

Lenny Moore Scores First As Colts Trample Cowboys

FAMU's Bob Hayes Held To 26 Yards In 35-3 Win

MIAMI, Fla. - Baltimore's Lenny Moore, who was named "Comeback Player of the Year" in 1964, sprinted six yards to paydirt in a determined effort Sunday afternoon at the Orange Bowl for the first of five touchdowns as the Baltimore Colts soundly trounced the 31/2-point favored Dallas Cowboys, 35-3. The occasion was the Playoff Bowl in the National Football League.

Baltimore, directed by converted quarterback Tom Matte as quarterback, took charge immediately and Moore's score came after only four minutes of the first quarter had lapsed. The passing combination of Dallas' quarterback Don Meredith and Bob Hayes, literally "The World's Fastest Human," from Florida A&M University, Tallahassee, was halted by Baltimore's Steve Stonebreaker and rookie end, Roy Hilton. A crowd of 65,659 witnessed the battle of the runner-up in the NFL. Young Matte, a 205-pounder was thrown into the quarterbacking slot after both "Mr. Quarterback," Johnny Unitas, and his understudy, Gary Cuzzo, were injured in regular season games. He hit veteran Jimmy Orr for one touchdown of 15 yards and another for 20 yards.

Jerry Hill was the Colts' leading ground-gainer, scoring a touchdown from the one-yard line with just three minutes gone in the second half after a Dallas fumble was recovered by Jerry Logan on the Cowboys' 25. The only Dallas score came early in the second quarter when Danny Villaneuva kicked a field goal.

The pass-catching effectiveness of Bob Hayes, the Olympic sprint champion, who caught 12 touchdowns passes in his rookie year (1965) was dulled by the combination of Baltimore's halfback, Lenny Lyles and line-backer Dennis Gaubatz.

Hayes only caught four passes, good for 24 yards in Sunday's encounter.

Prior to the game, several Negro and white veterans of the Viet Nam War were presented to the vast audience as nine high school bands combined their talents to play, "America The Beautiful," and "The Star Spangled Banner."

A&T College Aggies Are Running Again-Winning

GREENSBORO -- The A&T College Aggies are running again, and winning.

With five straight basketball wins in a row, each by a hefty margin, Aggie fans are jubilant over recent successes. For them it is good news, after their team had dropped three opening tilts.

"We had the speed all of the time," explains Cal Irvin, the A&T head basketball coach, "but we couldn't run without the ball." He said ineffective rebound performance, in those first three games, not only slowed his guards, the fastest set he has ever had, but had pinned them down underneath the enemy goals, trying to recover loose balls.

Return to the fast break, for which the Aggies are noted, has been made possible by a freshman sensation, out jumping Jack, William Gilmer, a hometown lad.

Gilmer, a 6-5 1/2 center, and a product of the Greensboro Dudley High School who can nearly jump his height, is climbing all over the boards like a veteran, wiping them clean and with full authority. Gilmer is averaging 15 rebounds per game, not the best in the world, but he is pulling down more and more as he gets more and more experience. Nobody around the Aggie camp will venture a guess on his average once the season has come to an end.

Already Gilmer is being compared with Charlie Harrison, the All-time great Aggie rebounder who, in 1960, led the nation's small colleges with a 24-plus average. But, Harrison wouldn't shoot. . . Gilmer will. He just loves to "stuff" the baskets, Wilt Chamberlain style.

Since being installed as a starter just before the Christmas holidays, Gilmer has scored in double figures in each game, averaging around 12 points. It could have been higher, much higher, but he likes to pass off, knowing that a good assist is better than a rushed and uncertain shot of his own.

Gilmer has a long, gangly frame, but weights only 188-pounds. "He's got the courage necessary for grueling and sometimes violent combat which goes on under the baskets, but he must have more weight," says Irvin.

Gilmer is now on a weight-producing diet which he hopes will bring him up to 200-pounds before the season ends.

VIOLENT ACTION - George Mack (10), guard with the A&T College Aggies, makes a shot over the outstretched arms of Freddie Lewis (25), a forward with the Elizabeth City State College Viking, in a CIAA basketball game played last week in Greensboro. A&T won the game, its fifth in a row, 91-63.

Drive Safely Jones-Jackson Pass Combination Tops SWAC

JACKSON, Miss. - The 1965 final football statistics of the South West Athletic Conference reveals that Jackson State's Jones-to-Jackson pass combination was the best in the league. Sophomore Jerry Jones, Jackson State's first year signal caller, was the conference leader with 82 completions in 163 attempts for a .503 percentage, 8 touchdowns and 1070 yards.

Voorhees Get 100 To 77 Win Over Sabers

CONCORD - Late arrival of the game officials failed to slow down the Voorhees College Tigers as they romped to a 100-77 verdict over the Barber-Scotia College Sabers Thursday night in the Logan High School gym.

Bright spot in the Sabers' defeat was the sparkling play of Charles Webb who pumped in 34 points to outdo Voorhees' vaunted John Mundy who manufactured 28 points for the winners.

Voorhees raced off to an early 8 to 0 lead, as if to augur a scoring drought for the locals. But then the Sabers came to life and pulled within two points of the Tigers to make it an 8-6 count. That was a close as Scotta got to the ultimate victors, however, who took a 53-35 lead into the locker room at halftime.

Poor performance at the foul line again proved the undoing of the Sabers, as they cashed in on only 13 of their 30 charity tosses. Meanwhile, classy floorwork and dead-eye shooting by Voorhees' Mundy and Theodore Chaplin pushed the Tigers to 47 field goals against 32 for the Sabers.

Hitting indoubt figures for the Scotia quint, besides Webb, were Joe Stone with 18 and John Watson with 11 points. Chaplin's 23 points and John Lyles' 16 markers put them in double figures, along with Mundy, for Voorhees.

The net outing for the B-S five is set for Jan. 15, when they host Durham Business College at the Logan gym in another home tilt.

Winston-Salem Rams Clobber ECSC, 105-88

WINSTON-SALEM -- Earl Monroe, the Philadelphia flash, led the game - rusty Winston-Salem State Rams to a 105-88 basketball victory over the Elizabeth City Vikings January 4.

Monroe, playing the best game of his career, hit 20 of 34 shots from the floor and eight of 12 free throws for 48 points.

The Rams are now 4-0 in CIAA competition and 6-1 for the season. Elizabeth City is now 3-3 in the CIAA and 7-3 for the season.

It was a close game until midway of the second half when Monroe and Howard (Sonny) Ridgill led a scoring explosion that stretched a four-point margin into a 17-point lead in five minutes.

The Rams, affected by nearly three weeks of inaction, were able to muster only a 45-43 half-time lead. The Vikings trailed by only four points at the 10:38 mark off the second half when Monroe and Ridgill went to work. Ridgill scored 17 of his 20 points in the second half.

Freddie Lewis, a little man at 5-10, led Elizabeth City with 26 points. Also in double figures for the Vikings were Oscar Smith 16, Gary Stubbins 15, and Richard Todd 14.

Willis Bennett, although only 6-2, led both teams in rebounds with 14. He also scored 12 points. James Reid with 10, was the other Ram to score in double figures.

Elizabeth City won the battle of rebounds 44-40 and made 36 of 62 shots from the floor for a shooting percentage of 58.1. The Rams connected with 41 of 82 from the floor for a 50 per cent shooting average.

Winston-Salem State had the edge from the free-throw line, making 23 of 34 to 13 of 29 for the visitors. Three Elizabeth City players fouled out.

The Rams have only one more home game during January when they meet J. C. Smith Saturday, January 15 at Memorial Coliseum.

Winston-Salem will take to the road and play Fayetteville State January 7, Elizabeth City January 10 and Norfolk State, January 11.

Aggies Blast Eliz. City

GREENSBORO -- The A&T College Aggies last week exploded a second half rally to blast the Elizabeth City State College Vikings, 91-63, in a CIAA basketball game played here at the Charles Moore Gymnasium.

As cold as an Arctic blizzard in the first half, scoring a measly 34-points against 28 for the visitors, the Aggies came storming back after intermission to turn the place into a shooting gallery.

Big man in the attack was freshman rebound ace William Gilmer, main cog in the A&T running attack. He pulled down 15-down rebounds for the evening, mostly in the second half, which put the Aggies in business. He also dumped in 17-points for the game.

High scorer for the Aggies

KICKOFF -- Charles T. Williams (left), vice president of Schenley Distillers Company, presents a check for $10,000 to the Interracial Council for Business Opportunity (ICBO) to inaugurate the group's Los Angeles fund-raising program. From the left are Norman O. Houston, president of Golden State Mutual Life Insurance Company, and Victor M. Carter, chairman of Republic Corporation, co-chairmen of the Los Angeles ICBO. The $10,000 gift from Schenley Industries Inc. is expected to be the first of many industry gifts which will provide the organization with a guaranteed loan fund to help Negro businessmen receive aid in getting their own businesses started, or help those who already are in business and may need some assistance. The ICBO also provides aid through counselors who themselves are successful businessmen, attorneys, accountants or other professional people.

was George Mack, a guard, who returned to action after being sidelined since mid-December. He hit for 18-points, and teammate Anthony Skinner scored 16-points.

The game's high man was the Vikings' Richard Todd, the All-CIAA forward. Todd burned the nets with a 25-point output.

The Elizabeth City Club led the ball game by up to four-points midway the first half and for about five-minutes matched A&T point for point, but the speed and pressure exerted by the home club began to take its toll.

When A&T moved out front, 19-18, at 5:04 in the first period, they were there to stay. Jumping to a quick 10-point lead following the rest of the period, the Aggies began to bang away at the baskets with easy layups by Skinner and with bristling drives by Mack.

With a 30-point bulge, leading at 83-53, Aggie Coach Cal Irvin threw in his reserves. The Vikings came to Moore Gymnasium, one of two-teams in the CIAA, undefeated in conference play. They had a 7-1 overall record.

The win gives A&T a 5-3 record overall and 3-1 in the CIAA.

Shaw Loses To Livingstone, 105-101, And To J. C. Smith U. Five, 81 To 73

The holiday season layoff did nothing to sharpen the shooting of Shaw University's basketball team as it lost in a row on Friday and Saturday nights, falling to the Golden Bulls of Johnson C. Smith University, 81-73, and Livingstone, 105-101.

The Bulls' of Charlotte, were led by the performance of Hubert Davis, a 6-4 freshman reserve, who came through with a 27-point shooting.

During the second half, the score was tied five times, before Chuck Merrison's basket gave Smith a 66-64 lead. Robert Jackson's three-point play gave the visitors a margin it never again lost in its bid to make an even slate of four wins, against four defeats.

Early in the encounter, Shaw held a 14-point lead in the game before Davis came off the bench to give Smith the spark it needed. He hit out seven shots to help cut the score to 38-36 by the first half.

Shaw's Bears went scoreless during the first four minutes of the second half, falling behind by seven points.

Leading the scoring for Shaw was Norman Joyner, followed by Ivan Donaldson, with 13 points and 16 rebounds.

On Friday night, the Bears were defeated by the Livingstone College Bears, of Salisbury, 105-101. Livingstone overcame a first half lead to squeeze out the victory in overtime. This was Livingstone's second victory in two nights.

The score was tied by Clyde Long, a 6-1 sophomore at Livingstone, 86-86, with even seconds remaining after Shaw had gone ahead 89-88 on a basket by Ira Mitchell.

With Dan Burrell leading the way, the Blue Bears, which had been rated as underdogs, dominated the play for most of the second half.

Coach Bill Brown's charges of Livingstone, fired in seven successive points while holding Shaw scoreless, except for a 20-footer by Norman Joyner after three minutes of the overtime period had elapsed.

Coach William Spahn's Shaw cagers hit on only 19 of 49 attempts in the overtime, while Livingstone tallies in over 47 percent of its attempts.

Ira Mitchell paced the losers with 31 points. Livingstone placed six men in the double figure bracket.
