March Broadcast Of College Choirs Listed

NEW YORK, N. Y., March 2- Two Tennessee Colleges presented a program of music by Johann Sebastian Bach, the great 18th century German composer, on March 6 broadcast of ABC's "Negro College Choirs" series. The choir of Lane College in Jackson, and Fisk University in Nashville, both member institutions of the United Negro College Fund, participated in the program.

Three other UNCF choral groups will be heard during the month.

The choir of Morehouse College in Atlanta, Georgia, will be broadcast during the week of March 13. Wendell Whalen is the choir's director. Under the direction of Richard M. Turner, the choir of Stillman College in Tuscaloosa, Ala., will be featured the week of March 20.

The final broadcast of the month, March 27, will feature the choir of St. Augustine's College in Raleigh. The choir is directed by Mrs. Shirley M. Coates.

The "Negro College Choirs" series is carried by ABC affiliated stations throughout the country on varying days and at different hours. Check local newspaper listings for airtime in specific areas.

Veteran Officer Gets Top Police Post In N. Y. City

NEW YORK (NPI) - Close on the heels of the charge by New York State Sen. Basil A. Patterson that city police have delayed the appointment of Negroes to positions of rank came the announcement that a veteran of 25 years' service, Lloyd C. Sealy, native New Yorker, had been elevated to the post of deputy inspector.

Patterson had charged that only five or six -- or 1,500 among 27,000--per cent of the department's ranking posts were manned by Negro officers.

Sealy, 49, who joined the department in 1940 as a patrolman in the Bedford-Stuyvesant-Brooklyn area, chalked up his first distinction when he became the first Negro to command a Harlem precinct station just after the 1964 Harlem riots.

A quarter of a century after he joined the force-- after obtaining a degree from Brooklyn law school and rising through the ranks to sergeant, lieutenant and captain-- he was back in the Bedford-Stuyvesant area.

This time, he is deputy inspector of the largest Negro section in charge of 11 precincts.

He first gained notice in August, 1961 when he was named commander of the West 133rd Street station. His appointment then came a month after the riots that rocked the city.

Son of a Barbadoan who came to this country and worked as a janitor, Sealy will receive $19,231 a year in his new post, an increase of $2,550.

Free Course Offered For Mom, Child

A free Mother and Baby Course began at the Red Cross Chapter House Tuesday, March 8. Classes are in session from 10 a. m. to 12 noon on Tuesdays and Thursdays through March 24th.

The Volunteer Instructor will be Mrs. Judy Bailey, R. N. She will be assisted by Mrs. Dorothy Taylor, R. N.

Persons interested to enroll may call the Red Cross. The class must be limited to 20.

Local Youth At Ky. Job Corps Center

MORGANFIELD, Kentucky -- James T. Vinson, 17, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Vinson, of 319 North Carver Street, Raleigh, N. C., has enrolled as a student in Breckinridge Job Corps Center here.

He is studying general education courses and vocational and technical skills which are in demand in the job market.

It is expected that the average training period of a Job Corps student will be one year.

Students attending the conference included: Joan Davis and Morris Davis, both of the Bronx, New York; Eddie Collins, Spring Hope; Samuel Stevenson, Riegelwood; Brenda Richardson, Westbury, New York; and Vincent Spencer, Belhaven.

"Every North Carolina family has known the hurt of heart disease," Governor Dan K. Moore pointed out in his 1966 message urging Tar Heels to support the North Carolina Heart Association.
