

POLICE PROTECT PRINCIPAL: Stanley Lissner, reinstated principal at new showcase school P.S. 201, gets police protection as he runs gauntlet of Negro demonstrators while entering school here Sept. 21st. Some 40 Negro demonstrators, chanting "get him, get him," knocked down police barricades and rushed Lissner outside the Harlem school. P.S. 201's problems began when parents boycotted the school, demanding busting of white children to the city's most modern facility, to provide racial balance. Failing that, they demanded a Negro principal and all-Negro faculty and community control of the school with regard to staff and curriculum.

Group Will Pay Kids' Med Bills

NEW YORK - Any medical expenses incurred from white racists' attacks upon Negro children as they attempted to attend school in Grenada, Miss., earlier this month will be paid by staff members of the Board of National Missions of the United Presbyterian Church USA. That announcement was made here today by the Rev. Dr. Kenneth G. Neigh, General Secretary of the denomination's home missions agency.

In announcing the staff's declaration of intent, Dr. Neigh deplored "the violence brought upon those children going to school according to the law." "We have compassion, concern and sorrow for those children and adults - both Negro and white - whose injury to themselves and to our country is so much deeper than the physical blows perpetrated or sustained by their bodies," the United Presbyterian leader said.

Earlier this month, at the conclusion of a three day annual meeting of the board's 350 member staff in Cleveland, Ohio, an offering amounting to $600 was taken. It is this money which will be used to defray medical expenses of the Grenada Negro students.

Uses Wire Cutters On 'Kooky' Klansman In U. S.

LOS ANGELES - (NPD) - The "white backlash" is giving the Ku Klux Klan fertile territory in which to expand its hooded hate activities all over the country, a leading civil rights organization has reported.

While the nation's leaders considered means of counteracting the Kooky Klaxers, an auto mechanic in Panorama City, Calif., came up with an effective way to stop them: Cut the wires to their loudspeaker.

The Anti-Defamation League of B'nai B'rith reported that the Klan is on the upsurge again, holding rallies and recruitment drives throughout the South - its traditional home grounds - while making new inroads in other parts of the country.

"Within the past year there has been a marked increase in Klan organizational efforts in the South - and in Maryland, Delaware, New Jersey, New York, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana, Michigan, and Wisconsin," said Arnold Forster, ADL general counsel.

This summer, ADL said, significant attempts were made to move into Northern states which have not seen Klan movement in many years.

Klan leaders, operating on the basis that Northerners are more disturbed by the civil rights movement in the big cities than they were by incidents in the South, point to Gov. George Wallace's relative success with a "backlash" campaign during the 1964 Presidential primaries, ADL added.

A well supplied Klan movement now operates out of a post office box in New Haven, Conn., ADL said.

While reports of some 10,000 at a "reactivation" rally staged by the Klan near Saugus, Calif. were "probably exaggerated," according to ADL information, the crown did include some 500 Klan activists with many signs reading "white power." ADL called it the first Klan attempt at public recruitment in California in more than 20 years. Another meeting is apparently scheduled for the San Bernardino area next month. Klan strength throughout the Old Confederacy is estimated at approximately 29,500, marking an increase of nearly 10,000 since the beginning of the year.

On Morals Rap: Fire Escape Climber Found Not Guilty

An 18-year-old Wake Forest white woman and an 18-year-old Negro youth of Raleigh, were acquitted Tuesday in City Court here on charges of using a hotel room for immoral purposes.

Miss Elsie Lynbort and Charles Thomas Rodwell, of 412 Dakar Street, were arrested in room 510 of the Miller-Andrew-Johnson Hotel.

Officer Lindsay Godwin testified that he and officer C.R. Stinson were at the top of the Deck, Inc., parking building on Salisbury Street about 1 a.m. Tuesday when they noticed a Negro climbing to the fourth floor and entering the hotel.

The officer stated that Rodwell passed a window on the fifth floor and entered a room at the end of the hall. Godwin said he and Stinson entered the hotel and knocked on the door of room 510. Miss Lynbort said she would have to dress and the officers waited ten minutes for her to open the door, Godwin stated. The officers, then went into the room and found Charles Rodwell, a former bell boy, in the shower stall, fully dressed. Rodwell was charged with carrying a concealed weapon. He was acquitted of that charge, also after testimony revealed the razor he had was not concealed.

Western Union was among a number of industrial corporations exhibiting when the group met recently.

Wirtz Sees Tragic Gap In Situations

WASHINGTON - "There is in America today a tragic gap between the half-truth of civil rights and the ultimate goal of civil results. This is nowhere more apparent than in employment," stated Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz this week.

"We have passed a landmark law - the Civil Rights Act of 1964 - as a mighty and humane bulwark against job discrimination and other forms of prejudice.

"But laws, and enforcement of these laws, are not enough to break down the barriers preventing equal job opportunity in this country.

"Even if there were full enforcement and acceptance of every present and proposed statute prohibiting employment discrimination, it still would not be enough.

"The one insistent demand that rises like a chant or chorus above every other refrain among the disadvantaged is the demand for jobs."

"And the demand is for job now."

"Yet, as long as the law of employment civil rights is considered only a matter of banning overt discrimination, the law will remain substantially incomplete."

"There is something drastically wrong if one man, who is turned away from a factory gate because he is a Negro is accepted by the law as a proper party plaintiff, while another, who is turned away because he is untrained, is not a proper party plaintiff even though the reason he is untrained is that he was born in a ghetto and his education was as unequal as it was separate.

"If legislation covering employment civil rights says only this, then 'the law' - in Dickens' pungent language - 'is an ass.'"

"For the two cases are the same, except that an employer did the discriminating in one case and the society did it in the other," he said.

James Brown Show To Open State Fair Here

The dynamic and exciting James Brown, "Mr. Dynamite", and his outstanding show will be in Raleigh at Dorton Arena on Monday, October 10th at 8:30 p.m. This will be the opening night of the N. C. State Fair. Tickets for this tremendous show will also be good for admission to the Fair.

James Brown, who has been an outstanding vocalist in his field for many years, is just as proud of his band as he is of his singing. His band produces a unique sound for which James Brown is noted. During any thirty-day period James Brown will give away over 5000 autographed pictures; make gifts of over 1000 pairs of cufflinks to some of his lucky fans; wear 120 freshly laundered shirts; change uniforms over 150 times; wear more than 30 pairs of shoes; perform over 4800 minutes on stage; sing and play over 960 songs; play more shows and dances than other singers and musicians active in the business today; lose up to seven pounds at each performance; write several new songs; rehearse new acts for his show; prepare for his next recording session; pose for publicity pictures; visit deejays and radio stations - and in his spare time try to get enough sleep to please his personal physician.

James Brown was named the "Male Vocalist of the Year" in 1966 by the National Association of Radio Announcers.

American Churches Doubled As Forts

Originally, Armenian churches did double duty as forts in that turbulent land and were surrounded with high thick walls. The same effect is achieved in the new cathedral framed in steel.

"With the fabricated structural steel arches," A. A. Abdalian, the project's structural engineer, says "it has been possible to create a much more graceful building than the old style permitted. As far as I am concerned, steel had no competitors from the standpoint of economy and speed of erection of these arches."
