Local Teen Will Enter Beauty Contest In NJ

BY ANTOINETTE FOXWELL
Petite Miss Doris Davis, fifteen-year-old rising sophomore at J. W. Ligon High School here, has announced plans to enter the "Miss American Teenager Beauty Pageant" as an independent contestant representing Raleigh in the National Grand Finals at the Palisades Amusement Park, Palisades, New Jersey. The contest, to be held from September 7 until September 9, will consist solely of a party dress competition, with neither talent nor bathing suit competitions to be held. Although the contestants are both independents (those who enter under their own auspices) and those chosen in preliminary contests in their home towns, all contenders will be presented in the same manner. When asked how she became interested in entering the contest, Doris stated in an exclusive CAROLINIAN interview that after seeing an advertisement for the pageant in a comic book, she sent for more information about it. She decided to enter when she found that the only requirements for participation in the pageant are to be between the ages of thirteen and seventeen and to write an essay to be approved by the judges concerning one's future ambitions. There are no racial restrictions. Thus far, Peebles Grill and Green's Cleaners have agreed to sponsor Miss Davis on her trip. "But," she says, "I'll really need more sponsors to help bear expenses for travel, food, and lodging." Doris, who lives with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Maynard Evans, at 323 South East Street, hopes that all business and individuals interested in helping her will contact her as soon as possible. The CAROLINIAN will cover Doris' activities at the pageant, including everything from her guided tour of New York and her day of enjoying a stage production and dinner to her appearance on the televised National Grand Finals.

TYPE CASTING
Actor Arnold Holmstedt had no problem stepping into a scene with Shirley MacLaine in Universal's suspense-thriller, "Gambit." Holmstedt, 51, portrays a taxi driver -- a profession he worked at for 23 years before turning to acting more than a decade ago.

Education Roundup

BY NEGRO PRESS INTERNATIONAL MIXING PLAN
HARTFORD, Conn. -- Five Hartford suburbs will enroll 265 children from the city's poor district in September, in an effort to improve integration and offer better opportunities to disadvantaged children. The metropolitan area transfer is being tested with 200 children who are sent by bus to summer school in West Hartford. The program is designed to benefit everyone - slum children will get quality education for the first time, and suburban children will gain a broader outlook from their contact with slum children.

INTEGRATION ORDERED
WAUKEGAN, Ill. -- Three local white schools have been ordered to integrate, after a Lake County Circuit court judge ruled that they were violating a state law against de facto segregation. Judge Charles Parker ordered the Waukegan Board of Education to send students from 85 per cent Negro Whittier Elementary school to three all-white schools, reducing Whittier's Negro enrollment to 42 per cent. The judge upheld a prosecution contention that the Armstrong Act requiring school districts to promote integration applied to de facto segregation.

INTEGRATION PLANNED
EVANSTON, Ill. -- This suburb of Chicago has decided to send the students of all-Negro Foster school to mostly white schools in the area and will make Foster into an experimental laboratory school next year. This fall, Foster's kindergarten will be integrated by busing in white children. The laboratory school is expected to have a 20 per cent Negro enrollment next year. A white enrollment of 50-80 per cent in the Foster kindergarten is sought this fall. PHILADELPHIA, Miss - The suspension of a few students at Booker T. Washington High school was ruled "arbitrary, unreasonable, and an unnecessary infringement upon protected rights of free expression" by the Fifth U. S. Circuit court of appeals. The suspension was handed down because the students were wearing "freedom buttons" in the classroom. The court's decision held that the buttons "didn't have any bearing on their education."

TURN BACK CLOCK
CHICAGO - Directors of the Chicago Educational Association have issued a demand to the board of education to permit teachers to "use the rod" on unruly pupils - a return to the old practice to "not spare the rod, not spoil the pupil." Basis for the demand is a state law which gives teachers in a classroom the same authority over pupils, as parents have in the home.

WORM REGROWS PARTS
Chicago - Some species of flatworms can be cut into as many as 50 pieces and each piece will regrow all its missing parts and become a fully formed organism in two or three weeks.

Of all the muscles in the body, the heart alone does not benefit from enlargement. Heart enlargement is a sign of overwork and a danger to your health, the North Carolina Heart Association says.
