

Yes, We All Talk

BY MARCUS H. BOULWARE
TO RESCIND A MOTION
Model: "I move that this club rescind the motion passed on January 21, 1960 to the effect that our membership be limited to ten persons."
If such a motion is passed in the affirmative, the secretary writes in red ink "rescinded by order of the club on January 19, 1966."
This motion requires the following:
1. It requires a two-third vote to pass.
2. It requires a second and is debatable.
3. An organization may rescind, appeal, questions of privilege, except when as a result of the voting something has been done which cannot be undone, such as when a resignation has been acted upon, etc.
The purpose of the motion to rescind is to make ineffective the vote formerly taken upon it.

Bennett Speaker Draws Parallels In Lives Of Jesus, Dr. D. Jones

GREENSBORO --Parallels in the lives of Jesus and Dr. David D. Jones were drawn by Bishop Fred P. Corson, of Philadelphia, Pa., in his address commemorating the late educator at Bennett College on Sunday.
Speaking on "The Christian Assurance of Success," Bishop Corson stated that it is perfectly normal for a person to want to be a success but explained that success is a Christian virtue.

"Just as Jesus did," he said, "Dr. Jones learned early in life to do the best he could with what he had, and secondly, he had a good cause, in addition, he did the best that he could for that cause and he was wise to align himself with something that nothing could stop."

Mrs. Sarah Herbin, '36 of Greensboro, representing the alumnae, recalled the concern which Dr. Jones had for people, saying that one of his favorite inquiries of students was: "What is your purpose?"

Sorenberg Is "Artist In Residence"

HAMPTON INSTITUTE, Va. --Artist Jack Sorenberg will assume residence at Hampton Institute during the month of February under a Ford Foundation "artist-in-residence" grant.

The grant program is administered by the American Federation of Arts and is designed "to enable the artist to speak on the meaning of art rather than to teach techniques," according to a federation spokesman.

Mr. Sorenberg, who comes to Hampton from New York City, will teach, lecture, work creatively, and exhibit several of his most recent works at the college museum.

The College Museum of Hampton Institute will hold a one-man-show of the artist's drawings, paintings, and graphics February 6 through the 25. Mr. Sorenberg will maintain studio quarters and continue his work while on the campus.

Winner of the first prize for painting in the Silvermine Guild exhibition, Mr. Sorenberg is represented by the Byron Gallery, Inc., in New York City. His work is included in the permanent collections of the Guggenheim, Metropolitan, and Philadelphia Museums and the National Gallery.

Raleigh Among 104 Cites Included In Massive Postal Modernization

Raleigh is among 104 cities included in the first phase of a massive, nationwide postal modernization program announced by Postmaster General Lawrence F. O'Brien, Postmaster Inscoe said last weekend.
New mechanization scheduled for Raleigh includes one Edger Stacker and one Facer Cancellor.

Postmaster Inscoe said the new machinery will be contracted by the end of this fiscal year -- June 30.
"Postmaster General O'Brien is giving us the tools with which to improve postal service," Postmaster Inscoe said. "He has launched the first phase in a continuing program to streamline and modernize the entire postal system within the coming few years, with better service to the public as the goal."
Raleigh is a Sectional Center, serving seventy-one post offices in this area.
Postmaster Inscoe noted the Postmaster General's assurance that no career employee will lose his job because of the postal modernization program. "Mr. O'Brien said he believes the intensified modernization program will offer a new and invigorating challenge to our present employees, and will attract to the postal service the caliber of men and women that we need to meet and overcome the problems we are facing," Postmaster Inscoe said.
