Yes, We All Talk

BY MARCUS H. BOULWARE
ARTICULATE SPEECH
QUESTION: On television, I have noticed that most educated Africans use good speech, articulating their words distinctly. How do you account for this? -Mrs. J. L.

ANSWER: A large number of African students are educated in British schools; were a premium is placed upon articulate speech. This increases tremendously their public image.

Americans, in their made rush to make the dollar, do not take time for the finer things of life. They are content with cluttering the pronunciation of words, and hence their speech
is unintelligible in many cases.

The basis for good pronunciation is syllabication, that is,
dividing words correctly into syllables. This process makes speech distinct and clear.

Let me suggest an economical way for one to improve his speech. Purchase an album entitled "Speak Well" by Paul Mills, Number CL 1361, Columbia Records Company. It costs around $2.00 and helps one to over come slovenly speech.

READER'S: Questions on speech will be answered in this column if you address your letter to Dr. M. H. Boulware, Florida A&M University, Box
310-A, Tallahassee, Florida,
32307. For a personal reply,
send a self-addressed long business envelope and two stamps.

CHURCH OF CHRIST

VACATION BIBLE SCHOOL UNDERWAY - The Vacation Bible School is now underway at the Church of Christ, located at 1805 Waller Place (Rochester Heights) in Raleigh. Shown above are the instructors and children who participated in last year's Bible School. The Bible School this year opened on Monday, June 13, and will close on Friday, the 17th. It is still not too late for registration for youths between 3 and 18. A Gospel Meeting is being held at the church through June 17, also. The visiting minister is the Rev. E. D. Phillips, pastor of the 12th Avenue Church of Christ in Nashville, Tennessee.

YOU ARE THE DETECTIVE
You are with your friend, Tom Kearns, who is a claims adjuster for a large insurance company, and he has asked you to accompany him on the routine investigation of a claim filed by one of his company's clients. Dr. Keith Darnell, the well-known scientist and physicist. As Kearns manipulates his car through the traffic-congested streets, he outlines the story for you:

"A couple of months ago, Dr. Darnell took out a large health-and-accident policy with us, one which pays him $300 a week should he sustain any kind of injury that would handicap or prevent him from carrying on his work. It seems now as though that were a very timely decision on his part, because yesterday he phoned us and informed us he had fallen off a ladder while cleaning out the roof gutters of his home and had seriously injured his right leg -- seriously enough to keep him at home for at least the next three weeks and prevent him from carrying on his work at his company's laboratory, work which keeps him on his feet most of the time. It's my job now to get the details from him and fill out the necessary forms for his claim -- but I'll confess I'm looking forward to this meeting for another more personal reason. I've heard lots about Dr. Darnell, his scientific achievements, and also that he's a very pleasant and affable gentleman."

Upon your arrival at Dr. Darnell's home, you and Kearns are ushered into the sitting room by the matronly-looking housekeeper, then before you can seat yourselves, the distinguished-looking gray-haired scientist, leaning heavily on a cane, limps laboriously into the room, a welcoming smile on his face and his long-fingered right hand outstretched to clasp both yours and Tom Kearns' hand in a cordial greeting. "Well, now," he exclaims, "this is a real privilege and pleasure, meeting you two gentlemen. Of course, I realize this is for business reasons--but then, it never does any harm to allow a little friendship to enter such negotiations." Now clutching his cane in both hands, he lowers himself carefully into an easy chair.

"I suppose," he continues, "you want some details of my unfortunate little episode on the ladder. I had just arrived near the top of my eighteen-foot ladder, when my foot slipped on one of the rungs, and before I could catch myself I had toppled, fell very heavily to the ground. When I had recovered somewhat from the fall, I found I was unable to help myself into the house, because of my leg. I had to call my housekeeper. I happen to know enough about bones and first-aid, and was relieved somewhat to find no bones broken, but a sprain severe enough to incapacitate me for some little time. Hence, my claim."

Tom Kearns has been jotting down notes, and he looks up. "You of course, have not been able to do any work at all since this happened, and you say you won't be able to resume for at least three weeks?"

"Well...I just can't be optimistic enough to predict any shorter time."

You now manager to catch Tom Kearns' eye, and make a slight motion of your head toward the door. Then, excusing yourselves, you and Kearns meet out in the hallway where you say, "if I were you, I should not be too fast about making any settlement of his claim."

Why are you suspicious of Dr. Darnell's claim?
SOLUTION
Dr. Darnell was supposed to have injured his right leg, and yet he came limping into the room leaning heavily on his cane which was held in his LEFT hand!

Raleigh's Poole Brothers Visit In New York City

BY PETE HOLDEN
NEW YORK -- Ligon High School's Assistant Athlete Coach Hubert Poole, his wife, Mary Holden Poole and son, Alfred, Jet-whispered into New York, last Wednesday evening where they spent a brief vacation with the Coach's brother, Johnny Worth Poole and his wife, Sue, who live in New York's Stuyvesant Town Apartments, located on the lower east side. Hubert, who was scheduled to fly here with his family on Monday, June 6, was delayed with his first base coaching duties which climaxed with Ligon High School Little Blues, winning the North Carolina State High School Baseball Championship over Dudley High School, Greensboro, 4 to 3. Hubert, who played center on that famous Shaw University All-CIAA Football team of 1943, went out to Shea Stadium here on Thursday evening, June 9th, where he watched his favorite Mets bow to The Atlanta Braves, 8 to 4.

The Francis Poole family (she's Wanda) and their two daughters, Jackie and Joni along with their mother, Mrs. Gertrude Poole, motored to the Empire State with a brief stop over in Philadelphia where Mrs. Gertrude Poole (of West Raleigh) visited her sisters, Mrs. Rosa Green and Mrs. Latta Henry. Mrs. Gertrude Poole left the "City of Brotherly Love," last weekend for New York where she joined her sons and their families as well as visited other relatives and friends. Francis and his family were house guests of his brother, Heyward and his wife, Alma Poole of the swank Lennox Terrace Apartments. Mrs. Heyward Poole is the former Alma Robinson, of Chattanooga, Tenn., and her father is Walter C. Robinson, Editor and Publisher of The Chattanooga Observer, a weekly Press in that State.

Francis is the Wake County Attendance Officer and his wife is on the teaching staff of Garner High School. Both the visiting Raleigh Poole families were last Friday night guests of The CAROLINIAN, New York Correspondent and his wife, as was the New York Poole families, and on Saturday night, after Hubert and his family had returned from a visit with his in-laws, Miss Irene Holden, of White Plains, N. Y., and Mr. and Mrs. Russell Britt and daughter, Lloydie, of Stamford, Conn.; the Heyward Pooles entertained the visitors in their home.

PERSONALS

RECORD CLUB HOLDS JAM SESSION

The recently-organized record club (Down Beats) formed by a group of local jazz enthusiasts held their regular jazz session last weekend at the home of Wilbert M. Sanders, 1121 Kitt Place, Biltmore Hills, better known as (Little Acre). The group listened to such famous artists as Cannon Ball Adderly, Stanley Turrentine in Joyride, Jimmy Smith, My Mojo Working, Jr. Walker, Soul Session, Earl Garner, Serenade in Blue, Ramsey Lewis Trio, Herbie Mann, and many others. The group planned this session a little different from the rest. As long as the weather permits we will hold our sessions out of doors with a cook-out. The menu included: slirons, salads, beverages, just the works. Good food and good music is a hard combination to beat. So, you fans who like good sounds might as well buy your boxes and start making trips to the records shops for good sounds are here to stay. Those attending the session are as follows: Frank P. Ridley, better known as Mr. Politician, Otis Intry, James Revis, New members included Walter Brice, better known as (Money Bags) Willie Noble, Bently Sanders, and a member absent, James Alston.
