

From D. C. President Johnson To Push Housing

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Sweeping proposals that include a three-stage plan to end housing discrimination were outlined in President Johnson's civil rights message to Congress Wednesday.

All points touched on in the civil rights bill that failed last year, were reviewed and re-affirmed in the new package, including the disputed housing section that doomed the bill the first time.

The new bill, sources said, would provide for a gradual end to discrimination in the rental or sale of property rather than the outright ban proposed in the 1966 bill.

Using the pattern of the equal opportunity section of the 1964 Civil Rights Act, the new plan will provide a steadily more inclusive prohibition against housing bias, over a three year period.

The first year, open housing would be encouraged through conciliation agencies and federal inducements, but would remain voluntary.

The second year, however, it would become mandatory for large developments and apartments. Thereafter, the prohibition against racial discrimination in housing would apply to all buying and selling.

But it was reported that even when fully in effect the third year, the proposed law would exempt certain small-scale rental operations.

Roxboro Man Sentenced In Death Of 7-Yr. Old

ROXBORO - Estoria Clayton, whose case has taken several twists, was sentenced to not less than 5 years and more than 7 years, in Superior Court, at an annual session for the traffic-death of a 7-year-old school boy.

The state took a nolo pro with leave at a previous term of court but the case was called at last week's term of court. There was also a charge of hit and run driving lodged against Clayton, to which he pleaded guilty and was placed on probation. According to court-interested persons, there was no evidence that the defendant violated the terms of the probation.

The jury deliberated for one hour Saturday before returning a verdict of guilty. The jury was sent to its chambers at 2 p. m. and the verdict was returned at 3:05 p. m.

In Durham Teacher Held In Narcotics Charge

DURHAM - The long arm of the law stretched across almost half of the state in an effort to put an end to a dope traffic and when it closed in 8 persons, including Gossie Harold Hudson, 46-yr.-old Hillside High School German and history teacher, were arrested and jailed.

From evidence gathered here, much of it is alleged to have been furnished by Hudson, there was a ring that operated from a base, in and around Newbern. Knowledgeable persons report that the nefarious practice flourishes around army installations and it is believed this was sustained with the arrest of two marines.

Marine Private, Charles Hampton, Jr., 19, of Cherry Point, was placed in jail, and held subject to a $2,000 bond for alleged connections with the sale of the "weed." Marine Corporal, Albert E. L. Hawkins, Camp Lejeune, 22, was arrested on similar charges and received similar treatment.

Investigating officers are said to have had reason to believe that the plant was grown on the farm of Jim Brown, of near Oriental and the father of nine children. Officers allege that they found two large stands in Brown's home that contained the weed, along with three paper bags that contained the finished product.

They are said to have reason to believe that the plant was gathered and brought to Brown's home for curing. This they gestured, in view of the fact they found a screen wire used in the curing process, inside Brown's home. Brown was held under $5,000 bond.

Hudson was arrested on Jan. 25 and was immediately relieved of his teaching duties. Others arrested are: Sonnie Mack, 40, of New Bern, who is free under $4,000 bond on similar charges.

Maybue Smith, 31, of Messic, charged of marijuana. He is being held under $5,000 bond. Willie Louis Jones, alias "Frog" Jones, 23, of New Bern, charged with aiding and abetting in the sale of narcotic drugs. He is free under $2,000 bond. Charles Bryant Jr., 36, of New Bern and his wife, Alice Faye Bryant, 26, charged with possessing marijuana for sale. Both are free under $2,000 bond. SBI narcotics officer F. E. (Roy) Epps, stated the investigation began here last November with the "acquisition of two marijuana cigarettes" (commonly known as "sticks" or "joints"). All except Hudson were arrested this week.

Epps stated that an undercover agent working on the case was paying $150 per pound for (See TEACHER, P. 2)

Five Brothers In RACIAL SHOOT-OUT

P. Murphy Victimized By Strange Women

The time-worn story of finding a pocket book filled with money and should be divided among friends is still being used. Raleigh police report that the trick has changed with the times and more alluring techniques are being employed. This was found to be the case when Mrs. Pearl McNeil Murphy, 1215 Walnut Drive, was approached in the 200 block of Wilmington St., about 4 p.m., Friday.

Mrs. Murphy told police she was on Wilmington St., behind the Wachovia Bank, when she was approached by a woman, who began a conversation. She alleges the woman was about 30 years old, 5'6" tall, wearing a red dress, red coat and red turban. She said the woman was of medium complexion.

The victim was asked if she knew where a white lawyer could be found. The stranger told a fantastic story of how her husband had been killed in Vietnam and she did not think she had received enough money for the death of her husband. Mrs. Murphy is said to have told her that she did not know where she could find a white lawyer. About this time the two women were joined by another woman, 5' tall and weighing about 160 lbs. The third woman, was said to have had a bruised left eye and her eye ball was said to have been red. She is also said to have had a bruised left hand. She wore dark clothes, a dark turban and talked with a northern accent. The first woman's accent was said to be normal.

The third woman is said to have exhibited a pocket book, (See MRS. MURPHY, P. 2)

Husband Held In Death Of Burned Woman

LOS ANGELES, CALIF. - Local police officers are of the opinion that they have solved the death of a 22-year-old Durham, N.C. woman, whose body was found, burned beyond recognition, in a wooded section of Los Angeles County, by deer hunters, last November.

The husband of Mrs. Betty Peace Bradford is expected to be returned here to stand trial for the death-burning of his wife, whose body, when found, was burned so badly that the only way she was identified was by finger print. The Bradford man was arrested in Detroit and officers have worked to solve the murder since the body was found. Representatives of the Los Angeles Police Department were in Durham, this week, in connection with the case and left for Detroit, where they will bring the accused man here.

Mrs. Bradford's body was taken to the North Carolina city and buried. She lived with her aunt at 1205 Morehead Ave., and was a student at Hillside High School when she decided to leave and seek employment, in 1962. Persons who knew (See HUSBAND, P. 2)

Mrs. Powell Arrives To Face Husband's Investigating Com.

Mrs. Yvette Powell, who is reported as living in San Juan, while her husband is supposed to be holding forte in Bimini Retreat, in the Bahamas, arrived here Wednesday, flanked by her attorney, and told newsmen that she was ready to truthfully tell what she knew about her husband's affairs.

It is to be remembered that she repeatedly ignored past attempts, by the special House Committee, to determine Congressman Powell's ability to continue in the halls of the August body. Whether Mrs. Powell will be able to aid, or injure, her estranged husband, remains to be seen.

Humphrey Deplores Prejudice Anywhere

NEW YORK --Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey, in a candid assessment of human rights throughout the world, has characterized prejudice as one of the "greatest dangers to human survival today." He asserted that if the United States does not succeed in solving its problems of prejudice, "the cause of world peace and freedom will have suffered a serious--perhaps fatal--setback."

The Vice President made these statements in a pamphlet entitled "Race in a Changing World," issued here today on the 158th birthday of Abraham Lincoln by the AMERICAN JEWISH COMMITTEE, pioneer human relations agency in this country, in its new "American Conversations" pamphlet series.

Characterizing race prejudice as "not merely a local threat but a global one," Mr. Humphrey pointed out that "prejudice in one form or another seems to afflict most people of the world." He cited prejudice against the Chinese in Southeast Asia, Hindu-Muslim antagonism and African tribal warfare as some examples. Despite the magnitude of the problem, he was nonetheless hopeful, he said, that

Elks Plan Concerted Effort On NC Solons

Elks from throughout the state met here Saturday and after making plans for the annual meeting which will be held in Charlotte, in May, turned their attention to the task of getting employment for Negroes on the staffs of North Carolina solons.

President S.T. Enloe, of the No. 5 State Association, will serve as honorary chairman of a committee, that will stage a program on Appomattox Day to focus attention on the Negro's rise to citizenship in the South, this being the day that Lee surrendered to Grant. The observation program will be held in Raleigh or Durham. The committee will be named next week and its first meeting is scheduled for the first week in March.

The Elks decided to concentrate on Congressman Walter Jones of the first district, due to the large number of Negroes in the district and the fact that he had the support of many of them in his campaign for the position.

James C. Gardner, who had the support of many Negroes of both parties in his successful bid against the veteran Harold Cooley and his announcement that he was going to set up offices throughout his district, was also agreed upon as a solon who might be favorable to considering to the appointment of Negroes to his

EDITORIAL FEATURE The Thought Exchange

SULLIVANISM EXAMINED
Last week we made bold to compare Sullivanism and Powellism. In this release we are attempting to show just what Sullivanism really is, in part, at least. The Reverend Leon Sullivan is pastor of one of Philadelphia's most renowned Baptist churches, The Mount Zion Baptist Church. He is a man of considerable learning, with an A.M. degree from one of the reputable institutions of learning. He founded and now heads the Opportunities Industrialization Center, which is fast becoming known around the world. In one of his institutes leaders come from as far disparate points as Oklahoma and Massachusetts, Virginia and California, and points within and between. When the Wall Street Journal and Reader's Digest and Philadelphia Enquirer and the Christian Herald "sit up and take notice" something unusual must be going on! An account of the OIC in the Philadelphia Tribune, celebrated Negro Journal, set my curiosity in motion, and upon my request sent quite a batch of literature which reveals food for thought for the Negro race, even our leaders who seem to be short of leadership gas. Charity is supposed to begin at home, and that is exactly what the OIC has done with four centers in the City of Philadelphia. At one center the people are being offered training in restaurant practices, commercial cooking, chemistry laboratory technician, sheet metal teletype, power sewing machine tool operation, electronic assembly drafting and welding. At another center training is being offered in laundry and dry cleaning, power sewing, plumbing, refrigeration air-conditioning and heating, brick masonry, clerk-typist and electricity. At still another center we find training in merchandising-marketing, small business management, real estate sales preparation, IBM key-punch operation, electronics technician, computer technology, secretarial science, office machine operation; and finally in another center we find training for those seeking
