NINETEEN TWELVE - RESTLESS YEARS

If you have a son or a daughter in the nine to twelve age group, you have had your big and little moments—coping with your child's perplexing behavior, such as the young boy who delights in teasing an older sister.

Take heart. Knowing why the pre-teener behaves as he does helps you to help him. So suppose we consider some typical problems of the "restless years"—and how to handle them.

"Dick keeps his face in a comic book." Some comics are suitable for children, others that stress cruelty of crime are not. Keep an eye on the types of comics your child reads. Make good books available about exploration, adventure, mystery, the very things that youngsters seek in comic books. Cultivate his interest in hobbies such as keeping scrapbooks or collecting stamps.

"Ellen always spends her allowance quickly and foolishly." It is well to remember that a young child learns to use money only by trial and error. Teach your child to budget his allowance so it will last and cover the things he wants most. But the final decision as to how to spend money must be his if he is eventually to learn the value of money.

"Bob's having trouble at school." The school can't be expected to solve all your child's difficulties. But when understanding teachers and parents work together, they can do much to help children get along better in both school and out-of-school life.

Get together with other parents and plan programs that can provide your youngsters with stimulating opportunities and activities.

AME Zion Ministers, Laymen Adopt "Full Steam" Program

SALISBURY, Md. - Dr. E. Franklin Jackson, president, Ministers and Laymen's Assn., AME Zion Church, declared at the closing session of the Association Friday that the Association adopted a program of full steam ahead for the proper fulfillment of the mandate given by the 1964 General Conference, as it relates to the collection and spending of the Budget.

Dr. C. H. Foggie, Pittsburgh, Pa., was the keynote speaker for the Ministers and Laymen's Association. He spoke on "The Role of a Negro Minister in a Changing World." Dr. Foggie bemoaned the fact that Negroes are not coming into the ministry in large numbers. He attributed this to the fact that the pay is low, the task arduous and the appeal not enticing.

In its closing session the following telegram was dispatched to President Johnson.

"The Ministers and Laymen's Association of the African Methodist Episcopal Zion Church, in session at St. James AME Zion Church, Salisbury, Md., representing more than 2,000 pastors and 750,000 communicating-members, congratulates you for your unwavering stand on democratic principles and your forthright decision in nominating the Honorable Robert Clifton Weaver for a cabinet post, serving as head of the newly-created Department of Housing and Urban Development. We pledge our continued support to your efforts toward making real the democratic process of life in our United States of America. Signed: Rev. E. Franklin Jackson, President; Rev. George W. McMurray, Executive Secretary. The most outstanding feature of the meeting was a panel conducted on Thursday, moderated by the Rev. E. E. Morgan, Akron, Ohio. Dr. J. S. Satterwhite, Washington, D. C. discussed "Ministerial Leadership and the Theological Seminaries;" Rev. G. L. Blackwell, Hackensack, N. J. "The Welfare of the AME Zion Ministry" and Rev. N. W. Stevenson, Tuscaloosa, Ala., "Urban and Rural Areas as Sources for the Ministry."

Rev. Geo. J. Leake, Charlotte, delivered a fitting eulogy to those who "crossed the bar" during the year, at the closing session Thursday.

The following officers were elected: Dr. E. Franklin Jackson, Washington, D. C., president; Dr. E. S. Hardge, Philadelphia, Pa., 1st vice president; Lem Long, Charlotte, N. C., 2nd vice president; Dr. I. B. Pierce, Indianapolis, Ind., 3rd vice president; Rev. M. A. Williams, Buffalo, N. Y., 4th vice president; Dr. G. W. McMurray, New York City, executive; Mrs. Willa Mae Rice, Pittsburgh, Pa., rec. - sec'y; Mrs. Georgia Hickman, Louisville, Ky., asst. rec.; and D. D. Garrett, Greenville, N. C., treasurer.

Harris, Pittsburgh, Pa., 4th; Guy Mayzack, Durham, N. C., 5th; Rev. G. S. Rivers, Batesville, Miss., 6th; Rev. H. R. Warren, Portsmouth, Va., 7th; Rev. J. W. Wactor, Birmingham, 8th; Rev. O. R. Lyons, Trenton, N. J., 9th; Rev. K. Melvin, Charlotte, N. C., 10th; Dr. Arthur Marshall, St. Louis, Mo., 11th; and Mrs. Laura Small, Washington, D. C., 12th.

CONFERS WITH LAWYER - Cleveland, Ohio: Miss Brenda Ayres, who named Cleveland Brown's fullback Jim Brown in a paternity suit recently, goes over notes with her attorney, Russell Adrine. Preliminary hearings are scheduled this week. (UPI PHOTO).

Exchange Students Return Home With Many Memories

DURHAM - In addition to a wealth of new learning experience, memories of grits and tomato pudding, weather that's

"warm and humid," and learning "unknown" dances will accompany two exchange students at North Carolina College when they return to their native Wisconsin in a few days.

The students, Jane Liljestrand and Patricia Thomson, completed their freshman year at the University of Wisconsin's Marinette County Center, and enrolled at NCC last fall as sophomores.

The exchange program was arranged by Lon W. Weber, director of the Marinette County Center and Dr. Cecil Patterson, chairman of the Wisconsin Liaison committee at NCC.

Mrs. Mays To Sue Stores For Charges

LOS ANGELES (NPI)—Mrs. Marguerite Mays, former wife of baseball star Willie Mays, will seek recourse through the courts for damages growing out of theft charges leveled against her by local and Pasadena stores.

Mrs. Mays was charged with stealing several expensive rings last year. She also will seek damages from several West Coast newspapers carrying headlines of the theft accusation.

Charges were dropped against her after she flew to both cities and the stores decided it was all "a case of mistaken identity." During one alleged theft, Mrs. Mays was 3,000 miles away in Atlantic City, N. J.

ALL-ELECTRIC LIVING INCLUDES ELECTRIC HEAT. HOW MUCH DOES IT REALLY COST?

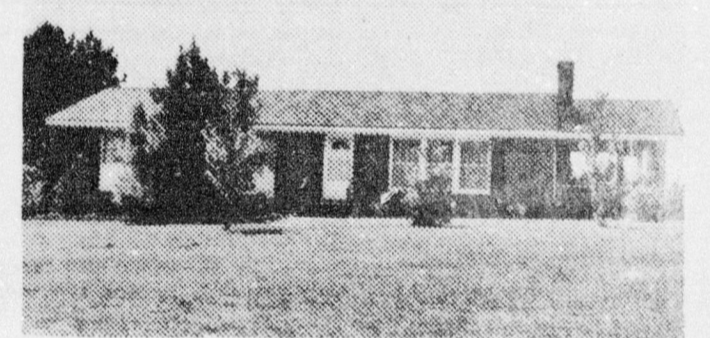

Here are actual bills for typical homes to help you decide for yourself. In each of these All-Electric homes flameless electricity from CP&L is the only energy source. The dollars-and-cents figure is the cost to the homeowner for 12 months of all-electric living.

To make your own comparison, just choose the All-Electric home most nearly like yours. Add your own bills for electric service and heating fuel during the past 12 months. Compare what you get with the cost of all-electric living. You'll find a meaningful answer.

All-electric living is priced lower than ever. CP&L's rate for all-electric homes has been reduced four times since 1960.

$343.69 for electricity for 12 months in the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Vuncannon, Sr., on Duncan Road, Fuquay-Varina. They have electric cable heat and central air conditioning in the 2,100 square foot home. Appliances include water heater, range, refrigerator, dishwasher, freezer and home laundry center.

$326.76 was the billing to the R. G. Pooles, Jr., during one year for electricity in their 1,685 square foot home on RFD 1, Cary. Their heating is electric baseboard and their appliances include water heater, range, refrigerator, washer and water pump.

$348.08 was the cost to the William Burns during one year for electricity in their 50-year-old, 12-room home at Zebulon which has been converted to electric baseboard heating. Electric appliances include two water heaters, refrigerator, range, dishwasher, disposal, washer and dryer.

$243.20 for electricity for one year in the Hugh E. Barnette home on RFD 2, Roxboro. The Barnettes changed to an electric baseboard heating system for their 1,600 square foot home. Electric appliances include water heater, range, refrigerator, freezer.

$305.83 was the cost to Dr. and Mrs. J. U. Weaver, 855 Park Avenue in Henderson, for electricity for one full year in their home which is comfort-conditioned year-round by an electric heat pump. Their appliances include water heater, range, freezer, refrigerator-freezer, washer and dryer.
