As the NAACP's went through their ritual the Whites almost continually did a hand-clapping routine in an effort to drown out the sound of what was being reverently said by the Negroes. However, the Rev. Lee reports that no effort was made to physically molest any of the colored demonstrators.

There had been some dissention among the Negro leadership (as well as the Whites) as to the feasibility of the demonstration, lest it stir up resentment and cause the Ku Klux Klan to start marching also.

Listed program participants in addition to president Lee, included Rev. B. F. Rumphrey, St. Mark AME Church; Rev. W. T. Grimes, Sr.; Rev. W. R. Burston and Miss Carolyn J. McCoy.
