, hoping that Mrs. Malloy would be extradited, had secured postponement of the trial of three young men defendants, scheduled for Feb. 19, to May 7. However, the court has agreed to the appointment.

ODDS-ENDS

BY ROBERT G. SHEPARD

"Be not dismayed," PUSH THEM ASIDE AND MARCH ON

Two years ago one of Raleigh's most outstanding white pastors, addressing a gathering at the Bloodworth St. YMCA told his listeners that if they did not change their tactics, the African nations who were just emerging into citizenship would have their complete freedom before the American Negro received his.

The thing that seemed to disturb the distinguished speaker most was the destiny of the American Negro, and particularly the Southern Negro. Warning his audience against traitors from within their own ranks who would try to throw up road blocks in the path of freedom defenders, the speaker urged the gathering not to let these detractors stop them, "Push them aside and march on to freedom" was his stirring admonition.

This warning and this admonition came to our mind when the

GOING INTO ANOTHER WORLD — Brother Martin, by which name he shall forever be called, is shown kneeling before Abbot Walter A. Coggin, in Belmont Abbey Cathedral as he took the vows, making him the first Negro to become a monk, Sunday. Brother Martin will have no connection with the outside world, the rest of his life. His name is Martin Boags and he hails from Charleston, S. C.

Man Saves Entire Family From Fire

HIGH POINT — The hand of mercy over stepped racial bounds here last week when Albert Ellison rescued a white family from a fire that enveloped a two-story frame building that housed 14 people.

Ellison was passing the building and saw smoke coming from it and walked over to investigate. He observed Joe Esley standing at an upstairs window. It was then that the frightened man, had the piece of mind, to drop a mattress over the window. Ellison put the mattress over his head and Esley dropped his 5-month-old baby to safety.

Esley then dropped his 2-year-old daughter on the mattress. He then lowered his wife far as he could and then dropped her onto the mattress. Ellison wobbled under the weight of the woman but was able to land her safely. She complained of being a little "shook"

Student Fees At A&T Taken In Daylight

GREENSBORO — A daring thief or thieves took over $6,000 in cash and checks from the bur-sar's office at A&T College, Monday afternoon.

I. J. Prince, cashier, said that he left the locked office shortly after noon and that when he returned an hour later, the glass above the lock of the door had been broken. It was then a simple matter for the thief or thieves to lift the latch and open the door.

The money box taken contained $6,261.80, with between $150 and $200 of this amount being in cash. The remainder was in checks. It represented tuition fees paid by students for the spring quarter which begins next week. Students are taking winter quarter examinations this week.

Capt. W. H. Jackson, chief of detectives, is in charge of the investigation.

The robbery is the second at the college this year. Several weeks ago a group of students broke into the campus canteen, taking cash and merchandise.

Mitchell Given Suspended Term

GREENSBORO — Judge Edwin M. Stanley continued stiff fines on income tax violators who he sentenced Samuel Mitchell, Raleigh attorney, to one year in prison, on charges of failing to file income tax returns within the legal time limits.

The case was heard sometime ago and sentence was withheld until March 1. The active sentence was suspended on condition that Mitchell pay a fine of $7.50, plus back taxes, penalties and interest to the Internal Revenue Service, amounting to more than $6,000.

Republicans In Open Bid For North Carolina Vote

DURHAM — In reply to a question asked him by a CAROLINIAN representative, at a press conference Saturday, Congressman William E. Miller, chairman, Republican National Committee, said that if a Negro in his cabinet, the he (Miller) knew several hundred Negro lawyers who were better qualified than "Brother Bobby" to be attorney-general.

He also said that due to the fact that Health and Welfare Administrator Abraham Ribicoff was going to resign and go back to Connecticut and run for the United States Senate, and this was another spot that he could place a Negro in, if he were really sincere in wanting to name a Negro to his
