Miss Carolyn King Of Bennett To Study In France In '66-'67

GREENSBORO - Miss Carolyn J. King, a senior French major at Bennett College, was notified this week that she has been awarded a Fulbright scholarship to study French literature at the University of Besancon for the 1966-67 academic year.

The daughter of Mrs. Aaron C. King will sail from New York City on September 15 on the S. S. France and following a period of orientation in Paris, will report to the University to begin her studies on October 3.

J. B. Duoselle, executive director of the Office of European Programs of the Bureau of Education and Cultural Affairs of the U. S. Department of State, in making the announcement said that the grant will cover all expenses, transportation and allowances included.

Miss King, as a child, exhibited an interest in foreign languages, particularly French and, in addition to summer study in Canada and Mexico, spent her junior year at Universite Laval in Quebec. She plans a career as an interpreter and is the seventh Fulbright Scholar produced by Bennett College since 1953.

Two of Miss King's classmates were also notified this week of academic awards. Miss Kate Aseme, of Nigeria, was notified by her government that she has been awarded an all-expense scholarship by the African Scholarship Program for American Universities (AS-PAU) for her freshmen year in medical school. She has been accepted by the Howard University Medical School.

Miss Gretta Middleton, of Charleston, S. C., a political science major, has been notified that she has been awarded a $4,000 fellowship from the Foreign Affairs Scholars Program, jointly sponsored by the U. S. State Department and Howard University, for graduate study in economics. She will work during the summer in the State Department and in the fall will attend a university of her choice.

Convictions

MONROE, La. (NPI) - Four white men have been convicted by an all-white jury of breaking into a Negro's home and beating the family's white daughter-in-law. One of the four was a Klansman, Heidi Richards, 25, a native of Germany was beaten with sticks last Oct. 30 by four men. She was staying with her husband's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Richards, Jr., while her husband was serving in Viet Nam. Convicted were Odis Sikes, 23, Richard Thompson, 21, James Hedgepath, 45, and Gerald Pardue, 26, all of West Monroe. Hedgepath admitted Klan membership, and police linked Sikes with the KKK.

Dr. T. R. Speigner Is Named NCC's "Outstanding Teacher"

DURHAM -- Dr. Theodore R. Speigner, chairman of the Department of Geography and director of the Division of Resource-Use Education at North Carolina College, has been chosen as the college's faculty member to receive the Institution's James E. Shepard Hamilton Watch Award for 1966.

A similar award will be made to a student whose name will be announced later following all-campus balloting. Both presentations will be made at the college's seventeenth annual Awards Day Friday, May 6.

The award, established in 1947 by the Hamilton Watch Company, honors the NCC teacher and student who "make the most significant contribution to the school during the year of the award." Speigner was chosen by faculty vote as the teacher whose qualities "memorialize the leadership, service, and quality of citizenship exemplified by Dr. James E. Shepard," who founded the college in 1910 and was its president until his death in 1947.

Dr. Speigner, who is recognized as one of the nation's leading conservation educators, has been a member of the college's faculty since 1947. Holder of the B. A. degree from Talladega College and the M. A.

from the State University of Iowa, he became the first Negro in the United States to receive the doctoral degree in conservation and conservation education when the University of Michigan awarded him the Ph. D. in 1961.

An ordained minister in the American Lutheran Church following special studies in theology, he has also pursued graduate work in college administration at Harvard University and the University of Toronto.

Social Security Office Open 'Til Midnight Thursday

The Social Security Office of Raleigh, N. C., will stay open until midnight on Thursday, March 31, the medicare enrollment deadline, John Ingle, social security district manager, announced. But, Ingle said, he hopes elderly people not yet signed up for the voluntary doctor bill insurance under medicare will not all wait until late Thursday night to enroll.

The social security office will remain open until 9 a. m. Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday evenings this week to provide an opportunity for working people 65 and over and others who cannot get in during the day to apply.

Dr. Mays Challenges Audience At Bennett

GREENSBORO - "It is not necessarily how long one lives, but how well and how noble one's goals," Dr. Benjamin E. Mays, declared in his address marking the close of the 40th annual Homemaking Institute at Bennett College on Sunday.

Dr. Mays, president of Morehouse College, Atlanta, Ga., spoke on "The Unattainable Goals," explaining that there is no tragedy when one fails to reach his goal but when one has no goals to which to aspire.

"Methuselah," said Dr. Mays, "lived to be 969 and did nothing. In fact, he was mentally and spiritually dead centuries before he was buried. Kill the dream and you kill the man. Stocks and bonds and bank accounts may keep breath in our bodies, but only ideals will keep us alive."

A summary of the week's activities was given by Mrs. L. G. Street, institute chairman.

Some 100 parents of Bennett students from nine states gathered for a Saturday seminar during which they exchanged, with members of the faculty points of view on recognizing and dealing with the aspirational levels of their daughters.

Coming the longest distance were parents from Alabama, while others came from Georgia, West Virginia, Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Virginia and the District of Columbia, as well as from the Carolinas.

They were cautioned by members of the faculty panel against pressuring their offspring into particular career choices and to recognize that aspirators are subject to change as their daughters mature. Later, in five workshops, they were able to express their personal views. At 1 p. m., they were guests at a luncheon.

MOTHERS tell me that girls tell lies oftener and better than boys.
