is right. What a person does or does not do, what he says or does not say hardly matters. He is judged right or wrong according to his race with the result: the race argument is over-worked daily. The race appeal is a source of great wickedness. The white man accuses his sins on the ground of race, and so do the Negro. He has learned his lesson from the white man. To Negroes, every and all Negroes are right irrespective of what they do because they are Negroes. And by the same reasoning every white man is wrong. What Jews and the Bible say are outrageous and foreign matters. Race is at the steering wheel of the Twentieth Century world. Race emphasizes has brought the white man and his civilization to the brink of catastrophe, and yet the Negro follows blindly on, and wherever the white man leads he may be sure he will have Negro company. Whether his Heaven or Hell if the white man leads our world and its civilization, he will still have his race problem for Negroes will be arriving on the first train or plane. Great Martin Luther King gave promise of leading the Negro to breast the tide of racism, and like Gandhi had broken with the white man's ways with his teaching of non-violence. Soon Dr. King was preaching non-violence on the one hand and tacitly commending it on the other. He condemned rioting on the one hand and gave rioting subtle encouragement on the other; by threatening the white structure with rioting if certain things were not done and done "NOW." Those things have not been done and are not being done "NOW." We need a Negro leader or leaders who are too big to imitate the white man's damnable vices. Mark you, dear reader, Nietzsche and Hitler came out of Germany, and what powers they were and are! Karl Marx, whose communism is threatening the world, with only the United States to challenge its advance, was a German! Might over right; race over right; communism over democracy, and all German ideologies. Race and right, godly-race versus right, damnable and dangerous!

Philadelphia, Pa. The eulogy was delivered by Rev. Percy High. The Rev. L. H. Wade, White Plains, N. Y., and the immediate former pastor of First Baptist, were in charge of the services. He was pastor of First Baptist, was in charge of the services. He was assisted by Revs. T. H. Brooks and Dr. A. S. Eider, president-emeritus of North Carolina College, who read the condolences, including a telegram from Lydia Baines Johnson.

The Rev. Mr. Shepard, 67, died in the University of Pennsylvania Hospital several days after a team of neurosurgeons removed a brain tumor in a two-hour long operation.

The deceased succumbed before completion of one of his church's most progressive projects—a huge housing development and church center adjacent to the 42nd and Wallace St. church, bordering Havelord Ave., on the South.

KNOWN NATIONALLY in both church and political circles the Rev. Mr. Shepard was born in Oxford, N.C., where the body will be interred, the son of Robert and Patti Gilliam Shepard, on July 10, 1899.

He survived by his wife, the former Lucille Owens, two sons, Marshall Lorenzo, Jr., assistant pastor of Mt. Olivet; Samuel, a brother, sister and two grandchildren.

The Rev. Mr. Shepard first gained national prominence in 1934, while serving his first year as a member of the Pennsylvania State Legislature, as the first colored clergyman to offer the invocation at a Democratic National Convention.

The event caused national headlines when the late Sen. (Cotton Ed) Ellison D. Smith of South Carolina, walked out of the convention in protest.

Possessed of a great sense of humor both on the platform of oratory and in his pulpit, the Rev. Mr. Shepard again offered the invocation at the Democratic Convention in 1948 nominating President Harry S. Truman, and brought gales of laughter when he quipped:

"If Cotton Ed walks out of here again today, I'm going with him." The South Carolina senator had been dead several years.

ment. It was in 1911 that he joined with the late Dr. Ernest Just, now Bishop Love and Dr. Oscar Cooper, in seeking to build an organization that would promote better understanding among students of college campuses, in scholarship, manhood, perseverance and uplift. They succeeded in founding the Omega Psi Phi Fraternity and its principles are the guide lines for 25,000 members throughout the world.

many in the summer of that year.

Under his direction, the AFRO became the largest colored-owned newspaper in the nation.

He held memberships in numerous civic, educational, fraternal, and publishers' organizations.

He is credited with being the chief architect of the expansion program at Morgan State College and the Fine Arts Building and auditorium near the entrance to the campus bears his name.

The Carl Murphy Scholarship Fund which enables African students to study at Morgan was created in 1933 in his honor.

Dr. Murphy received the Baltimore Chapter of the NAACP in 1935 and had been a member of the organization's national board of directors since 1931. In 1935 the NAACP awarded him the coveted Spingarn Medal for distinguished leadership.

He was also a member of the President's Post Office Advisory Board and a Presidential Elector for the State of Maryland in 1960.

33rd degree Mason, Commander, Order of the Star of Africa, Monrovia, Liberia, Dr. Murphy received the Outstanding Scottish Rite Mason Man of the Year Award in 1954.

He was also recipient of the Omega Psi Phi Fraternity Achievement Awards in 1939 and 1954. Honors also included the Social Action Achievement Award of Phi Beta Sigma Fraternity, National Urban League American Teamwork Award. Also honorary degrees from Central State College, Wilberforce, Ohio and Lincoln University, Lincoln, Pa.

Survivors include his wife, Mrs. Lillian Parrot Murphy; six daughters: Mesdames A. Paul Moss, S. Edward Smith, Leeland N. Jones, Jr., Buffalo, N. Y.; Robert W. Matthews, 3rd, Clarence Henderson, and Marvin Davis.

Balley said his bill would "take the ministers out of the testifying business as to any information furnished him in which a person is seeking spiritual counsel."

"It would enable people with marital problems to go to a clergyman and discuss their problems without the minister warning them that what they say could be used in court," he said.

Balley, a Methodist, said he had discussed the bill only with his own minister in Winston-Salem and not with any group or organization.

The N.C. Council of Churches is seeking legislation that would permit a clergyman to refuse to reveal confidential information. The N.C. Baptist State Convention passed a resolution supporting "privileged communication" at its November meeting.

The Justice Department previously had used the equal employment section of the Civil Rights Act to bring suits against two labor organizations, but none had been filed against an employer.

Dillon Supply Co., with its main office in Raleigh, has four branch offices in North Carolina and one in South Carolina. The firm sells industrial equipment and supplies.

The government alleged that "substantially all of the Negro employees are in menial and low paying job categories" and that "all supervisory and clerical positions are held by white persons."

The complaint charged further that "the defendant follows a policy and practice of discrimination in employment against Negroes on account of their race" in violation of the Civil Rights Act.

Mr. Wilbert Adams, 603 S. West Street, picked up his laundry at Oak City Laundry, 436 S. Salisbury Street, and picked up ticket #436. This ticket enabled him to pick up $15,00 at the CAROLINIAN, 2671 was not picked up and therefore, $25.00 went begging. Perhaps if you had visited one of the stores, listed on the SWEEPSTAKES page, you would have picked it up and would have been $25 richer. Mr. Adams said, "I feel alright and will buy some groceries with the prize money." Don't miss the money this week by not getting a ticket. Go to one of all the stores, week, and ask for a ticket. If you get 4068, you will win $50.00. 5782 will give you $15.00, and 3173 is good for $10.00. The tickets are pink and dated February 23.

presenting the school. The delegation came, Moore listened and nothing was decided. The delegation reported that the governor was courteous, attentive and even pleasant, but did not give any inkling as to the impression made on him.

H. H. Michaux, spokesman for the delegation, told the CAROLINIAN that the delegation would be taking its case to the legislature Thursday, in the hope it would lend a cooperative ear.

Attending the meeting were Dean D. G. Sampson, who heads school, Attorney William G. Pearson, Attorney H. M. Michaux Jr., who is president of the NCC Alumni Association; Moses Burt of Durham, who is general counsel for the North Carolina Fund; Dr. J. H. Brewer, NCC professor and representative of the Durham Committee on Negro affairs; and Attorney William Marshall, an alumni association representative active in the George White Bar Association in Durham.

Fred Smith, superintendent of the county schools, is still at a loss to determine how many Negro students will be attending schools where white students are in the majority and by the same token he does not know how many white students will be attending schools where Negroes will be in the majority.

by. He does know that there are about 25,000 students attending the county schools and that about 9,000 of them are Negroes. At the present time there are only about 500 Negroes believed to be attending predominantly white schools. Federal education officials have told the school board that dual schools for Negro and white students must be eliminated in the county school system by the start of the 1968-70 school term.

The move by the school board to fully integrate all new schools also will affect a new high school in Garner scheduled to open next fall. "Whenever we build a new school, it's the policy of the board to integrate," Smith said.

Members of the Cary Schools Advisory Council were at the meeting and offered no objections to the desegregation plan.

points that concern the masses of Negroes in the State.

The current injustices, discriminations and failure of the Negroes of North Carolina to acquire equal and complete citizenship is due to the apparent lethargy, apathy and unconcern of the current Negro leaders in North Carolina.

The time is "now" for such leaders as the following to come together and plan a strategy which will point the way and give guidance for a united attack upon all of the reactionary forces in North Carolina that are designed to keep Negroes in the category of second-class citizens: The President and Executive Secretary of the Baptist State Convention, the Bishops and Presiding Elders of the Methodist Church, and other leaders of the State religious denominations; the Editors of the Negro Newspapers, the President and Executive Secretary of the North Carolina Negro Teachers Association, the President of the State the manner in which they witnessed the tremendous political pressures created by the highly emotional furor which has clouded the real issues in the minds of many Americans."

Although Mr. Conyers expressed his agreement at a morning press conference with the Committee's report regarding the seating of Mr. Powell, he stated that he had filed an additional statement in the report pointing up his disagreement with the Committee's other recommendations. "I believe that our exclusive responsibility was to determine whether or not his constituents would be denied their constitutional rights were he not seated," said Conyers. "I do not feel that the Committee should further confuse the issue by combining two grave constitutional questions. Mr. Powell's conduct while a Member of Congress is a totally different and separate issue from his right to be seated. The conduct of a Member is beyond the purview of a committee specifically set up to determine whether or not he should be seated."

In his additional statement, Congressman Conyers pointed out that Mr. Powell and his attorneys should have been granted the right to cross examine the witnesses against him; that at no time did he feel that Mr.

Powell had been disrespectful in his actions toward the Committee or the Congress; and that the punitive measures recommended by the Committee were unprecedented in the history of the Congress. "A review of all cases of alleged misconduct brought before the House and Senate indicates that punishment has never exceeded censure," declared Conyers. "There is no precedent for the removal of accumulated seniority combined with a monetary assessment as has been proposed in the Powell case."

Jackson Killing, which Gov. Paul Johnson labelled a "heinous and senseless murder." Johnson assigned state investigators to the case until it is solved.

Officials of Natchez, where National Guardsmen had to keep racial peace for several weeks last year, vowed that every ekfort would be made to apprehend the persons responsible for the "Dastardly Crime" that shattered six months of tranquility.

Evers, whose brother, Medgar, was killed by a sniper, at his home, in Jackson, in 1963, after attending a Civil Rights meeting, led about 2,000 Negroes to the Armstrong Plant Tuesday night. But guards had closed the gates of the chain link fence. The demonstrators then went to the place where Jackson died.

"This is the spot. I will always remember that a Negro gave his life here because he was trying to provide a better life for his wife and children, the Negro can no longer be brutalized or killed," Evers said.

About two dozen policemen guarded the Negroes during the march that mostly was in Negro districts, but went through several blocks of white residences. There were no white spectators and no incidents.

In Meridian a sheriff, his chief deputy and the head of one of the nation's most militant Ku Klux Klan groups faced federal conspiracy charges Wednesday in the 1964 slaying of three young Civil Rights workers.
