

Among The Stars With Lee Ivory

NEGRO PRESS INTERNATIONAL

The recent Freedom Festival held at the International Amphitheatre in Chicago was one of the most fantastic entertainment projects of the year, thus far.

With Academy Award winner Sidney Poitier acting as emcee, singer Liz Lands, comedian Dick Gregory, gospel queen Mahalia Jackson and magnificent Harry Belafonte gave two hours of their finest performances before an over-packed house of 13,800 persons.

The sound system was perfect, the lighting was nothing short of superb, and the acts were all polished and highly professional.

High points of the evening—contrary to popular belief—were not the speeches of Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr., and Al Raby, joint sponsors of the extravaganza, but Dick Gregory's 45-minute tirade against the established social evils prevalent in the big cities, and the 20-minute Belafonte Special, "Matilda."

Poitier, who indicates that it is definitely all over between him and Diahann Carroll, was beautiful in his role of master of ceremonies.

To hear him speak now, perfect diction and all, it is difficult to believe that just a scant few years ago he was "lofted" of the stage of an amateur production because no one could understand his thick, unintelligible accent. Sidney, moon, is from the islands.

Liz Lands, one of the most vibrant singers you'll ever hear, is still kicking around in a fog of audience misunderstanding. Hers is a unique and far-ranging voice that spans five octaves with ease.

With more awards under her belt than pounds—she weighs about 90, sopping wet and with a 20-pound coat on her frail back—she is still virtually an unknown. One of the tragedies of show business.

The many after-parties for Harry and Sid were equally as fantastic as the production earlier in the evening. Through it all, the superstars never seemed to tire, signed autographs far into the night, and were still standing when most of those in attendance were dropping in their tracks.

Gregory, who made a Sunday afternoon plane for a Detroit concert with the Ramsey Lewis Trio didn't drink anything, but he was just about out of it anyway.

He stayed up all night arguing with a non-believing attorney who thought the riot in Watts (California) was a carefully planned maneuver to create havoc and bring chaos down around the necks of liberal and bigoted whites.

It took Greg most of the night to convince this guy that Watts was nothing more than a protest.

"If you wear a tight shoe" said the comedian, "you better believe you're going to get a corn. And if you don't do anything to relieve that pressure, the corn is going to wear the shoe out."

You can stop reading this review now and trot right down to Hot Sam's record store and grab this one!

There are many good points about the album that it could be much simpler for me to tell you about the bad points.

There is only one Fontana should have had Oscar Brown, Jr. and his new friend under contract 10 years ago.

Oscar, who is one of the most unique, wonderful, talented eloquent and friendly people in show business, probably would not have done as well 10 years ago, though, because the friend he has found in Liz Henricke was still in knee pants picking out tunes on his father's guitar. He is, however, plenty ready now and so is Mr. Brown.

All of the tunes are fantastically good—and they are the end result of two friends getting together, writing, adding and calling in any of the good buddies they may have heard along the way.

The best tune—for me, anyway—is "Lala Lada," the Brazilian chant-prayer that should really be a big hit for Brownie and his fab composer-guitarist-singer pal, Luiz. Another tune that is representative of this fine album is Henricke's "Listen To Me," a wonderful philosophy of life that has definitely found a convert in Henricke, who believes what he writes. BARBARA STREISAND/"MY NAME IS BARBARA, TWO," COLUMBIA

So what? My name is Lee Ivory and I can't sing either. It is a good thing Arranger Don Costa was on hand to keep the session from being a complete waste of time.

SUPERSTITIONS CONCERNING DOGS

By Bob Bartos, Manager Friskies Research Kennels

Many of the odd, old superstitions concerning dogs have logical explanations. Take the one about howling dogs being the sign of an approaching death in the family. A dog may feel the primal urge to howl for any number of reasons. He'll howl at the moon, at the sound of a whistle, a siren, another dog howling, or at the thunderous clap of a plane when it breaks the sound barrier. He'll howl if he's bored or if he feels neglected, which is often the case when there's a critical illness in the home and he's ignored by a troubled family.

Then there's the one about "seeing ghosts" when a dog suddenly stops what he's doing, cocks his head, waggles his ears and stares fixedly at what appears to be nothing. Chances are he's watching an insect, too small for human eyes to detect, or listening to a sound audible only to his sharp ears.

Another unfounded bit of dog lore is that only mongrels have dew-claws, particularly those extra "toes" above the paws on the inside of one or more of the hind legs. Any dog can be born with dew-claws, which are often removed in early puppyhood by the veterinarian to prevent them from catching in fabrics or underbrush. In some breeds, though, such as Great Pyrenees, double dew-claws (two on each hind leg and single dew-claws on the front) are a requirement for the show ring.

The expression that barking dogs don't bite is pure fallacy and has no reasonable explanation. If a strange and barking dog approaches you, forget this bit of folk lore and keep a respectable distance from the barker.

FEEDING TIP: A quality dry dog food such as Friskies Mix provides, ounce for ounce, twice the protein of canned dog food at half the cost.

Ex-Mayor To Annual 'YM' Meet

W. G. Enlor, former Mayor of Raleigh, will speak at the annual meeting of the Bloodworth Street YMCA Tuesday, March 29, at 8 p. m. He will be introduced by City Councilman John W. Winters with C. A. Haywood, chairman of the Board of Management, presiding.

Service awards for those who rendered meritorious service during the past year will be presented by Atty. F. J. Carnegie, chairman of the YMCA Capital Funds Campaign.

Mrs. M. D. Veasey, president of the Raleigh NAACP Chapter, will discuss community services of the YMCA. The annual report will be presented by E. L. Ralford, general secretary.

Special music will be presented under the direction of Mrs. E. M. M. Kelly, of Ligon High School.

The report on nominations to the Board of Management will be presented by A. E. Brown. The invocation will be pronounced by the Rev. J. H. Crum, Human Relations Director of the N. C. Council of Churches, and the benediction by the Rev. W. B. Lewis, president of the Ministerial Alliance.

Enloe was mayor of Raleigh from 1957-63 and now serves as district manager of the North Carolina Theatres, Incorporated and chairman of the Public Relations Committee of the N. C. Theatre Owners Association. He is a former president of the N. C. League of Municipalities and member of the Board of Directors of the W. W. Holding Industrial Education Center, vice-chairman of the Peace College Board of Trustees and chairman of the Raleigh Re-development Commission.

But Jones insisted he wanted to run his own business, and he was supported in this stand by both Senators Richard Russell and Herman Talmadge.

But ICC stood firm, with the result that Joe Jones had to give up some $40,000 in debt. At this writing, nobody, but nobody, has done anything to correct this wrong.

The fact that Joe Jones, Jr. is a negro is incidental. The important fact is that a government bureau can deny opportunity to any qualified, resourceful person of any color. Perhaps there should be a clause on all civil rights laws protecting all citizens from the bigotry of bureaucracy.

Leftover Surprise

Leftover pork roast is transformed into a tasty meal when combined with asparagus spears, corn muffins and a delicious hollandaise sauce. The secret of the meal is in the sauce. Developed by the home economists in Carnation Company, the creamy smooth hollandaise is easily made with egg yolks and velvitized evaporated milk. The sauce is more nutritious, too, since evaporated milk contains twice the protein and minerals of fresh whole milk.

ROAST PORK ON CORN MUFFINS

(Makes 6 servings)

4 tablespoons butter
2 tablespoons flour
1/4 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon pepper
1 cup undiluted velvitized evaporated milk
2 egg yolks, slightly beaten
2 tablespoons lemon juice

2 tablespoons chopped pimiento
6 corn muffins, split and toasted
Slices roast pork
Cooked asparagus spears
6 pimiento strips

Melt 2 tablespoons of the butter in saucepan over medium heat. Add flour, salt and pepper. Stir until smooth. Slowly add evaporated milk, stirring constantly until thickened. Remove from heat. Slowly stir small amount of the hot sauce into egg yolks. Blend egg yolk mixture into remaining sauce; continue cooking and stirring over medium heat until thickened. Stir in remaining butter, lemon juice and pimiento. Top each split corn muffin with roast pork, asparagus spears and pimiento hollandaise sauce. Garnish with pimiento strips.

BRIGHT IDEAS

ACCENT LIGHTING

Accent lighting is decorative lighting. It dramatizes the focal points in a room that give it personality. Accenting planters not only enhances the decorative value but the additional light and heat encourage their growth.

To accent a well-stocked bookcase a panel extended from front of bookcase conceals a 40-watt Sylvania fluorescent tube. This sheds soft light in two directions—illuminating the sculpture above and the handsome bookbindings below.

The file comes partially filled with the type of ideas which every housewife can use. These include tips on how to take care of stainless steel appliances, cooking utensils and working surfaces.

Among the divided sections in the file are the following: Living Room (Den), Dining Room, Bed Room, Bath, Utility, Lawn Garden/Patio and Play Area or Swimming Pool. There are also sections for recipes, warranties or guarantees, and "where to buy."

The file measures a foot square and can hold up to 4 inches of materials in accordion folds. A pleasant green and blue lace motif make it one of the most elegant files ever designed. Certainly its modern colorful design makes an attractive addition anywhere in the home.

The file costs $1.00. Send to: Bright Ideas, Jones & Laughlin Steel Corporation, Stainless & Strip Division, P. O. Box 4600, Detroit, Michigan 48234.

gro newspaper in the United States, which appeared on March 16, 1827, in New York City. Frank L. Stanley, NNPA president and publisher of The Louisville (Ky.) Defender, announced that the honorees were selected by the Association's board of directors in recognition of their "outstanding achievements in the advancement of democratic principles."

Vice-President Humphrey was cited for his efforts to assure equal opportunity of all citizens in his role of leadership in President Johnson's various equal opportunities programs. Mrs. Johnson's acknowledgment comes in support of her personal interest in the underprivileged and her program to promote the beautification of the Nation.

Mr. Katzenbach was honored for his leadership in the U. S. Department of Justice in its drive to implement the Civil Rights Laws of the United States. Pope Paul, VI is listed for his efforts to advance world brotherhood, Congressman A. Clayton Powell, New York, is saluted for his leadership of the House Labor and Education Committee, while San Francisco Giants' Willie Mays received award for his outstanding sports participation.

Asa T. Spaulding, North Carolina Mutual Life Insurance Company, Durham, gets the NNPA citation for his role of leadership in the Nation's largest Negro-managed and controlled business. The North Carolina Mutual recently opened its new $6-million headquarters building in downtown Durham. Another business honoree is Dr. Andrew Brimmer, former assistant secretary, U. S. Department of Commerce, who was recently named to the Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System.

John H. Johnson, head of Johnson Publishing Company, Chicago, and publisher of Ebony, major magazine appealing to Negro readership and Governor Edward T. Breathitt, Kentucky, who led his Commonwealth in the passage of the strongest civil rights legislation ever passed by a state, conclude the honorees list. The ten leaders will be honored formally at the NNPA's annual convention, June 21-23, in Philadelphia, Pa.

In the past, NNPA Russwurm Awards have gone to the late President John F. Kennedy, President Lyndon B. Johnson, Housing & Urban Development Secretary Robert Weaver, Dr. Ralph Bunche, Thurgood Marshall, Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr., Senator Robert F. Kennedy, Massachusetts Attorney General Edward Brooke, the four North Carolina A&T College students, who initiated the original sit-ins, and posthumously to the Mississippi civil rights workers—Andrew Goodman, James Chaney and Michael Schwerner, who were killed near Philadelphia, Miss.

by yelling to her husband not to hit him anymore. She admitted, under cross-examination, that she had accused Kirby of molesting her about two years ago.

Kirby declared he was seated in the living room of the home when Hubert J. Johnson, 35, the husband, entered the room and slashed his hand with a grass sickle.

According to Durham city police, Kirby was out of uniform at the time of the incident. Mrs. Johnson's husband was ordered held under a $1,000 bond after the judge found probable cause against him.

Martin Luther King, Jr., President, Southern Christian Leadership Conference; Floyd McKissick, National Director, Congress on Racial Equality; John Lewis, Chairman Student Non-Violent Coordinating Committee; and Miss Dorothy Height, President, National Council of Negro Women.

President Lyndon B. Johnson proposed the Conference in his commencement address at Howard University last June 4 when he said its object would be "to help the American Negro fulfill the rights which after the long time of injustice, he is finally about to secure."

In appointing the Council last month, the President explained that it would have the responsibility for sifting through the concepts, proposals and programs outlined in the November 17-18 Planning Session and develop "programs for change" to be presented to the Conference participants for their consideration and action.

Ben W. Heineman, Chairman of the Board, Chicago & Northwestern Railway Company and who was selected by the President to serve as Chairman of the Conference, emphasized at a press briefing last week that it will be a "how-to-do-it" conference, rather than a mere identification of the problems, and will seek to broaden the participation of "all segments of the community to the cause of making the Negro an equal partner in the American society."

Mr. Heineman added, "The problems have been identified and we have the valuable reports of the Planning Session's work, from which we plan to build an action-oriented program concerned with implementation."

For an amazing time saver in cleaning tarnished silver, line the bottom of a large plastic or enamel pan with aluminum foil, pour in about two quarts of warm water, add two tablespoons each of salt and baking soda, and make sure each piece of silver touches the foil.

So you will know at first glance which side the streak is on when you're cleaning windows, use horizontal strokes on the outside, vertical strokes on the inside.

To defrost the refrigerator in record time, use the vacuum cleaner. Simply aim the blower nozzle at the cooling unit and turn the refrigerator off. The vacuum's warm air makes quick work of the job.

Save untold gardening time during spring planting. Buy only ready-to-plant plants—easier and quicker than sowing seed and coddling young seedlings indoors.

Avoid losing an hour on Sunday April 24—the day most of the country changes to Daylight Saving Time—by remembering this timely tip from experts at Westcoast, who keep America on time. "Spring forward, fall back." Set your clock ahead one hour at 2 a. m. or before you go to bed.

Q. Sometimes I wish I could wear boots all year round so no one could see my ankles. They're so heavy, I feel like a two-legged piano! Please, tell me how to do some exercises to help put them in shape.

A. Try twirling your ankles to whittle them down. They may be a bit tired the first few days, but keep it up. Here's what to do: Lie down on the floor with your legs straight. Lift your right leg first, and reach for the ceiling with it. Keeping your toes pointed, rotate your ankle in five clockwise circles. Reverse and make five counterclockwise circles. Repeat with the other leg. Eventually, you'll be making fifty twirls with each ankle, and well on your way to more shapely ankles.

of 13 N. Fisher, Argather Brown, 120 N. Fisher, and Miss Jones said the four were together and Shirley had the gun. They stated further that she and Hall were allegedly frolicking when the .22 calibre pistol accidentally went off.

Miss Jones was originally charged with assault with a deadly weapon with intent to kill, but after Hall died at the hospital, the charge was changed to murder.

An inquest was originally planned after the shooting was said to have been accidental. However, Wake County Coroner Marshall W. Bennett said Tuesday this was abandoned "after the officers found more information."

Miss Jones came to police headquarters with her mother "and gave herself up" around 3 p. m. Saturday.

Miss Jones was charged with assault with a deadly weapon on March 30, 1965, and has reportedly received two other suspended sentences for crimes involving deadly weapons in 1961 and 1963.
