The Time To March

We have watched developments in North Carolina for 25 years as they affect the economy and the political life of the state. We have kept abreast with the civil disturbances and imaginary gains which the Negro feels he has made in the quest for first-class citizenship and we have reached the conclusion that the Negro's fate is definitely tied to the ballot box.

We have no quarrel with demonstrations. They have played a great part in dramatizing the conditions in the state and in the nation. We think, however, that May 28th is the day which the Negro can strike the most telling blow of the era. We must go to the polls and vote, not the political boss's convictions, but our convictions. This is a crucial time in the history of the Negro in the state. We cannot sit back and say "We are going to get what they want us to have!" It has been shown that what the politicians want us to have is nothing and that is what we have been getting.

We must scan the field and pick the candidates who seem most favorable, not to the Negro's cause only, but to the cause of HUMAN RIGHTS. We dare not suggest that Negroes vote for a candidate due to the fact that he promises to make things better for Negroes. We say vote for the candidates who have the interest of all citizens at heart. We are not suggesting that you vote for Negro candidates just because they are Negroes. Certainly some Negro representation in the halls of government is better than no representation, but if it is fraught with greed, personal angrandise, and power then we should look at the other side of the street. If the Negro candidate has been put up to satisfy the power structure when voting for him will only enhance the power of the power structure.

May 28th is the time to march to a fuller opportunity for the Negro. Can-candidates should be quizzed as to how they feel about Negroes getting better jobs, better pay and the proper consideration as a human being. The hour wage law should be a prime factor in the selection of members of the legislature. Employment of Negroes in white collar jobs, if qualified, should animate one's thinking in selecting candidates on March 28th.

Information as to whether a candidate for sheriff will endorse Jim Clark as the type of law enforcement officer which the nation needs should certainly be sought. Information as to whether a candidate for sheriff will permit his deputies to forcibly enter a man's home, take him out, beat him up and then he (the sheriff) condone same by not even suspending the deputies while the investigation is going on. A candidate seeking the office of Secretary of State should be asked whether he will license a group of persons to openly defy the law of the land by threatening law abiding citizens, by bombing, epithets and even night riding.

The Negro voter should take a cue from the old man who heard the clock strike thirteen and woke his wife and said, "Wake up, the clock has just struck thirteen and it is later than it has ever been". It is truly later than it has ever been and the Negro voter needs to wake up on May 28th and march, march, march, not in the streets, but to the polls. A real demonstration to the polls on May 28th can put North Carolina on the right path. Having a million Negroes registered and voting only a few means nothing. Registering is only the beginning of the job. You must also vote to be effective. The time to march is May 28th, from mountain to sea coast and from Halifax to the South Carolina line. Don't vote for the power structure, don't vote for the politician, vote for HUMAN RIGHTS.

Short, Short Editorials

As an aftermath of the power blackout in the northeastern U. S., the Mongahela News says "Consolidated Edison still is sweating out the problem of finding a power plant location acceptable to everyone. In their fight with the conservationists and nature lovers who have blocked, at least temporarily, Con Ed's proposal for a pumped storage project at Cornwall, on the Hudson, the company recently got a bit of support from Robert Moses, chairman of the New York City Triborough Bridge and Tunnel Authority. Moses said that turning the control of the city's water and power supplies to 'bird watchers' is the wrong solution."

Congressman Wendell Wyatt, of Oregon, called inflation "nothing but legalized robbery."

The Oregon Department of Motor Vehicles has released statistics which show that 63 per cent of the 70 motorists who failed to produce driver's licenses when stopped at New Year's Eve roadblocks had no legal right to drive. Twenty eight and six tenths per cent of the drivers had no driver's license; 17 per cent were driving while suspended; 10 per cent had no Oregon driver's license, but had a record on file as a result of previous accidents or violations; and 7 per cent had allowed their licenses to expire. The remaining 37 per cent (26 drivers) had valid licenses, but did not have them in their possession when stopped.

Urban renewal and other federal programs are major causes of despondency and decay among the very people the projects are supposed to help, members of the United States Commission on Civil Rights said at a recent meeting held in Cleveland, Ohio. One member of the Commission, the Rev. Theodore M. Hesburgh, president of Notre Dame University, said that federal rebuilding programs, administered here and in other cities were actually immoral and that people find their houses bulldozed from under them. And the present Administration's proposal for 60 to 70 "demonstration cities" could end up the same way. These would seem to be good arguments for defeating this federal proposal.

Rainbow trout are being used at Oregon State University for research work. The trout are replacing white mice and guinea pigs as research animals. Scientists in the food toxicology and nutrition laboratory are breeding their own stock. Trout are ideal for certain types of research because they are highly sensitive to many toxic materials which may be found in food and water.

Watts Area In Uproar Over Shot

LOS ANGELES - A fatal shot, which local patrolman J. H. Bova, 23, insisted was accidental here last week, was the cause of a "sympathy march" to Zion Baptist Church Monday morning, prior to the funeral of Leonard Deadwyler, 25, who was killed while taking his pregnant wife to a hospital "to have a baby."

Bova has been relieved of field duty, pending investigation, as wide concern has been aroused in both church and civic groups over the incident.

The cop contended that Mr. Deadwyler, who came here with his wife and children from Gainesville, Ga., about 11 months ago, was driving his 1956 Buick about 85 miles an hour when he began chasing the car.

Bova said further that after he caught up with Deadwyler's automobile and began questioning the driver, they engaged in a heated conversation and the car continued to move.

Bova declared he was being dragged as he clung to the car door on the passenger's side of the front seat. He added that when he thrust his head and shoulders inside the car to turn off the ignition, the motion of the car caused his service revolver to fire.

The bullet passed the pregnant wife, Mrs. Barbara Deadwyler. (See WATTS IN, P. 2)

"FOCUS ON GOALS BEYOND LAW"—AJC

Abram Is Speaker At Dinner

WASHINGTON - Morris B. Abram, President of the American Jewish Committee, referring last week, to the problem of discrimination in the U. S., said that the time had come "to focus on the goals beyond the law, upon the causes of prejudices, and the means of changing the hearts and minds of men."

Mr. Abram, a New York attorney who is U. S. Representative on the United Nations Human Rights Commission and who served as Co-Chairman of the preliminary White House Conference on Civil Rights held in Washington last November, spoke at the AJC's 60th anniversary Annual Dinner at the Shoreham Hotel here.

While acknowledging that the role of legislation was not yet exhausted, Mr. Abram stated that it had its limitations, and that "we may be approaching them at the national level. The end of the problem of discrimination is not in sight. We know too that neither legislation nor its strict and effective enforcement will eliminate color or religious prejudice and discrimination and fulfill the rights of all Americans."

NC Restaurant Refuses Sit-Down Service For 2

SPECIAL TO THE CAROLINIAN

NORWOOD - A learned Chinese professor of chemistry at Fayetteville State College, Fayetteville, and one of his top chemistry students, had to "take out" sandwiches in the Norwood Restaurant because, "We don't serve Negroes in here."

Dr. Mao Chao, renowned scientist, who has read papers all over the United States and in several foreign countries, and the Negro student, who is a senior chemistry major at the school, were on their way to read papers or lecture at Catawba College, Salisbury.

Upon entry, the professor and his student were told that the Restaurant did not serve colored people, but the employee consented to get sandwiches which they could "take out."

Dr. Chao, who was embarrassed by the incident, allegedly told the owner he did not understand the American way of life, "because in my country they serve everyone."

Wake Lad In Marines 7 Months

BY CHARLES R. JONES

Sadness and grief have enveloped another Wake County household as an eldest son, barely 19 years old, was killed in Viet Nam War action last Thursday—three days after he arrived in Southeast Asia.

Mr. and Mrs. Neal Albert Denning, Sr., of Rt. 1, Willow Springs, received a visitor last Friday, a Captain from the United States Marines, bearing the heart-rending news of the death of their son, Neal A.

PFC. NEAL A. DENNING, JR.

Young Denning, according to The Defense Department in Washington, was among 47 U. S. servicemen killed in action last week.

The youngster had written a letter to his parents and they received it on Thursday, May 12, the day he was killed in Da Nang, South Viet Nam.

A 1965 graduate of the Fuqua Consolidated High School, last year this time, Neal was dreaming of the Junior-Senior Prom and impending graduation.

He volunteered for military service in August of 1965 and left California for Viet Nam some three weeks before. It took him slightly more than
