

PRAYING IN NATCHEZ--Negro civil rights demonstrators kneel in prayer on the steps of the county courthouse in Natchez, Miss., last week after more than 1,000 marched through the downtown streets in a protest demonstration. They marched under the protection of a federal court injunction, and there were no incidents or arrests. (UPI PHOTO).

tion "should be a signal to the country."
"Tokenism and evasion in school desegregation are top items on the agenda of the Negro community," he said.
"If school boards and the Department of Health, Education and Welfare, which must approve their plans, acquiesce in paper compliance, the Negro man in the street is going to protest loudly and vigorously and the courts are going to protect him and back him up in that protest."
"The only way to conclude the school desegregation problem is to conclude it swiftly and conclude it right," Mr. Goldberg added.
Stephens Institute, the county's only white school, was closed prior to the school year rather than desegregate. White pupils had been bussed to schools in two adjoining counties.
The Court's ruling affects 87 Negro children who applied for transfer to Stephens before they learned of its closing.
Atty. Howard Moor, Jr., of Atlanta, one of the Legal Defense Fund lawyers who took the case before the tribunal, said the state board's alternatives will be to allow the Negro children to be bussed to other counties as are the whites, or to reopen Stephens Institute.
The court gave the state board until Oct. 25 to report what course it will take.
The court also granted a Legal Defense Fund motion to enjoin prosecution of several Negro and white civil rights activities who were arrested during recent protest demonstrations in Crawfordville.

This group was organized in 1941, and has continued to maintain a high standard of musical performance throughout the years.

One of the high spots in their career was the invitation from the CBS Radio Network to give a series of broadcasts. The Karamu Ensemble broadcast from Cleveland over the CBS network for four years, 1951 to 1955, traveled through the South, Southwest and Middle-west for two years and won on the Arthur Godfrey Talent Scout TV Show in January of 1954.

The Karamu Ensemble has been featured on conventional programs or organizations such as the National Lawyers' Guild, the National Association of Settlement Houses, the National Federation of Republican Women's Clubs, the Triennial Convention of YMCA Secretaries of the U. S. A. and Canada, and the Baptist World Alliance. Oberlin College, and many other colleges, high schools, and social and fraternal organizations have presented two or more concerts by the Karamu Concert Ensemble. In fact, several organizations include in their schedule each year an appearance of the Ensemble.

Nelson's girlfriend, wearing a blue coat, was seen crying near the scene of the shooting, but when she was sought for questioning, she, too, had disappeared.

Officers took positions at all gates leading to and from the Fair after the shooting in an effort to apprehend the killer, wearing a red, checked shirt. Several men were questioned, but all were released, according to deputies.

Deputies J. W. Anthony and W. D. Chalk were in Durham Monday night questioning persons believed to have witnessed the shooting. They were picked up by Durham police.

what their plans are.

Cheek stated the young men were on probation, one having been placed in this precarious position last spring and the other early this year.

Both students, according to witnesses, were standing in line Sunday to enter the dining hall, main subject of the protests last Friday, when the dean of students, Thomas E. Kee, handed them individual letters, both containing the same dismissal notice. Both were reportedly given two hours to be off the campus. The notices were handed to them at approximately 4:30 p. m.

"The only reason we tolerated these students," said Dr. Cheek, "was because of their family backgrounds."
A special assembly, at which all students were allegedly required to attend, was held in Spaulding Gymnasium on the campus Monday, October 18, at 11:30 a. m.

The university head also intimated that the students could be re-instated at Shaw at any time, this being left to the discretion of the Discipline Committee. He was quick to point out the differences between dismissal, suspension and expulsion, saying that when a student is suspended, he usually is away from the university for a period of one or two years, but when expelled, he can never enter the institution again.

"However," said Dr. Cheek, "in light of their serious violation of the school's policy, their re-admission would have to come through the Discipline Committee."
He said it was possible for a dismissed student to be re-admitted the following day, if he applied.

Reports state that several hundred students did not eat in the school's cafeteria last Friday, protesting the conditions of the facility.
Some of the other grievances cited, (not necessarily as they appeared on the petition given the administration), were:

Your Good Health

BY SAMUEL L. ANDELMAN, M. D.
PINWORMS
Pinworms are annoying, but they are no disgrace. Most people have them at some time in their lives.
Pinworms eggs are microscopic and can be swallowed without your knowing it. They hatch in the digestive tract and reach the adult stage with alarming speed.
When the female pinworm is full of eggs, she works her way out of the anus of the human host--usually at night. This causes itching in this region and the host may scratch without waking up.
A few of the newly laid pinworm eggs may thus lodge under his fingernails; others will remain on the bedclothes.
Making the bed will send them flying through the air to all parts of the room. Many of them will be taken up by the hands and eventually transferred to food which, when eaten, completes the cycle.
Pinworm infestation is an annoyance rather than a serious disease but once found, most people are frantic until they get rid of it. Contrary to popular belief, pinworms are not carried in the water supply or on the vegetables and fruits brought in from the store. Neither are they carried by household pets.
In order to get rid of them, all members of the family must be treated at the same time. You must see your doctor for an effective remedy but there is more to it than that.
All members of the family must keep their fingernails short until the problem is licked. Each member should also take a shower in the morning and thoroughly clean the anal region. The hands must be washed after each trip to the toilet and before meals.
A child who has pinworms should wear a closed sleeping garment and mittens at night. Sheets, underwear, pajamas, towels and wash rags should be soaked for one hour in ammonia (1 cupful to five gallons of cold water).

Vacuum clean the rugs daily. The floor of the bathroom and bedroom and the toilet seat should be wiped with a mild antiseptic daily.
With these precautions your chances of getting rid of the pesky things are good.

UN Official To Speak At N. C. College

DURHAM - Jonathan Dean, deputy director of the Office of United Nations Political Affairs, will be the Forum assembly speaker at North Carolina College Monday, October 25, at 10 a. m. in the college's B. N. Duke Auditorium.

He will speak on the occasion of the Institution's United Nations Week observance, sponsored by the Department of Political Science.

Dean, who attended Columbia College and the Columbia University Institute of International Affairs, is also a graduate of the National War College. He has served in a variety of posts in post-war Germany, starting with an assignment as local representative of the United States High Commission in a rural area in Hesse in the central part of the Federal Republic. Following this, he served in Bonn as liaison officer between the American Embassy and the German Parliament.
Dean also served in Germany in the Office of German Affairs and the Office of Soviet Affairs and has held assignments in Prague, Czechoslovakia, and in Elizabethville, Katanga, Republic of the Congo.

"Day You Graduate From College You Are Obsolete:" St. Aug. Orator

"The day you graduate from college you are obsolete." "The job you are intent upon when you enter college as a freshman may be extinct when you finish your senior year," Marvin C. Josephson, director, American Church Institute, told St. Augustine's faculty, students, and distinguished guests Tuesday on the occasion of the College's 99th Formal Opening.
"The world has changed, stated the speaker, more rapidly from 1900 to 1965 than the pace of change that went on in the world from the birth of Jesus Christ to the beginning of the twentieth century." He had had population explosions, urbanization explosions, and cybernation, there has been added in recent years an increasing sense of importance. "The college professor is in a seller's market; his skill and knowledge are very much in demand, and universities bid high prices for his services."

DOG TAGS

In The Car
A long automobile trip or a short shopping excursion can bring some problems to dog owners. Naturally there are many dogs that find the excitement of riding in a car a pleasure. But other dogs just don't like it and others get car sick.
Both conditions may be caused by static electricity and a static belt hung from the axle and touching the pavement has cured many dogs of car sickness.
If your dog suffers from motion sickness, consult your veterinarian. There are now new drugs that can calm excitable dogs and prevent motion sickness for as much as eight hours.
The dog experts at the Purina Pet Care Center in St. Louis emphasize that you should not permit your dog to hang his head out of the window. Bits of grit may be driven into his eyes. In any case, the dog may get nasal and eye passage inflammation just from the wind. Make Rover keep his place in the car or else just close the window most of the way.

pected early this week. The gang is thought to be operating out of Baltimore.

Captain Godwin said Duvell is an escapee from the Maryland State Prison.
Local merchants had been plagued with the loss of much money recently through the medium of fraudulent checks, causing local officers to redouble their efforts in seeking the culprits.
When the checks began appearing in Tarrytown stores, the alarm was spread and the police dragnet of uniformed and plain-clothesmen and SBI men got busy. Godwin said, "It was just like flushing a covey of quail" as the three arrests were made and others were seen in a hurrying for hiding places in the stores and across busy highway U. S. 301 into a woods.
Other arrests were expected police indicated Saturday night.
Police report the gang had an elaborate system of forged checks from printed stock similar to the company's genuine checks and used a false rubber stamp with an exact reproduction of the signature of the company official who is authorized to sign company payroll checks.
The group, reportedly, has been posing as company workers, making small purchases and taking the most of the checks in cash, as they plied their trade here.
Godwin said the arrested men admitted to being addicted to drugs and that a needle was found on one of them.

FORBIDDEN FASHIONS

IN THE PAST THERE WERE NUMEROUS LAWS REGULATING WOMEN'S CLOTHING. THE MOTIVE BEHIND MOST OF THEM WAS TO PREVENT THE "LOWER CLASSES" FROM DRESSING LIKE THEIR SO-CALLED "SUPERIORS". UNDER THE LAWS OF SOLON, GREEK WOMEN WERE FORBIDDEN TO WEAR MORE THAN THREE GARMENTS AT A TIME.

ELIZABETH--THE VIRGIN QUEEN--A FASHION FANCIER IF EVER THERE WAS ONE (SHE CARRIED MORE THAN 5,000 DRESSES)--WAS AUTOCRATIC REGARDING THE DRESS OF HER SUBJECTS. AMONG OTHER THINGS SHE RESTRICTED THE USE OF GREAT RUFFS, EXCEPT FOR HERSELF.

ONE OF THE REASONS BEHIND THE TYPICAL DRAB DRESS OF THE MASSACHUSETTS COLONIAL WOMAN (WHOSE SOUTHERN COUNTERPART WAS GAILY DRESSED IN THE LATEST FASHION) WAS A RESTRICTION AGAINST "EXTRAVAGANCE" ON THE GROUNDS THAT EXCESS OF APPAREL WAS UNBECOMING TO A WILDERNESS COMMUNITY.

TODAY--WHEN BUYING WOMEN'S OR CHILDREN'S APPAREL LOOK FOR THIS LABEL--THE SYMBOL OF DECENCY, FAIR LABOR STANDARDS AND THE AMERICAN WAY OF LIFE.

WASHINGTON AND "SMALL BUSINESS"
By C. WILSON HARDER

Much has been written about the dangers of too much control by the federal government. Much of the discussion tends to be quite academic, largely because responsible people do not want to launch an attack on arrogant stupidity or infecting bureaucrats.

However, the nation is this summer and fall witnessing the great lengths that bureaucrats will go in an attempt to achieve some vaguely stated aim hatched out of ignorance.

Recently in its periodic publication the Bank of America, which is heavily engaged in financing California food growing and processing, in addition to being the world's biggest bank, expressed alarm over the future of California's tomatoes, the backbone of that state's canning industry.

Due to an arrogant, uninformed position taken by Labor Secretary Willard Wirtz, the tomato plantings were short to begin with. Now, at the last estimate, due to lack of labor to pick the limited acreage planted, over 60 million pounds of tomatoes have rotted.

Recently the Flint, Michigan Journal discussed the situation with that state's pickling cucumber crop.

Pickles, it is claimed, will be in short supply, and a lot higher in price. The newspaper pointed out that cucumbers are rotting on the vine in the Saginaw valley. But that is not all the problem.
