

Raleigh Deltas Present 26th Annual Jabberwock

An air of elegance and splendor enveloped the Raleigh Memorial Auditorium Saturday night, Feb. 19, when fifty-six senior girls from various high schools of the Piedmont were recognized and honored for their outstanding home, school, and community achievements. The night marked the twenty-sixth annual Jabberwock of the Raleigh Alumnae Chapter, Delta Sigma Theta Sorority, Inc.

The theme, "Seniors in Orbit" laid a captivating effect upon the audience, as it began to unravel itself in the prologue by featuring ten young ladies, surrounding the Delta capsule which made its "blast off" by way of hydraulic stage lift. The young ladies surrounding the capsule were previous outstanding seniors beginning with members of Delta's 1959 (first) class of Who's Who. Matilda Carolyn Lee, an instructor at J. W. Ligon High School, Raleigh, represented the Class of 1959.

Marion Ramona White, by Cheryl Hamlin, a pharmaceutical student at Howard University, who was "Miss Jabberwock of 1965."

Other winners were the following: Academic Winners - Lucy Pollard, first place, "Miss Academic," J. W. Ligon High School, Raleigh, Audrey Daniels, second place, "Miss Scholastic," Sampson High School, Clinton, and Martha Elaine Peebles, third place, "Miss Intellectual," J. W. Ligon High School, Raleigh.

Talent Winners - Linda Kerr, first place, E. E. Smith High, Fayetteville; Marion Ramona White, second place, Cardinal Gibbons High, Raleigh; and third place winner, Treva Faison, Clinton High School, Clinton.

RULES TO LIVE BY

So live that after the minister has ended his remarks, those present will not think they have attended the wrong funeral.

Supreme Court Justice Williams O. Douglas has his own formula for a serene spirit:

1. Develop your body so it can undertake the most strenuous tasks.
2. Analyze the sources of your fears.
3. Rid yourself of fears.
4. Live in the future.
5. Question your prejudices.
6. Invite new ideas.
7. Challenge lethargy, inaction.
8. Develop your talents.
9. Live beyond and above self.
10. Have faith in God.

Unless a businessman has sincere respect for the whim of his humblest customer he will not make an outstanding success.

with Phi Beta as host chapter. The sorors solemnly dedicated and re-dedicated themselves to another year of loyal service to Zeta and to the promotion of Finer Womanhood. Soror Margaret Capehart joined the group in this service. The remainder of the evening was spent singing Zeta pep songs and enjoying the lovely repast served by Sorors Mildred James, Pauline Young and Ida Washington.

Worship service was held Sunday morning at First Baptist Church. Soror Millie Veasey, Associate Regional Director, made the presentation of a plaque to Mrs. Marjorie B. Debnam which cited her as the Chapter's "Woman of the Year" for outstanding services to her community, Sigma Brother Rev. Charles W. Ward gave a very inspiring message on, "A Great Faith."

Immediately following the service, Sorors of Zeta Phi Beta Sorority and the honoree were among the many guests who were entertained at a reception in the Bullock Building with Dr. and Mrs. N. L. Perry and Dr. and Mrs. R. E. Wimberly as their host and hostesses.

"Hats off" to Soror Blanche A. Rivers for projecting and planning the triumphant Finer Womanhood Observance Luncheon at the North Hills Steak House honoring Mrs. Debnam as the 1965 Woman of the Year and former "Women of the Year" - Mrs. Thelma Keck, Mrs. Harveleigh White, Mrs. Emma Boyer and Mrs. Lillian Logan, Sorors Nora Lockhart, Vivian Brown, Mildred James and Ellen Alston.

Other guests included the husband of the honoree - Dr. George Debnam, mother of the honoree Mrs. Robinson, of Cleveland, Ohio; Dr. James Boyer and daughter, Esther; Rev. and Mrs. Charles Ward, Miss Jeanette Hicks, Miss Ernestine Laws, Mr. Frank Flagg, Mr. Melvin Davis, and Sigma Brothers Junious N. Sorrell, J. E. Wilson, D. H. Keck and the Rev. Richard Styles.

The invocation was evoked by Soror Ellen Alston; greetings Soror Addie Logan, response, Mrs. Emma Boyer; Soror Nora E. Lockhart introduced the guest and testimonials were given by Soror Bettie Smith, Phi Beta Chapter, St. Augustine's College, and Soror Shirley Moss, Omicron Chapter, Shaw University. Musical selections were rendered by Verna Liza Hester (Miss Blue Revue, 1965), Jacqueline Williams (1st runner-up) and Sandra Mangum, of Wake Forest (one of the 1st Zeta Lites to visit Karamu House in Cleveland, Ohio.) Jacqueline Scott was guest soloist. These young ladies were accompanied by Sorors Doris A. Best and Emily M. M. Kelly.

After the very touching and heartfelt remarks by the honoree, Basileus Hazel L. Sorrell gave special tributes of thanks to the Chairman and Committee of Finer Womanhood Observance Luncheon, Woman of the Year Committee and the Can-

Wins Desegregation Of Fla. Detention Areas

NEW YORK - Two major breakthroughs in the fight against Florida's segregated penal institutions were announced here last week by Jack Greenberg, director-counsel of the NAACP Legal Defense and Educational Fund.

A decision by the Fifth U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals paved the way for desegregation of Florida's juvenile reform schools, and a Federal District Court judge in Jacksonville ordered desegregation of Jacksonville detention facilities.

"If we are to have equal justice under the law," Mr. Greenberg said, "equal treatment must be given to the guilty as well as the innocent. We will continue to attack racial segregation of prisoners, particularly where it involves juveniles who should have equal access to rehabilitation facilities."

Both desegregation suits were brought by Negroes arrested during sit-in demonstrations in segregated restaurants in Jacksonville and St. Augustine.

The appellate court ruling reversed a Federal District Court dismissal of a suit to desegregate Florida's reform schools.
