at this time and Mr. Spencer is said to have pointed the gun directly at him, while Goggins was pulling Mrs. Cotton on the ground by her arm. It was not learned just why Spencer didn't fire at Andrews. Detective Stephenson charged Allen Spencer, and rested him with three counts of assault with a deadly weapon. Also jailed was Johnny Goggins, who was taken to the "clink" for assault and battery upon the woman. The rifle was taken. No injuries were reported, except to Mrs. Cotton, who was bruised on the body after having been dragged. Both men will face City Court Judge Samuel Pretlowe Winborne. Goggins will hear his fate on October 10, at 9 a.m., while Mr. Spencer's trial is set for October 11, at 11 a.m.

'APPRECIATION'

on Monday, October 10. Governor Dan K. Moore, at that time, will say a great big "Thank You" to the men from North Carolina and its military bases for their service to their country in Viet Nam. Hundreds of servicemen's children will be the honored guests of the Fair for that day. They and their families will be admitted to the Fair free of charge, treated to special shows free rides and for the kids, a genuine Midway lunch of hamburgers, hot dogs and bottled pop. In announcing plans for the day, Gov. Moore stated, "We want every man in Viet Nam to know that we in North Carolina appreciate the sacrifices he is making in the defense of freedom. We want to thank them by taking their children to State Fair. Too, we want these children to tell their fathers and mothers about going to State Fair. We want the children (where possible) to use the father's answering letter as their admission to State Fair." Those children and/or families who do not receive their fathers' letters in time can bring some other proof of service. Dr. Charles F. Carroll has recommended that local school officials consider this occasion for an excused absence for the children because of the patriotic merits involved and the educational benefits the children will receive. Special buses will be used to bring the children from areas around the several military installations. Children in these areas need only notify their teachers that they want to participate in "Operation Appreciation." Those families living away from the bases will need to provide their own transportation to and from Raleigh Fairgrounds. The entire family will be admitted on one letter or identification. On arrival at the Fairgrounds prior to 10 a.m., they are to ask directions of National Guardsmen to the Arena. Identification insignia, meal tickets and other material will be given to the children by the National Guard Association at the Dorton Arena. "Operation Appreciation" is a joint project of Gov. Moore, the National Guard Association,

The convention on Saturday will feature Attorney Kenneth Holbert, Director of Compliance, Equal Employment Opportunity Commission, Washington, D.C., and Attorney Donnell Hollowell, the first Negro Director appointed to head a southern regional office among all Government enforcement agencies. Attorney Hollowell is Regional Director, Equal Employment Opportunity Commission, Atlanta, Georgia. Saturday's session will also feature Robert L. Carter, General Counsel, NAACP, Lecturer, New York University School of Law. For the past 20 years, Mr. Carter has played a major role in devising the legal strategy and in the preparation, trial and appeal of cases establishing constitutional precedents in support of the drive to eliminate racial discrimination in this country. C.O. Pearson, chairman N.C. State Conference Legal Committee will preside over the sions on Administration of Justice. There will be initiated at this Convention an Annual C. O. Pearson Lawyers Award, in honor of Mr. Pearson who has given his life unselfishly to the Civil Rights struggle. The awards will be made at the Lawyers Luncheon to be held on Saturday afternoon. Luncheon Speaker will be Attorney Robert L. Carter.

NEGRO HISTORY

According to Dr. Charles H. Wesley, Executive Director of the Association and president emeritus of Central State University, "the new and accelerating awareness of the need for Americans to know more about Negro history will cause a record-breaking attendance at this session in Baltimore. There will be more universities and colleges participating than ever before and the active interest of top level government officials will be also at an all time high." Some of the outstanding government officials to appear are: Dr. Samuel B. Proctor, U.S. Institute for Services to Educators; Harold T. Pinkett, National Archives; John McDonough, Library of Congress; Dr. Samuel Z. Westerfield, Deputy Assistant Secretary of State for African Affairs; Phyllis A. Wallace, Federal Equal Opportunities Employment Commission; and James C. Harkless, Office of Economic Opportunity. Dr. Lorenzo J. Green of Lincoln University, (Mo.), president of the Association for the Study of Negro Life and History for the current year, has said, "Those who do not attend this session will miss such information which, as Americans, they should possess." Educational institutions large and small will have representatives present. Among these are: Yale, Morgan State College, Rhode Island College, Michigan State University, Southern Illinois University,

The Maddox triumph left a sick feeling in the stomach of many leading Georgians. Mayor Ivan Allen, Jr. of Atlanta called Maddox "a totally unqualified individual" and added, "The seal of the great state of Georgia has been tarnished." Dr. King said the Maddox victory made him "ashamed" to be a "Georgian." Maddox's victory, he said, is a "white backward step" which turned back the clock of history. "Unless the forces of reason take over," the rights leader added, "we're in for more trouble between the races." Maddox's election victory was interpreted as a triumph for the "white backlash," which is said to result from mounting racial disorder across the nation. Elsewhere in the country that "backlash" was threatening to split the Democratic party, bolster Republican strength in the South, and possibly produce a new segregationist party. Even worse, it could result in further political ambitions on a national level for Gov. George C. Wallace. According to Arkansas Gov. Orval E. Faubus, Wallace would be elected President today if he were running as a third party candidate against moderate Democratic and Republican nominees. Faubus said Wallace would make a good president. The Arkansas governor added that the segregationist Alabama chieftain could win easily because of a "white backlash" to Negro rioting. Wallace has threatened to run for President in 1968 as a third party candidate if neither of the two major parties nominates a conservative. Maddox's victory wasn't the only triumph for the "white backlash" Shortly before, George P. Mahoney had saved his campaign for governor of Maryland by opposing open housing. In Arkansas, Jim Johnson, a founder of the White Citizens Council, won nomination over five opponents who soft-pedaled the race issue in the Democratic governorship primary. In Louisiana, John R. Rarick won the Democratic nomination for a seat in the U.S. House of Representatives by labeling the incumbent, James H. Morrison, an ally of the "black power voting bloc." Result of the "white backlash" upsurge, said poll taker Lou Harris will possibly be a split in the Democratic party.

Chapel Hill News Of

BY MRS. SUSIE H. WEAVER
CHAPEL HILL--Mr. Rarford Farrington spent a few days with his parents Mr. and Mrs. Nathaniel Farrington, of Brooks St. and friends, before leaving for Utah. He is in the armed Services. Visiting in Chapel Hill are Mrs. Lucenda Mason, Thimite, and Baby, and Mrs. Lucille Frazier of Newark, N.J.; also Mrs. Lodewig Chappman, and daughter of New York. Each second and Fourth Sundays are Youth and Beginners Days at the St. Paul A.M.E. Church, Chapel Hill. The services are most beautiful. Sunday was Communion day at St. Paul. It was most sacred. While the Rev. T.P. Durhart preached, saying, "I was glad when they said, let us go into the House of the Lord, the Choir sang sweetly and souls were blessed. Mr. James Nunn has just entered Memorial Hospital to undergo surgery. The recently closed city-wide revival at First Baptist Church Chapel Hill had as guest speaker the Rev. W.T. Bigelow, of Greater St. Paul Baptist, Durham. A wonderful revival at the Church of God in Carboro has ended. The Evangelist was Rev. Scott of Baltimore, Md. A great revival just closed at the Obyrants Chapel Church. Different speakers were heard each evening, beginning with Rev. Thompson, and closed with Rev. Bellomy, of Second Baptist Church, Chapel Hill. Pastor the Rev. V. Horton. Mrs. Nannie Weaver, of 316 Lindsay St. Chapel Hill, celebrated her 95th birthday with a wonderful time. A lovely dinner was served to about a hundred, including her children which were all there except Mr. William Weaver, who had just left for Conn. From Washington, D.C. came Mrs. Earnestine Caldwell, Rev. Fred Weaver, Mrs. Betty Atwater, Mr. Bynum Weaver and Mrs. Johnnie M. Battle, all of Chapel Hill. She received telegrams, money, lovely gifts and beautiful flowers.

Moore Will Speak At Dist. Rally

Governor Dan K. Moore will be the principal speaker at the 4th Congressional District Rally in Raleigh on October 18, it was announced this week by Woodrow Teague Democratic Chairman for Wake County. The county chairman stated that one of the largest number of Democrats from this county are expecting to attend the dinner and Rally at the Memorial Auditorium in Raleigh at 6:30 p.m. Fourth District Representative Harold D. Cooley will introduce Governor Moore. He stated that all candidates from all seven counties in the district will be on hand. Earlier this week Congressman Cooley said an arrangements committee is being named by 4th district campaign committee members Thad Moser of Asheville and Mrs. Jo Ann Smith of Raleigh. Approximately 60 per cent of all purchases of Series E Savings Bonds are made through the Payroll Savings Plan. During the first six months of 1966, Americans purchased an approximate total number of 54 million U. S. Savings Bonds - the highest for the same period in 20 years.
