ATCHISON, Kan., Globe: "... if every country now living under communism were to disappear from the face of the earth, the real threat—the idea of utopian prosperity under state capitalism—would still remain. Until the fraudulent, unworkable theory of Marxian economics is thoroughly discredited... there will be no permanent protection from the seductive appeal of something-for-nothing... Karl Marx was right about one thing every functioning economy needs a dictator. But Marx picked the wrong one: government. Free enterprise operates under the right one: the free customer who, by merely refusing to buy, by taking his patronage elsewhere, can discipline any business, large or small, which does not offer what he wants at the right price. This is the proper and democratic place to put power: in the hands of everybody. It... needs no supervision except government enforcement of an official code of honesty and fair play."

GARRISON, N. D., Independent: "This is the 'enlightened society'... a transient methodically kills eight student nurses in Chicago while closer to home an apparently deranged young father assaults a young cerebral palsy victim. Even though we're supposedly an intelligent people, crime is rampant. And probably because of a shift in moral values, gone are the inhibitions that made each of us more responsible a generation ago. Today individual 'freedom' reigns supreme... Defiance of law and order is condoned, even encouraged by high government officials in this country as means of correcting social wrongs."

Alleyne, New York, National Auditor; C. Melvin Patrick, New York, National Director of Publicity.

In addressing the delegates for the first time as president of the 40,000 member, 200 chaptered organization of college trained Negro men, Dr. McNeill pledged to institute a program of militant political and social action which would continue to advance the cause of the Negro as he seeks full first class citizenship in the United States. "Society is in ferment as never before. Youth is on the march. Old values, institutions and ways of life are being questioned. We could not just come to Los Angeles just to let this be another conclave. We came here to grapple with the salient issues that face our organization as Greeks and as the greatest minority on the face of the earth," he said.

president of the Carver Federal Savings and Loan Association with three branches in New York City and Brooklyn with total assets of $32,652,000, an increase of $4,042,000 over the December 1964 report! Of the comparable $32,652,000 in liabilities, $26,513,000 was in savings accounts. This was a 14 per cent increase in one year. And the Carver Federal Savings Association boasts that "... no saver has lost one penny during the 31 years of operation." The home office is at 75 West 125th Street, New York City.

Davis reached the top in the financial world by hard work and studying evenings at New York University Evening and Graduate School, where he studied banking and real estate. While at N. C. College, Durham, he had worked in Bankers Fire Insurance Co. and Mechanics and Farmers Bank, which gave him the desire to pursue real estate and banking in several NYC institutions.

Davis is affiliated with numerous financial, community, fraternal and civic groups, including NAACP, the Urban League and the Episcopal Church. He has many awards.

The convention will attempt to provide constructive answers to the following questions: 1. Have Negroes turned from religion en masse? 2. Do Negroes appreciate what they are and what they have produced? 3. Are the majority of Negroes anti-American, anti-white? 4. Are they dedicated to understanding and good will? Governor James B. Connally, Texas, and Mayor Erik Johnson, of Dallas are scheduled to address the convention.

Dr. Jackson will deliver the keynote address on Thursday morning, September 8.

An international figure, Dr. Jackson has been a staunch advocate of civil rights, and of dedication to the principles of law and order. He has emphasized the use of the ballot as one of the most effective forces of all the elements in first-class citizenship.

His philosophy of fellowship between groups is set forth in his recent book, "Many But One," published by Sheed & Ward.

Dr. Jackson is pastor of the Olivet Baptist Church in Chicago.

E. D. Strickland arrested James Patterson and Charles Cannon, on charges of engaging in an affray where deadly weapons were used. The report stated that "Pat" had a pocket knife.

"I did not have a knife," declared Mr. Patterson, "because if I had had one, I'd have used it."

The entire episode was reportedly triggered when Patterson arrived at the bus station to pick up a large order of records.

"When I reached the front of the station," stated Patterson, "there were no parking spaces, so I drove around directly in front of the Yellow Cab Stand office, and parked as close to the office as I could."

"At this time, the bus pulled up. There were no passengers inside, and the driver kept telling me to move. I told him that neither of us could move because of the heavy traffic in front of us (the buses)."

"At this point," continued Patterson, "the man started calling me all sorts of niggers, and I started talking to him in the same tone that he was using."

"Before I know what was happening, he had grabbed a hatchet from the bus (these are standard equipment on all buses for emergency uses) and started towards me. Before I could get out of my car, he began to cut me on the ear and on the side of my head with the hatchet."

"I finally managed to get out of the car and get the hatchet away from him. At this point, the man began to run, and I was losing a lot of blood, so I went to the police station around the corner, where I talked to two policemen, and one of them (Pat said Officer P. A. Dean) asked me what I was doing at the bus station, as if the bus station was off-limits to me."

"They told me I should go to the hospital, which I did. There I received the stitches and treatment, then I was released and arrested."

"I tried to swear out a warrant on the man, but was told I would have to see the desk sergeant, then the solicitor."

Patterson is now recuperating at his home, pending the trial, which has been set for Thursday, September 22, at 2 p. m., before City Court Judge Samuel Prewitt Winborne.

Attorney Romallus O. Murphy is representing Mr. Patterson. All efforts to contact Mr. Charles Eugene Cannon for his version of the incident have proven of no avail.

of Dunn, is Ed Junior Smith, 32, Dunn laborer. This occurred a few hours after Smith had been released from jail in the shooting of Rufus Cameron, 17 of Dunn.

The fourth shooting occurred on the outskirts of Dunn's town limits, near a night spot operated by Sherrill Coats, Bill Ray West, 17, of Coats, is being held in jail and charged with the shooting of William Rufus Johnson, 17, who is hospitalized at Betsy Johnson Hospital in Dunn, with a bullet in the muscle of his leg.

Mrs. Beverly, a maid for a Dunn attorney, has talked to give any statement concerning the slaying of Elliott, which occurred at his home early Sunday. There were no witnesses to the shooting. Allie Elliott, father of the dead man, was outside at the time of the shooting. When he heard the shot, he rushed in. Elliott, with a .22 pistol slung in his chest, was dead on arrival at the local hospital.

According to the statement given by Harnett County Coroner Paul Dew, Mrs. Hunter allegedly drove a knife into the chest of the Jones woman Sunday night at a juke joint in the northwestern section of Harnett county. Mrs. Jones was dead on arrival at the Fuquay Branch (Wake Memorial) Hospital.

The Harnett County Grand Jury, Monday, returned a true bill, charging Mrs. Hunter with murder.

Deputy Sheriff Carson Hall stated that the West and Jackson youths had been drinking and were having a free-for-all near Sherrill Coats' night spot Sunday morning and that West shot Johnson with a .22 calibre pistol.

AFL Ref. Has Big First List

Referee John McDonough of the American Football League will add to his long list of "firsts" when he officiates at the Kansas City-Oakland game on September 18th to open the new Oakland-Alameda County Stadium. It will be the veteran ref's 108th AFL game. His most recent first, (his seventh AFL first) was on August 20th when he refereed the Raiders-Boston Patriots game at Anaheim, Calif., the first professional football game played in the new Anaheim Stadium. It was the start of the AFL's first doubleheader in history. McDonough has been an AFL referee since the league started in 1960.

His other firsts:

- 1 -- The first AFL game on the West Coast and the first AFL game in Kezar Stadium, Dallas at Oakland, July 31, 1960.
2 -- First AFL game in Los Angeles, New York vs. Chargers, L. A. Coliseum, August 6, 1960.
3 -- First AFL Championship game, Los Angeles at Houston, January 1, 1961.
4 -- First AFL game in San Diego, Houston at San Diego, August 6, 1961.
5 -- First AFL game in Candlestick Park, Denver at Oakland, October 1, 1961.
6 -- First All-Star game, played at San Diego, January 7, 1961.

In order to give the proper credit to the man involved, the Denver Broncos have changed Wendell Hayes uniform number from No. 29 to No. 33. Last year, Hayes wore No. 29 and was credited with two points more than he tallied because of the closeness of his number to Abner Haynes, his Bronco teammate. Hayes wears No. 28.

$5 Million Project Led By AKA Head

LOS ANGELES -- Appointment of Dr. Zelma George of Cleveland to head the $5 million dollar Job Corps Project there was announced last Monday by Dr. Larzette Hale, president of Alpha Kappa Alpha Sorority, sponsor of the project.

The announcement was one of the first acts in office of Dr. Hale, newly-elected president of the 50,000 member college women's organization. She said Dr. George took charge of the Integrated War on Poverty project on Tuesday, Aug. 23. Dr. George replaces Mrs. Mary Chambers who has been appointed a program consultant to the Office of Economic Opportunity.

The Cleveland Project is presently offering job training and basic education to young women between 16 and 21 from the 50 states. It is located midway between the Hough area, scene of rioting last month, and Cleveland's cultural center, including Western Reserve University.

Dr. Hale also announced that Alpha Kappa Alpha Sorority adopted a resolution supporting the war on poverty and urging the President and the Congress to expand the Community Action Program of the effort. The resolution followed a panel presentation on the War on Poverty to 2,000 members at the Statler Hilton Hotel for the sorority's 41st national convention since 1908.

Members included Dr. Deton J.R. Brooks, Chicago; Phillip Rutledge, Detroit; Charles E. Emerich, Atlanta; and C. W. Bowser, Philadelphia, all heads of the War on Poverty in their home cities. The panel was moderated by Theodore A. Jones, Great Lake Regional Director of the Office of Economic Opportunity.

Dr. George, the new Cleveland Job Corp director, is the wife of Clayborne George, a lawyer and head of the Cleveland Civil Service Commission. She is a graduate of the University of Chicago and holds a doctorate in Sociology from New York University. She was a member of the United States delegation to the 15th United Nations General Assembly.

Dr. George also served as dean of women at Tennessee State University, at Nashville, and has been a social worker and juvenile court officer in Chicago. In 1965 and 1966 she delivered 140 lectures on International Relations at U. S. colleges and universities for the Danforth Foundation. This summer she made a 6-week Good Will Tour of Europe and Africa for the State Department. Dr. George said of her new assignment that she, "regards the effort to the American poor to improve themselves as part of the world-wide struggle of people who are determined to better their lot."

SWITCHAROUND

WASHINGTON -- "Blackpower" won the approval of an organization headed by Barry Goldwater, while being condemned by U.S. Solicitor General Thurgood Marshall, remembered for his civil rights advocacy. The Free Society association found that "blackpower" could become a constructive political force under responsible Negro leadership. "Black Power" could provide the stimulus for independent thought and grass-roots problem solving -- maybe even the nucleus of responsible political organization in Negro ghettos," the association said. Meanwhile, Marshall said the "black power" movement is "Jim Crow" thinking that has nothing to offer Negroes except violence. To replace white power with black power is "an aim based on inequality," he said. GETS 10 YEARS

ATHENS, Ga. -- A Ku Klux Klansman, convicted last month on federal charges of conspiring to violate Negroes' rights, has been sentenced to 10 years in prison for assault with intent to murder his wife Betty, mother of eight. Sims had pleaded to the charges last month.

BOYCOTT SET

WASHINGTON -- A second boycott of the D. C. Transit system has been threatened by Marion Barry, Jr., local Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee chieftain and leader of the Free D. C. movement. The boycott protests a proposed fare increase, which would hurt Negroes most of all. Barry said the city should buy the transit company and subsidize operations enough to reduce the fare to 15 cents.

GUIDELINES' FIGHT

ATLANTA -- Georgia is considering legal action against federal school desegregation guidelines, Gov. Carl Sanders has acknowledged. Meanwhile, Alabama Gov. George Wallace declared total war against the guidelines and said he would act as local school superintendent in each district, if necessary, in order to preserve segregation. Gov. Sanders said he had conferred with Atty. Gen. Arthur Bolton about possible legal action after several local school superintendents had contacted Bolton with requests for such action.

SCHOOL PLEA WON

NEW ORLEANS -- Federal Judge Frederick J. R. Heebe upheld Negro plaintiffs in their complaint against Bogalusa's school desegregation progress. The judge ordered teachers hired "without regard to race or color" and changed the city's school desegregation plan to the free-choice system. Under that system, all pupils must make a choice of schools annually.

Fifth Negro Slain In Birmingham

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (NPD) -- The fatal shooting of Edgar D. Edwards, 23, the fifth Birmingham slain allegedly by police bullets, has been ruled as a "justifiable homicide" by the office of County Coroner James O. Butler.

Local police records show Edwards was shot to death by a shotgun blast allegedly fired by Police Officer John L. Cousins during an incident last August 20.

Edwards was pronounced dead on arrival at University Hospital, investigators said. Homicide Detectives Edward K. Alley and Joseph R. Bieker said that Edwards was shot by Officer Cousins after police received a "call on a prowler."

Det. Bierker quoted Officer Cousins as saying that when he came upon Edwards trying to get into an apartment, the victim "attacked" him with a knife.

Highway Tax Is Proposed

GREENSBORO -- Owners of trucks, truck-tractors, or buses may be among taxpayers who must file a Federal highway use tax return this month, according to J. E. Wall, District Director of Internal Revenue in North Carolina.

Certain truck, truck-tractor, and bus owners must file Form 2290 and pay a yearly highway use tax on or before the last day of the month following the month in which the vehicle is first used in the tax year. The tax year begins on July 1 and runs through the following June 30.
