of the first persons to arrive on the scene, he said three of the colored men were dead when he got there, and Honeycutt died a short time afterwards. The fourth man was pronounced dead on arrival at the Fuquay-Varina Branch of Wake Memorial Hospital.

The non-use of available seat belts in the car as cited by Trooper White as being the major cause of the mass death toll. He opined that the men would not have been thrown from the vehicle and might have lived had they used the belts.

Wake County Coroner Marshall W. Bennett said the cause of death for the quintet was injured heads.

Funeral services for Honeycutt were conducted Tuesday at 4 p.m. at the Fuquay-Varina Baptist Church.

Final rites for two of the four colored men were also held this week. Lonnie E. Lawrence was funeralized at the local First Baptist Church on Wednesday at 2 p.m., with the Rev. N. A. Trice officiating. Lawrence was the son of Mr. and Mrs. James Coy Lawrence. Services for Jimmy Roy Harris will be conducted at McKoy's Grove Church on Thursday at 2 p.m.

Information regarding last rites for the other two victims was not available at CAROLINIAN press time.

Monday, he said.

Dr. Brown also related the fact that he had attended a few white patients a week before the cross burning, and it's very difficult to say why the cross was burned.

Included in the three-day meeting are addresses by Mr. William P. Thompson, stated clerk (chief executive officer) of the church's General Assembly; the Rev. Dr. Benjamin A. Payton, executive director of the National Council of Churches' Commission on Religion and Race and Dr. King.

Also scheduled are a presentation, describing special projects on poverty and race in the North Carolina-Virginia area; a mass meeting on "United Presbyterian Mission in the Southeast"; and a guided tour of the city and the denomination's places of work in it.

In its business sessions the Commission will deal with plans for the coming year's work, including coordination with the National Council of Churches CORR, the Delta Ministry, and the Southern Christian Leadership Conference. Reporting on these activities is the Rev. Robert L. Beech, staff member of the Delta Ministry; and Mr. H. H. Williams, United Presbyterian layman who is on the SCLC staff.

Presiding at the Commission sessions will be the Rev. Dr. Marshall L. Scott, chairman. Executive director of the Commission is the Rev. Dr. Gayraud S. Wilmore, Jr.

Two of the sessions were opened to the public: at 8:30 p.m. Tuesday (Sept. 20) in the Queen Charlotte Hotel, when the presentation on race and poverty projects was made; and at 8 p.m. Wednesday (Sept. 21) when the program on the church's mission in the Southeast was presented and Dr. King was to speak.

The Wednesday night meeting was in Hartley-Woods Gymnasium at Johnson C. Smith University.

Burn Cross

After the burning of the cross, Dr. Brown reported the incident to the F. B. I. office in Elizabeth City, and to Sheriff R. C. Madrin, of Pasquotank County. No report on the investigation from the sheriff's office had been made to Brown on Monday, he said. Dr. Brown also related the fact that he had attended a few white patients a week before the cross burning, and it's very difficult to say why the cross was burned. "We look on the good side of life and prepare for the worst, and it is our objective to try to make a living," the doctor concluded.

of Technology and a Master of Arts from the University of Chicago, McGee is also an eloquent man and he often uses his eloquence on behalf of his race.

McGee joined the Post Office as a substitute carrier in 1929. Between that time and 1948, when he was given the job of hiring and processing all employees in the Chicago Post Office, he rose from carrier to distribution clerk to foreman of mails, supervising clerks on the workroom floor. And many an oldtimer in the Chicago Post Office worked with McGee and brag that they "knew him when."

After that, Henry W. McGee, whose son, Henry, Jr., is a Chicago attorney, was on his way to becoming regional personnel director, and now postmaster.

ley raped a Japanese woman here nearly four years ago. Judge Raymond O. Cundiff set the arraignment for September 20.

Meantime, one of Wansley's attorneys has been fined $50 and sentenced to five days in prison. The prison sentence was suspended.

Phillip Hirschkop, Alexandria, Va., was charged with contempt after getting another rape charge and a robbery charge against Wansley removed to a federal court last winter.

The case began almost four years ago when Wansley was accused of raping the Japanese woman and robbing a white woman.

He was convicted on all three counts, although he testified that he had previously had sexual relations with the Japanese woman and although the white woman could not positively identify him at the first trial.

He was given two death sentences plus a 20 year jail sentence on the robbery charge.

The Virginia Supreme Court of Appeals overturned the convictions and ordered new trials in 1964, after statewide and national protests about Wansley's treatment.

The state was unable to retry him on the first charge because the Japanese woman, who had moved to Hawaii, refused to come back to Lynchburg to testify. When she returned recently, the court placed her under a bench warrant to insure that she would testify, and set the retrial.

The white woman reversed her previous testimony and identified Wansley as the man who attacked her during a retrial of the robbery charge, which involved 12 cents and two bus tokens last November. However, the jury deadlocked and a mistrial was declared.

Hirschkop's contempt charge grew out of attempts to retry the second rape charge. On February 14, the day that Wansley was to be retried, Hirschkop blocked the start of the trial in the state court by petitioning to have it transferred to the U. S. District Court.

Judge Cundiff responded by issuing a contempt ruling against Hirschkop and barring William Kunstler of New York, another of Wansley's attorneys, from practicing in his court. A federal judge promptly stopped prosecution of the contempt charge.

The Fourth Circuit Court of Appeals sent the contempt case back to the lower court when Hirschkop asked them to pass on it, and the lower court convicted him September 13. He plans to appeal the decision back to the upper court.

Attorney Plato Cacheris represented Hirschkop in the lower court hearing; the appeal will be handled by a team of lawyers headed by Arthur Kinoy of New York.

Only 17 when the case began, Wansley has spent the last four years in prison, including 18 months on death row. He is still facing two capital charges.

During the same period a white man who was convicted of raping an 11 year old Negro girl was sentenced to five years in prison. He has already been released.

The next stage in Wansley's ordeal will come when he is arraigned on the first rape charge September 20 and a date set for the retrial. On Oct. 7, the U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals will hold hearings in Richmond on the petition to move the other two charges to federal court.
