

WAKE DEPUTIES SEEK MURDERER NEAR CITY

Say "Fuss" Over Girl Was Motive

BY CHARLES R. JONES
For the first time since the story of the murder of an Apex man "broke" Sunday morning, the name of the suspect was released to this writer last Tuesday and is appearing in print for the public's attention. Lloyd Farrell, about 21 or 22 years of age, of Raleigh, Route 3, is being hunted in this area in the Wake County night spot murder of 22-year-old Roy Glenn Hester. The shooting took place a few miles south of the city.

Hester, a resident of the western Wake County town of Apex was hit by two bullets from a .22 calibre pistol in the early morning hours of Sunday.

Wake County Sheriff's Deputy, Robert Linton, who investigated, and furnished the name of the suspect to THE CAROLINIAN, stated Hester was pronounced dead on arrival at Wake Memorial Hospital. The bullets struck him in the neck and chest, and the right side. The latter information was supplied by the office of Wake County Coroner Marshall W. Bennett, who also investigated.

Dr. William Hedrick, Medical Examiner for the county, reportedly performed an autopsy on the body of Hester, and removed the bullets, but Dr. Hedrick's findings were not available at press time.

Witnesses had identified Farrell as the person who shot Hester, according to Sheriff's deputies. As soon as the alleged defendant is tracked down, he will have a first degree murder warrant served on him.

The Midway Grill, located on U. S. Highway 401 South, was the scene of the murder. It took place shortly after midnight.

Deputy Linton also stated that witnesses to the death informed him that a girlfriend, unnamed, was the motive for the killing as an argument broke out over her.

It was believed that Farrell had the pistol on his person at the time of his escape.

REAPPOINTED

Mayor James W. Reid of the City of Raleigh, has appointed J. E. Strickland as a Commissioner of the Raleigh Redevelopment Commission, to serve for another five-year term, expiring April 22, 1970.

FREDDIE L. JEFFRIES

Coast, Geodetic Survey Appoints 1st Tan Officer

WASHINGTON - The first Negro to be commissioned in the uniformed service of the Coast and Geodetic Survey in its 156-year history was sworn in as a Lieutenant June 21.

He is Freddie L. Jeffries, 26, of Gates, Tenn., one of 11 children of Mr. and Mrs. Freddie R. Jeffries, of Route 1, Gates.

The oath of office was administered to Jeffries by Captain John C. Bull, head of the Norfolk (Va.) Regional Office of the Coast and Geodetic Survey, an agency of the U. S. Department of Commerce.

Following the ceremony, Jeffries will spend 12 weeks in the 18th Officer Training Class at the C&GS Atlantic Ship Base at Norfolk. Other members of the class were sworn in at the same time.

The Commerce Department agency is one of seven uniformed services, the others being the Army, Navy, Marines, Air Force, Coast Guard, and Public Health Service. The C&GS uniformed service was authorized in 1917. Prior to that, Army and Navy officers saw extended duty with the bureau's "little navy."

Ex-Scout Succeeds D. Howard

Lawrence Edward Allen, 27, a Raleigh native, was appointed last week by the Occaneechee Council, Boy Scouts of America, as District Executive for the Wake County Number 31 District, which comprises 82 Boy Scout Units, and consists of over 1,000 Scouts.

Mr. Allen was named to replace the Rev. Daniel Napoleon Howard, Sr., who resigned earlier this year to accept a promotion and is now with Scouting in Chicago, Illinois. The minister-Scout executive had served in the Raleigh area for some 15 years.

Before joining the Council, Mr. Allen was employed at Shaw University as a bookkeeper.

He is a product of the local public schools, received his diploma from the J. W. Ligon High School in June of 1955, and entered the U. S. Navy. He emerged in 1958 with the rank of Yeoman Secon Class, after being assigned to posts in Africa, Europe, The Mediterranean, and the Caribbean. Miss. Civil Rights Trio Remembered

NEW YORK-(UPI)-Rallies, awards and presentations of scholarships in their names is the way this city paid tribute in week-long observance, beginning June 21, on the first anniversary of the slaying of three young civil rights workers in Mississippi.

In Mississippi, on the opening day of the New York observance civil rights workers spent the day continuing the work for which the dedicated young trio paid with their lives.

The Congress of Racial Equality, instigating the anniversary memorial, presented the Ghandi award posthumously to the three young martyrs—Michael Schwerner, 24, Brooklyn; Andrew Goodman, 20, Queens; (See RIGHTS TRIO, P. 2)

SCENE FROM JACKSON, MISSISSIPPI - Police at Jackson, Mississippi, are shown last week picking up racial demonstrators who tried to march on the capitol there. The last group of about 300 demonstrators arrested sat on the ground to wait for paddy wagons, and refused to stand up when the trucks arrived. These persons were protesting Mississippi's refusal of the bail to a vast majority of the state's Negro citizens. (UPI PHOTO).

Terror In Prisons Is Described

JACKSON, Miss. - There have been numerous reports here of brutality committed against Civil Rights demonstrators in the Jackson jails. As people are released, they are allegedly examined by the Medical Committee doctors, who report indications of brutality: two miscarriages, a kick in the abdomen of a pregnant woman, head wounds which required stitches of three volunteer workers as a result of beatings with billy clubs. "On Tuesday morning officials at the jail took twenty people to the hospital for reasons yet unknown," reports Phyllis Cunningham, volunteer nurse in Jackson.

The Medical Committee has not been allowed to visit the prisoners, as Chief of Police J. B. Pierce has threatened to arrest promptly all Medical staff who accompany the demonstrators and who attempt to administer First Aid.

Dr. June Feiner, a member of the Medical Committee on Human Relations, was arrested Friday and immediately placed in an isolated cell so that she would not be able to assist the jailed demonstrators. "We have tried for several days," she states, "to get permission to get into the jail. Chief of Police J. B. Pierce categorically refused to let anyone enter the jail, insisting (See TERROR IN, P. 2)

Economic Post Goes To Turner

Frank L. Turner, of Raleigh, has been appointed technical assistant in the North Carolina Economic Opportunity Program to work with local communities in implementing various programs of the 1964 Economic Opportunity Act.

A native of Wake County, Mr. Turner resided for many years in New Rochelle, New York prior to his return to Raleigh in 1961. For several years, he worked with the Bureau of Police in the city of New Rochelle, and the Veteran's Administration in New York City. He was also employed as a teacher and guidance counselor on Long Island and by the City of New Rochelle. Since 1961, he has worked as guidance counselor in Wake County.

He received his formal education in the Raleigh Public Schools. Upon graduation from Washington High School, he attended Shaw University. He received his Bachelor of Arts degree from Iowa College in New Rochelle, and a Master of Science degree in Education from Fordham University. He has done further study at New York University and is presently doing advanced graduate work at the University of North Carolina in Chapel Hill. He served four years with the U. S. Army during World War II in the Continental United States, the Far East, and in Europe. (See TURNER GETS, P. 3)

County's Churches Help Shaw

A mammoth mass meeting for the financial benefit of Shaw University will be held at the Riley Hill Baptist Church Sunday, June 27, at 3 p. m. The Rev. Dr. George S. Stokes, Shaw alumnus, is pastor of the church.

Each church in the Wake Association is expected to send a delegate with a contribution for the Emergency Fund Drive now underway at the university.

Those churches which are not in the Association, but located in the county, are also invited to make contributions. All civic clubs, organizations, individuals who would like to help Shaw at this meeting are urged to be present or send the donations.

Churches and individuals will come from all sections of the county Sunday to make their reports toward this drive, designed "to save Shaw University," a spokesman for the Association stated Tuesday.

A splendid program has been planned for the day. The gospel choir of Juniper Level (See MASS MEET, P. 3)

AME Zion Church Sets Conference

PITTSBORO - In keeping with the expanding program of the Christian Educational program of the A. M. E. Zion Church the Durham District has completed plans for an elaborate Ministers' and Laymen's Institute, which will be held at Horton High School here, July 5-9. According to Rev. J. A. Brown, presiding elder, and general coordinator of the Institute, the best courses in Christian education will be offered daily, with the first class beginning at 2:30 p. m. and other classes beginning at 6:30 and 7:30 p. m.

An array of specialists in religion education has been selected to teach the course. Rev. L. A. Miller, Durham, will serve as dean. The students will be given an opportunity to select the courses which they feel will enable them to do more effective work in their (See ZION CONFAB, P. 2)

Woman Is Cut; Refuses To Talk

Mrs. Naomi George Turner, of 655 Coleman Street, told Officers P. A. Dean and C. C. Heath at 2:50 a. m. Saturday, she was at a party "somewhere in Chavis Heights." She admitted she didn't even know whose party it was.

The party became rough, Mrs. Turner reluctantly admitted and someone, she thinks it was a man, stabbed her twice with an ice pick.

"She was not very cooperative at all," stated the cops' report. "She didn't want to answer questions."

Struck in the upper left arm, the complainant suffered two small puncture wounds.

PROTEST FIRING OF TEACHER - BOSTON - Mrs. Dorothy Callahan (left), principal of Gibson School in the Dorchester section of Boston, talks with parents who came to her office last week to protest the firing of a fourth grade teacher. The teacher, who was fired last week, allegedly read a poem depicting Negro misery to her pupils. (UPI PHOTO).

Freedom Democratic Party Issues Plea For Assistance

JACKSON, Miss. - After 700 arrests here, the Mississippi Freedom Democratic Party has called on "concerned citizens across the country to come to Jackson to continue demonstrating against the state's denial of the right to vote."

Lawrence Guyot, MFDP chairman, and one of those arrested in Jackson, stated from jail that protests last week were aimed at demonstrating Mississippi's unwillingness to face federal restrictions on their voting requirements.

A special session of the state Legislature, called by Governor Paul Johnson on Monday, June 7, is considering liberalizing the State's harsh voter registration laws. MFDP spokesmen contend that Mississippi wants to keep federal registrars out of the state, and wishes to escape having its five Congressmen unseated.

The MFDP has filed a challenge of the 1964 elections, charging that the state's five Congressmen were illegally elected, since Negroes who constitute over 40% of the voting (See ISSUES PLEA, P. 2)

Ga. Justice-'65 Version

COLUMBIA, S. C. - A college professor and a student who was helping him to drive from Atlanta to Columbia, were arrested Saturday June 19, and thrown in jail charged with running through two stop signs, driving without a license, and permitting the student to drive his car unlicensed.

Although all these charges were allegedly false, the professor, who is a white man, chairman of the Division of Social Sciences at Allen University, was charged a total of $87,000, $53,000 for driving without a license, $17,000 for going through two stop signs, and $17,000 for permitting "the ducky" to drive his car unlicensed.

Veteran Educator Given Last Rites In The City

Final rites were held here for Joseph Woodard Saunders, veteran school teacher, at Davis Street Presbyterian Church, Tuesday, at 4 p. m., with the pastor, the Rev. Frank Hutchinson, in charge.

Mr. Saunders succumbed at a local hospital Friday and his death came as a surprise to his many friends. He was born in Selma, the son of the late

Dr. de Pagnier, "both of us were locked up, and I was placed on a filthy bunk, in a filthy cell with a dirty toilet with no lid."

While they were at the Western Union office trying to telegraph for the money to pay their fine, it developed that the telegraph operator gave them the first clue to the rough treatment that they had received, when he reportedly said to them, "I certainly hope this is not more of this Civil Rights business." Apparently there had been some kind of demonstration in Madison where the arrest was made, and because de Pagnier's car had a New Jersey license, they may have been mistaken for civil rights workers.

Kermit Powers, the young man who was driving Dr. de Pagnier's car had a valid permit from the Motor Vehicle Department of Woodruff, S. C., but the word "renewal" was written on it. The arresting officer a Highway Patrolman, refused to honor this permit and allegedly said, "This is no good in Georgia."

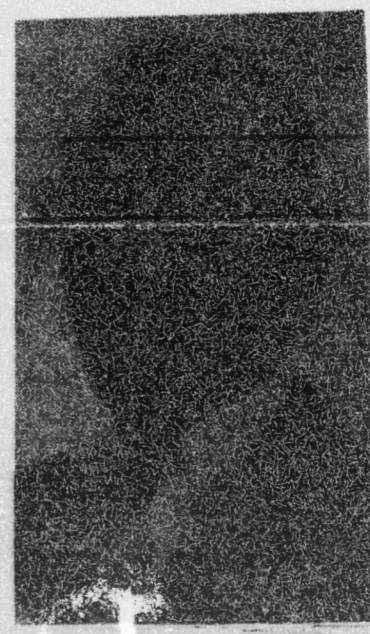

Dr. de Pagnier contended that he was badly treated unnecessarily, and that he proposes to take some action either to reduce the fine, or to lodge a complaint to the State of Georgia.

U. S. Negro Is Denied Entry At London

SAN FRANCISCO - Dr. Carlton B. Goodlett, a practicing physician and prominent leader in the Negro community here was refused admission to London, England on Sunday, June 13, and is still waiting for an official statement as to the reason for this action on the part of the British government.

An interracial delegation of civic and community leaders presented a petition to the San Francisco office of the British Consulate demanding a public apology.

Dr. Goodlett left San Francisco Saturday, June 12, for a Sunday afternoon conference in London with Professor J. (See DENIED ENTRY, P. 3)
