694 to 117,481. The nation's farm population has decreased the same percentage, from 15.6 million to 12.3 million.

Commenting on a possible tax increase, Representative William Widnall (R-N.J.) said, "A tax increase, by itself, will not cut down on the demand for a limited supply of goods and services which is presently causing inflation. If the tax money is spent by the government, the only change will be that the government will decide what to buy and not the individual wage earner, who will still be faced with rising prices and even less income to spend. We need to cut back on government spending by setting program priorities."

The nation's 730 investor-owned gas companies have been extending their lines into previously unserved communities at a rate six times greater than government may say it is, sooner or later its hand is likely to become the firm fist of federal control."

A consumer survey by the Pharmaceutical Manufacturers Association showed that while most people think prescription drugs cost too much, 82 per cent of those interviewed said their last prescription did a good job and 70 per cent said it was worth the cost.

According to Oil Facts, a publication of the American Petroleum Institute, federal, state and county governments have received $3.2 billion in bonuses, rentals and royalty payments in the 45 years as a result of petroleum operations on federally-owned lands . . . royalty payments for oil and gas production on federal and Indian lands during 1965 alone were estimated by the Department of the Interior at $200 million, an all-time high.

As reported in The Wall Street Journal: "Though some people appear to forget it, the government's outlays give it both the right and the duty to oversee the money's use . . . No matter how overhanded and unquestioning the government-owned systems, the American Gas Association reports.

(Continued from page 1) the pertinent details she and her committee had been able to secure concerning the forum. A formal request for funds by Forum leaders had prompted the Social Action Committee to think in terms of not only financial help, but perhaps to offer other types of help as well.

After meeting with Attorney Romallus O. Murphy, co-chairman of the Forum, Mrs. Sprunt was more able to clearly define the needs of the Forum group to the Raleigh Unitarians. The Social Action Committee also contacted the Rev. Charles W. Ward, member of the Mayor's Advisory Committee on Human Relations. Because of the Fellowship's basic interest in human relations endeavors, the Committee sought to get some indication of the involvement of the Mayor's Committee with regard to Dr. King's appearance.

After an active discussion, the following motion was made and approved:

1. That the Fellowship become Patrons of the Forum;
2. That the Fellowship contribute financially by purchasing an ad in the Forum's program; and
3. That the Fellowship take the position of urging all members to attend.

ers, such as Baynard Rustin, John Lewis, and, in particular, Martin Luther King. Mrs. Brown says she testified before the House Committee on Un-American Activities in Washington D. C. on June 4, 1962, exposing more than 100 members of the Communist Party in the Cleveland, Ohio area. Also, after three days of testimony, she had beamed a bright light on some of the most carefully guarded secrets of Communist activities, not only in Cleveland, Ohio, but in the states of Florida, New York, Illinois and other areas as well.

Soon after announcement of Jeffries' dismissal, which is effective Aug. 31, it was revealed that a State auditor's report back in 1959 was followed by a letter recommending the business manager and comptroller-budget officer be relieved of his job.

Jeffries, 52, who has been with the college since 1940, said his office of business manager was dissolved Sept. 5, 1965, but "I have been selected as the scapegoat, and fired, because of inadequacies for which only a business manager with the full authority due his office can reasonably be held responsible.

ler and budget officer: "I have not read the reports, but I have heard about them. I do not think that any comments would be helpful to the institution. There are records which will stand."

Mr. Jeffries lambasted the administration in his statements to a white reporter last week. These are some of his comments:

ELIZABETH CITY - Elizabeth City State College comptroller budget officer Kenneth R. Jeffries, relieved of his post last week because of what was termed as a "slipshod manner" of operations, lashed back at his critics Thursday. Declaring, "I am being made a scapegoat," Jeffries complained that, "I have tried to abide by the rules and regulations as set forth by the State of North Carolina. I have been unable to carry out these rules and laws because of interference."

He said he was urging taxpayers and voters to request of their senators and representatives in the next General Assembly to vote no funds nor appropriate any more funds to the college until "a thorough investigation . . . has been made."

Jeffries said, "I want everything put on top of the table, all the facts."

the intersection. Another witness, Marvin W. Thorpe, St., of 312 N. Pettigrew St., informed Officer Godwin that when he approached the light leading north, it was red, but said he did not know if the light turned green, because he stopped for about one minute.

The impact of the collision took place 16 inches north of the south curb of New Bern, and three inches west of the south curb on Tarboro.

Miss Robertson left no skid marks prior to the accident. According to Mrs. Fowler's sister, Mrs. Emma Hartfield, the victim was bleeding from the mouth after the collision. It is still undetermined just when Mrs. Fowler will be allowed to leave the hospital.

Little Wanda Fowler, was so distraught after the incident, according to Mrs. Hartfield, that "she was upset for three days, until she found out her aunt was going to live."

SAYS FEMALE STOLE MONEY David Hudson, of 306 Hill Street, reported to Officer C. R. Aycock at 2:45 p.m. Monday, that Miss Dorothy Keith, 17, address unlisted, took some money from a box in the wardrobe of his living room.

The complainant stated he would sign a warrant against the teenager soon. Amount of his loss was about $35.

WOMAN STRUCK BY ARROW

Mrs. Christine McGehee Hunt, 63, of 311 1/2 N. Tarboro Street, told Officers N. A. Carter and J. D. Hedrick at 10:08 p.m. Sunday, she was sitting on her back porch while some youngsters were out in the street playing with a bow and arrow set.

"The next thing I knew," said Mrs. Hunt, "an arrow hit me on the head and I started bleeding."

The complainant stated one of the kids lives at 309 N. Tarboro, and concluded that if she saw the one who shot the arrow again, she would recognize him. Mrs. Hunt was treated for a small hole in the head. Officer Hedrick has the arrow in his locker at police headquarters.

GIRL PULLED FROM CAR

Miss Brenda Joyce Mitchell, 16, of 213 Seawall Avenue, informed the law at 9:52 p.m. Sunday, that a boy picked her up at the Lincoln Theatre and offered to take her home.

She concluded, "After we reached the corner of East Jones and Cooke (formerly N. Haywood) Street, her boyfriend, Eddie Banks, Jr., of 1224 N. Swain Street stopped them and pulled her out of the vehicle, onto the street.

Miss Mitchell declined to sign a warrant against Banks, 19, stating, "I just want him to stay away from my house."

DECLARES BOY BEAT HIM

Frankie King, of 220 East Cabarrus Street, told "the law" at 11:30 a.m. Sunday, he was walking west on South Street, Saturday night, when he passed two girls and one boy. Words were exchanged, he declared and the boy with the girls knocked him to the sidewalk and kicked him. The girls later told officer that they did not know the boy they were with, and King said he had never seen any of them before.

Mr. King suffered a cut on the chin and scratches on the right side of his neck.

HUBBY ATTACKS PREGNANT WIFE

Mrs. Rosa Lee Locklear, 22, of 912 East Jones Street, reported to two cops at 11:47 p.m. Saturday, that she and her husband, Leroy Locklear, 37, had an argument, and he started beating her at their home.

Mrs. Locklear, who is three months pregnant, complained of pains in the stomach. She signed a warrant against her husband for assault and battery.

When you add air conditioning or other major electrical appliances, please tell us. We want to be sure you have all the electricity you need.

As you add major appliances such as air conditioning in your home, you increase your demand for electricity, putting a larger load on our transformer which serves you. Frequently, it is necessary for us to install a larger capacity transformer to avoid the possibility of an interruption in your electric service and to be sure you have all the electricity you need. That's why it's important for us to know when you add major electrical appliances.

So if you have added air conditioning this summer, please report it to us. We want to be sure you have plenty of electricity to get all the comfort and convenience you've bargained for.

Incidentally, there is a red signal light on pole transformers that glows when these units are loaded to capacity or need servicing. Our folks look for them regularly. But if you spot one in your neighborhood, you can help us get to it sooner by calling your CP&L office and giving us the transformer location.

Give yourself a break—serve easy do-ahead Frozen Spiced Peach Salad! You'll like the creamy smoothness that Carnation Evaporated Milk adds to the salad. Carnation helps make your cooking easier and better. Try some soon and see for yourself!

FROZEN SPICED PEACH SALAD (Makes 10 to 12 servings)

- | | |
|--|-----------------------------------|
| 3 1/2 cups (1 pound 14-ounce can) spiced peaches | 1/2 cup spiced peach syrup |
| 1 package (3 ounces) soft cream cheese | 1/4 cup chopped spiced crabapples |
| 1/4 cup sugar | 1 cup miniature marshmallows |
| 1 cup undiluted Carnation Evaporated Milk | 1/2 cup chopped pecans |
| | 1 tablespoon lemon juice |

Drain peaches; save 1/2 cup syrup. Discard peach stones. Chop peaches coarsely. Blend cream cheese and sugar until smooth with electric mixer. Slowly beat in 1/3 cup of the Carnation and the reserved peach syrup. Stir in peaches, crabapples, marshmallows and pecans. Chill remaining 2/3 cup Carnation in refrigerator tray until soft ice crystals form around edges of tray (10-15 minutes). Whip until stiff (1 minute). Add lemon juice. Whip very stiff (1 minute longer). Fold into cheese mixture. Spoon into 6-cup mold and freeze until firm, about 3 hours. Unmold on lettuce leaves and garnish with spiced crabapples and pecans. Allow salad to stand at room temperature for about 10 minutes before serving.
