MEXICO MAGNIFICO!
For the gayest vacation go to Mexico. Mexico is filled with the fascination of the foreign. And with sights and sounds and things to do to suit your every mood. . . . Mexico City's sophisticated international set and beguiling after-dark life of theatres, concerts, smart supper clubs. . . . Acapulco's gay laziness and superb swimming. . . . Empress Carlotta's magnificent terraced gardens at Cuernavaca. . . . floating gardens of Iochmilco. All these things and many others are yours to enjoy.

And Mexico is friendly. . . . It's easy to get into the swing of things. Sunday mornings you'll enjoy a quesadilla, Mexican cousin of a hot dog. You'll see gaily dressed gentlemen riders compete in fast and furious charro contests. In the afternoon there's the corrida de toros, the bullfight, at Mexico

City's impressive Plaza de Mexico.

As for treasures to bring home. . . . you'll discover a buyer's paradise all the way from Mexico City's aristocratic shops of the Avenida Juarez and Paseo de la Reforma to the cobbled streets and native markets of Texco, noted for hand-wrought silver.

Mexico is just hours away from anywhere in the United States by American Airlines, a very few hours by American Astrojets. Both first class and coach are available on every 707 Astrojet flight. On first class and coach flights, fine meals are served -- aloft. . . . and there are no expensive extras. So wait no longer. Make up your mind this holiday you'll be a traveler -- not just a vacationer -- and plan now to see Mexico soon by calling your travel agency.

CP&L To Buy Entire Output Of Coal Mine

Carolina Power & Light Company has signed a 20-year contract to buy the entire output of a new bituminous coal mine now being opened in West Virginia, President Shearon Harris has announced. The purchase represents more than $100 million worth of coal.

The contract, first of its kind ever signed by CP&L, is of major economic significance to CP&L and also to the fuel and transportation segments of the economy, Harris said. CP&L signed the contract, he said, to insure an adequate supply of coal for the new Roxboro plant while, at the same time, taking advantage of savings in both coal production and freight costs.

The new mine, developed solely to supply CP&L with 7,000 tons of coal a day, will begin operations with the newest and most efficient machinery available and will employ 315 miners in the Appalachia area. This move is a substantial boost from free enterprise to the well-being of a state whose economy has been the object of considerable Congressional and Federal government concern,

Harris said. Coal will be hauled from the mine to CP&L's Roxboro plant in special 90-car trains whose only function will be to travel between the mine and the plant. Five such trains will make the round trip each week, Harris said, travelling via Chesapeake and Ohio Railroad and Norfolk and Western Railway.

As transportation cost is a major factor in the price of coal, the Roxboro plant site in the northernmost part of CP&L's area was chosen to take advantage of the savings offered by the railroads in the delivery of coal. By placing the plant closer to the coalfields and by getting deliveries in trainload lots, CP&L is able to gain substantial economies in the cost of coal, Harris said.

Eastern Associate Coal Corporation, the nation's fifth largest bituminous producer, is developing the new mine in West Virginia's Boone County at a site known as Burnt Camp. In full production it will employ 315 miners in three shifts. The CP&L contract calls for first deliveries by November 1967. Full deliveries are expected by mid-1968.

How To Protect Your Family Against "Sleeping Sickness"

NEW YORK -- Amid the current epidemic of sleeping sickness reported sweeping Dallas, Texas, and the threat of similar outbreaks this season across the South Northwest to St. Louis, a checklist of home precautions was outlined today by Gordon Lawless, Chairman of the Insect Wire Screening Bureau, New York. Lawless, at the request of the U. S. State Dept., recently conducted a six-month study of insect protection throughout Latin America.

To avoid contact with the deadly Culex mosquito, carrier of encephalitis, known popularly as sleeping sickness, Lawless suggested:

Stay indoors as much as possible. Use insect bug bombs liberally when outdoor exposure is unavoidable, particularly in the early evening when the mosquito is most active. Screen all windows and doors in some secure fashion whether with combination screen-storm windows, detachable screens or with raw screening tacked to the frame.

To eradicate breeding areas, stagnant pools, call city health agencies. Or, to drain nearby vacant lots, join with neighbors in the rental of a simple electric pump.

Repair or replace any rusted or torn screens at all mosquito access points to the home using aluminum screening or some non-rusting, long-lasting type. Repair ill-fitting frames that permit mosquito access.

Repair or replace screening on porches, patios, breezeways. Screening is available at most hardware and lumber dealers.

Screen outside access of ventilating fans in kitchen or attic.

Repair or replace defective filters in air conditioning units.

Howard U. Expecting Over 11,000

WASHINGTON, D. C.--Some 11,500 students, the largest number in the institution's history, are expected to enroll at Howard University this month as the University embarks upon its 100th year of instruction. The anticipated enrollment represents and increase of more than 500 over last year's student body.

More than 2,500 undergraduate freshmen, another record number, will arrive on campus September 5 for a week of freshman orientation.

Registration for the School of Law and College of Medicine is scheduled for September 6. Students who plan to enroll in the University's eight other schools and colleges will register September 13 and 14.

University officials are calling upon Washington area residents to assist Howard in providing living accommodations for its students by making facilities in their homes available during the coming school year, beginning in September. Of the total anticipated enrollment, some 9,000 students will live off campus, and about 1,500 will be in need of living quarters when they arrive at Howard.

Beginning next year, the degree conferred to graduates of the School of Religion will be known as the Master of Divinity. Religion graduates at Howard formerly received the Bachelor of Divinity degree.
