Wilkins Tells State Masons Of Klan

Chief Of NAACP In 'Bull City'

DURHAM - Roy Wilkins, executive director, NAACP, told the Prince Hall Masons of North Carolina, in a keynote address at the Civic Center, Tuesday night, Dec. 4, that the Ku Klux Klan was against Negroes, Catholics and Jews and it was time for people who believed in right and justice to realize that fact. He was alarmed over the fact that some of the white people thought the Negroes were asking too much and there were too many Negroes who felt that everything had been achieved. "Don't be lulled into believing that you have first-class citizenship. We must fight until we have the education, the housing, the jobs and the opportunity to live like any other citizen," he said.

BRANCH RICKEY GIVEN LAST RITES - St. Louis, Mo.: Branch Rickey, former general manager of the Brooklyn Dodgers, was eulogized Monday at the Grace Methodist Church here. Rickey was widely hailed among Negroes, for it was he, in 1947, who brought Jackie Robinson to the team. Robinson thus became the first Negro ever to play major league baseball, thanks to the late Branch Rickey. (UPI PHOTO).

Kelly M. Alexander Urges More Bombing Protests

WILMINGTON - Kelly M. Alexander, president of the North Carolina State Conference of the NAACP, speaking at a Civil Rights Meeting sponsored by the Wilmington Branch of the NAACP on Sunday, Dec. 12, requested that Negroes and other citizens display their concern as to the bombing in Charlotte which is now in progress in North Carolina. Alexander said that there is no better way to show those who are responsible for such vicious and brutal acts your feelings about the bombings than to act now to increase membership and financial support of the NAACP. The 50-50 Campaign is a project launched by the State NAACP to protest the dastardly bombings of Kelly Alexander's home and other Civil Rights leaders in Charlotte, by securing 50,000 members and raising $50,000 to continue the fight against prejudice and racism which caused these bombings. Alexander informed the Wilmington audience that vigorous efforts should be made by Negro responsible leadership to combat discrimination in the body politics of North Carolina communities by increasing the voting strength of Negroes and successfully electing qualified Negroes to public office. He stated many employment opportunities are open to Negroes in the State but there are not enough qualified Negroes applying for these jobs. In industry, business and government Negroes should take advantage of these jobs opportunities now available.

Interviews SBI Agent In Harnett

BY STAFF WRITER
In an exclusive interview with S. B. I. Agent W. V. O'Daniel, of Dunn, early Wednesday, it was learned that the alleged sex pervert who killed and mutilated a Negro woman (yet unidentified) sometime over the weekend, is still being sought. O'Daniel did say, however, "We have a few ideas, but no one has been charged as yet. There is no question about the similarity of the two deaths." The last statement was in answer to a question of the whereabouts of Miss Lula Ryals, of Holly Springs, in April of 1964. The latest victim was found naked in a shallow stream, about one mile west of Kipling in northwest Harnett County. The body had been disemboweled, stabbed in the jugular vein, chest, abdomen and legs. The woman's body was found by a farmer, who saw bloodstains on the pavement of the highway and bridge railing at the

Hurls Brick At Husband, Runs

Mrs. Virginia Louise Green, 30, of 717 S. East Street, informed Officers Otis L. Hinton and Eckerd C. Winston at 9:17 a. m. Sunday, that her husband, John Edmond Green, 48, came home "fussing with me in the morning," and while arguing, he began to chase her and tried to strike her with his hands and fists. Mrs. Green declared that to protect herself, she grabbed an iron poker, and "after he kept on chasing me, I hit him," on the left side of his head. The blow caused a two-inch cut, which required six stitches to close at Wake Memorial Hospital. The children of the couple backed up their mother's state-

In life, William Edward (June) Davis, Jr., was courteous, quiet and exhibited leadership qualities. In death, Second Lieutenant W. E. Davis, Jr., 24 years old, will soon come home to a hero's funeral as the first Raleigh native to fall under enemy fire in the Viet Nam War. Ironically, the soldier, who was killed in action last Friday, had written his parents a letter, thanking them for a Christmas package which he had received since it was mailed around December 2. The letter arrived at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Davis, Sr., 2127 Dandridge Drive (Biltmore Hills) on Monday, December 13, three days after Lt. Davis' death.

Young Davis arrived in Viet Nam on November 13, after flying from his base at Fort Ord, California. He was in Raleigh on leave around the first part of November. Following his stay here, he went to Washington, D. C., and spent his final three days with his only sister, Miss Anne Davis. Davis, who was commissioned a Second Lieutenant at A&T College, Greensboro, was a product of the Crosby-Garfield Elementary, Washington Junior High, and the J. W. Ligon High Schools, where he graduated in the class of 1960. He entered A&T in the fall of 1960, majored in sociology, and received an A. B. degree in June of 1964. Following graduation, he worked in Washington, and as a youth counselor in Maryland. At the time of his induction in the Army, he was employed as a counselor at Cherry Youth Center, Goldsboro. His basic training was completed at Fort Benning, Ga. In the letter received by his parents Monday, Davis did not speak of the fierce battles raging around him, nor did he speak of the fighting in any of his

3 Jailed In Fight Over Booze, Clock

A fight which started over whiskey and what time to set the alarm clock to ring, has resulted in the arrest of three local persons on charges of assault with a deadly weapon. Mrs. Bernice Jones Anderson, 41, Thomas Earl Thompson, 18, and Crown Leach, 35, all of 568 New Bern Avenue, admitted to Officers J. M. Blissette and J. L. Dennis at 3:07 a. m. Saturday that they had been fighting over the above-mentioned objects, and said a rifle butt was brought into play to inflict injuries on all three. During the fracas, Mrs. Anderson struck Leach with it. Thompson was finally subdued by Leach with a stunning blow to the left arm. Leach suffered a laceration in the center of his back, and Mrs. Anderson had lacerations on her forehead. The cops were unable to find the weapon used, but arrested the participants.
