

SON KILLS DAD FOR MOLESTING SISTER

Pumps 10 Bullets In Father

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (UPI)—A man was shot to death last week by his 21-year-old son after the son had witnessed his 12-year-old sister allegedly being molested by the father, Dead Is Samuel D. Brown, 50. Being held without bond in the Duval county jail on a murder charge is the son, Earl.

The father was shot 10 times with a .22 calibre automatic rifle, detectives said. The bullets hit the man in the face and chest.

The shooting occurred shortly after noon in the yard of the Brown home. The son told detectives that when he had looked through a bedroom window, he had seen his father trying to assault the girl.

Taking a rifle that was in the house, the son loaded it and waited for his father to come out of the house.

As the father stepped out of the front door, the son fired, hitting his several times, police said. The father stumbled and fell near the front door. The son then pumped several more shots into his father's body as it lay on the ground, according to detectives.

The father was dead on arrival at the Duval Medical Center. The son was arrested by Duval county officers at home.

The youth's sister showed evidence of a struggle, but was not hurt seriously, detectives added.

MAP STRATEGY PLANS - Mrs. Sarah E. Small, 38-year-old Williamston housewife, is shown in the center going over her planned strategy after she became the first Negro in over 100 years to run for Congress in this State. MAYOR, OTHERS VOW UNITY

2,600 Hear NAACP's Wilkins In Charlotte

BY ALEXANDER BARNES CHARLOTTE -- "And they were of one accord on the day of pentecost" and so were the more than 2,600 persons who crammed every available spot in the Owen Auditorium, here Sunday afternoon. They exhibited an unflinching belief that bombing of homes is a dastardly sin and that persons who take a part in such inhumane acts have no right to be permitted to roam through the earth. They represented every walk of life and the crowd was about evenly divided as to races. They listened to an array of speakers that let the world know what the meeting was all about. The listened to songs from one white choir and two Negro choirs. They heard Miss Georgia Poole, in her beautiful contralto voice, sing a song that brought amens from both whites and Negroes.

Roy Wilkins, "Mr. NAACP", shared the spotlight with many other dynamic speakers. He pleaded for law and order and even chided Senator Sam Ervin, Jr., who he says that North Carolinians can do no wrong in dealing with Negroes. He also said that the senator was ignorant of the fact that North Carolina was far behind in conforming to the Civil Rights laws of 1954 and 1964. There were so many speakers to be announced until there were two masters of ceremonies. Every (See MAYOR, OTHERS, P. 2)

Gov. Moore Addresses 'Neighbors'

"Put ability and qualifications first in considering job applications," Governor Daniel K. Moore urged state employers, public and private alike, in an address before the North Carolina Good Neighbor Council here Tuesday afternoon.

The State's chief executive was addressing the bi-racial group of Tar Heel at a luncheon, which was the high-point in the all-day meeting of the new Council, re-established by Moore on an enlarged basis in July of this year.

Moore also stated: "The good neighbor-human relations concept has proven its value. There is a need for continuing this approach of a changing society. David S. Coltrane, of Raleigh, is chairman of the Council, and (See GOV. MOORE, P. 2)

Persistent Gunman Hits Target 6 Times

Robert Edward Tilman, 30, of 507 E. Davie Street, is apparently a persistent man, especially when it comes to "getting someone" once he has set his mind to it.

Tilman would not be outdone last Saturday night. Officers J. A. Perry and C. R. Stinson reported at 8:20 p. m. Saturday, that they had talked to John T. McCoy, a witness, who said that Tilman came in Charlie's Tavern, 512 E. Davie Street, and tried to cut Edward Roosevelt Thacker, 42, with a knife. However, Tilman was thwarted as several of the men "standing around" put him out.

This did not deter Mr. Tilman, however, for he came back twice thereafter and was put out as many times, also.

On the fourth trip to Charlie's the story was quite different. Tilman allegedly walked up behind Thacker and "let loose" with a volley of six shots from a pistol.

When the smoke had cleared, Mr. Thacker had been wounded twice in the wrist. (See SHOTS SIX, P. 2)

CR Attorneys Ask Protection For Nurses

RICHMOND, Va. -- The U. S. Court of Appeals was asked to decide Wednesday if Negro nurses are protected by the Constitution with regard to racial discrimination at hospitals receiving Federal monies under the Hill-Burton Act. Attorneys of the NAACP Legal Defense and Educational Fund, Inc. are asking that three Negro nurses, fired two years ago for eating in the "white" cafeteria of Dixie Hospital, Hampton, Va., be reinstated. The attorneys argue that Dixie Hospital "received Federal funds in 1956, seven years before the racial discharge" after promising that it would not "discriminate on basis of race, creed or color."

South Street, with her boyfriend, James Louis Prince, 20, of Rt. 1, Raleigh, and once outside, the woman stated, Prince placed his hands around her throat and she cut him with a razor blade.

Young Prince was rushed to Wake Memorial Hospital for treatment on the left side of his head, while Miss Crowder was placed under arrest and rushed to the Wake County Jail by Officers T. B. Lewis and C. B. White on an assault with

Martin County Housewife Is Mother Of 5, Heads SCLC Body

Mrs. Sarah E. Small, a 38-year-old Williamston housewife and mother of five children, ranging in age from 1 1/2 to 21 years, has become the first Negro in over 100 years to seek a Congressional seat in North Carolina.

President of the Williamston Unit of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference, Mrs. Small, accompanied by her two campaign managers, paid the required $300 filing fee at the State Board of Elections here Monday morning.

She, along with five white candidates, including one Republican, will run in a special primary election on Saturday, December 18, to fill the vacancy in Congress created by the death of Herbert Covington Bonner, who passed in Washington, D. C., last month.

Mrs. Small is running on a platform "for poor people." She also finds time to serve as a field representative for the Congress of Racial Equality (CORE).

Others in the race for the First Congressional seat include: Roger R. Jackson, 37, of Murfreesboro, former executive director of the Choanoke Area Development Commission; Dr. O. Woodrow Pittman, 49, an optometrist, of Ahoskie; and C. Don Langston, (See FIRST NEGRO, P. 2)

Language Arts Inst. Set Here

Saint Augustine's College's Eighth Annual English Language Arts Institute will be held Saturday, December 11. Registration will begin at 8:30 a. m., and general sessions will open at 9:30 a. m. All of the Institute sessions will be held in the Emory Health and Fine Arts Building on the campus.

According to the Institute chairman, Mrs. Willie H. High, more than 100 public school teachers will participate in the Institute. Some administrators and directors of instruction of the State are also expected to attend.

Composition, linguistics and reading are the three areas to be delved into at the Institute. Lectures and demonstrations relating to these facets will be supplemented by educational materials and displays.

Dr. Leslie L. Guster, the assistant director of Commission on English, with headquarters in Boston, will be the keynote speaker. Among the participating consultants scheduled to speak are: Mrs. Joyceelyn (See ARTS INST., P. 2)

Charge Of Rape Against Local Boy Is Dismissed

A charge of rape, which had kept an 18-year-old Raleigh boy behind bars since Sunday, Nov. 21, were dropped Monday by City Court Judge S. Pretlowe Winborne, following a preliminary hearing.

Mrs. Geneva Brown, 49, of 622 Rock Quarry Road, brought the charges, claiming the boy, Robert Lee Wilson, of 602 Coleman Street, came into her home uninvited, held a knife to her throat and then raped her.

According to testimony Monday, however, Mrs. Brown first told police a story about being attacked and having a light bulb stolen from her room. Later, detectives told Judge Winborne, she declared that young Wilson had raped her.

Wilson, who had consistently denied the charge, claimed Mrs. Brown and her niece, Miss Betty Christian, came to the home of his uncle, with whom he lives, on the afternoon in question and remained for about 15 minutes.

Mrs. Brown stated last Sunday, however, that Wilson came to her house in the afternoon, asking for Miss Christian, who was not at home at the time. She also declared that she (Mrs. Brown) went into a bedroom and was in the bed when Wilson entered, got into the bed and allegedly told her, "I want what you have got."

The conflict of the woman's testimony is believed to be the reason this case was dismissed by the judge.

4 Bombings Spur Massive State Membership Drives

WINSTON-SALEM - The saying that there is no wind that blows ill will all the time can certainly be applied to the recent bombings in Charlotte. This was attested to by Charles A. McLean, field director for the State Conference of the NAACP. He announced that so much interest had been generated from the bombing that a campaign to increase the membership, in the State by 10,000 had been launched.

This was in answer to many telegrams and letters, asking what could be done to put more force behind the NAACP. Many chapters requested that the drive be tabbed the "Bombing Protest Drive." It is slated to get underway December 1 and will continue throughout the month. There is also a request for organizing new chapters in the State.

Mr. McLean said that workers were being recruited and the most intensive membership drive ever conducted in North Carolina was in the making. Teams will be sent out to carry the story of the NAACP and to make its works known. The drive is designed to be a Christmas drive for that freedom that Christ came to the world to establish on the first Christmas.

'Deputies Must Be College Grads,' Sheriff

TALLULAH, La. -- Sheriff C. E. Hester of Madison Parish (county), La., announced that in the future all deputy sheriffs must be college graduates. Hester made the announcement on November 23 to a group of 600 Negroes who had marched, without incident, to the courthouse demanding the hiring of a Negro deputy sheriff. The silent, one mile march was sponsored by the Madison Parish Voters League and CORE. Tallulah is located across the Mississippi River from Vicksburg, Miss., about 90 miles west of Jackson.

Zelma C. Wyche, president of the Voters League, announced at the courthouse that Tallulah Negroes would show their displeasure with the sheriff's statement at the polls when they vote for the next sheriff. Tallulah's population of 5,400 is 70 per cent Negro. It is almost certain (See COLLEGE GRAD, P. 2)

DBC Hosts Youth Of NC NAACP

DURHAM - Durham Business College played host to the executive committee of the NAACP Youth and College Division in its first executive session December 20. Members attending were President, Kelly Alexander, Jr., Charlotte; Vice President, Miss Joyce Thomas, Durham Business College; Miss Patricia Gains, Durham Business College; Charles James, North Carolina College; Miss Vina Norris, secretary, Miss La Anna Evans, and J. W. Hill, Youth Advisor, all of Durham Business College.

President Alexander presented the group with his proposed year's program which was based on the resolutions passed by the state body during the state NAACP Conference in October. The following program was adopted on the state level for NAACP Youth and College chapters:

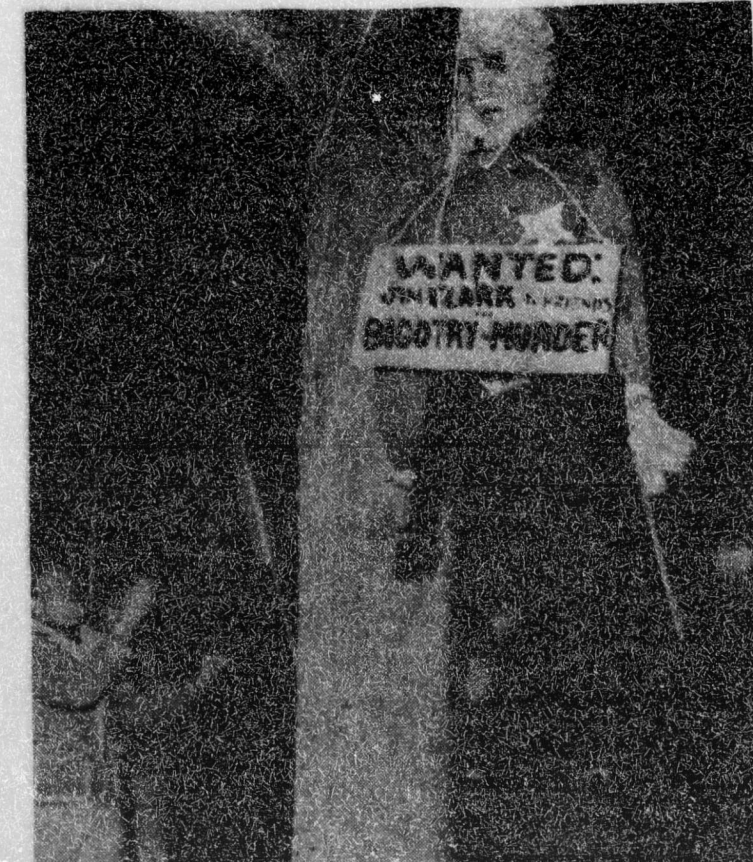

1. To add 3,000 new Youth members to the membership roster. To accomplish this goal the president appointed Miss Joyce Thomas and Miss Vina Norris as co-chairman of the membership drive.

2. To observe a youth Fellowship Day where all NAACP youth and college leaders will
