Pleasant Grove Union School

BY SANDRA BURTON AND GENEVIE BURTON
Section C encompasses the twenty-eight six-year olds who entered Pleasant Grove Union School last month on their first lone hand venture in life.

From all indications they seem to be enjoying every minute of their unfeared adventures outside their own back yard.

The majority of these boys and girls have adjusted and now consider themselves old hands at their business of education. Just what are the tots doing constructive in such a short time?

With the new conception of teaching, these tots have been guided into the mechanics of learning.

Mediums which we have used for guidance are tender feelings and understanding through picture study, words, stories dramatization, reading, writing, drawing, science, health, and music. This knowledge has been injected in these young minds at a rate which is calculated to suit each individual pupil's ability to absorb it.

We are very proud of the growth of our first month of school. Teacher is Miss D. D. Holt.

Second and third grade classes are receiving music in formation from an instructional program for the primary grades using television.

The title of the program is "Exploring the World of Science," sponsored by the North Carolina Department of Public Instruction prepared for the Comprehensive School Improvement Project with the cooperation of the Division of Instructional Services.

The children are using the study along with their regular science class. Mrs. M. M. Harris is instructor.

The 4th grade section A presented a program Oct. 10, which consisted of manners in school, Columbus Day and Halloween.

The remainder of the class participated in choral reading and singing. Mrs. P. W. Siler is teacher.

Prevention and Control Act of 1967
The House has passed and sent to the Senate the Juvenile Delinquency Prevention and Control Act of 1967. The bill as it stands authorizes $25 million this year for assisting the state and local governments in providing detention facilities and training schools for rehabilitating youth who are delinquent or are in danger of becoming delinquent.

The schools, called "halfway houses," are training homes for youngsters who are between probation and formal commitment or those who are "halfway" out of correctional institutions. The House tacked on two amendments to the bill before sending it to the Senate. One amendment transferred the major control over the expenditures of funds from the Department of Health, Education and Welfare to state and local governments. The second amendment prohibits the Office of Economic Opportunity from using any of the money authorized by this bill in its "war on poverty."

I voted for both of these amendments and am pleased that they both were passed.

Merrick-Moore Barely Makes It Over Nash
NASHVILLE - Harry Edmond's clawing Tigers, from Durham County's Merrick-Moore, did not fare too well in statistics Friday night, and barely edged Nash Central 6-0. The Nash County boys made 13 first downs to the Tigers' 13. The Durham County boys made only 185 yards on the ground and in the air, while Nash gained 175. The Tigers completed 3 out of 5 passes, while Nash completed 6 out of 8. Neither team showed much punting ability. They both fumbled once. Merrick-Moore was penalized 85 yards and Nash 75. Herman Anderson, scored the only touchdown of the night midway in the second period after the Tigers had taken over on downs at the Nash 37. The Tigers took over when the Falcons were charged with clipping on fourth down. Walter Dash, fullback, initiated the four-play series on a seven yard sard up the middle. Anderson, a junior halfback, then unreeled a 22-yard run to bring the Tigers inside the Falcons' ten. After Dash bulled two more yards, Anderson raced six yards for the score. The Tigers then elected to kick the conversion. The snap from center was too high for Bernard Bobbitt to put down for the kick, so he attempted to run it. The Falcons' defense was on top of the play and downed him five yards short of the goal. Nash Central didn't launch a serious threat until early in the third quarter. Penalties hampered the Falcons though, as they penetrated Tiger territory for the first and last time. Later in the same period, the Tigers made a bid for a second touchdown. Taking over on downs on the Falcon 40, they drove to the 20. John McLaurin passed 15 yards to and Michael Turrentine, but five yards and four downs later, Merrick-Moore's hopes fizzled. Merrick-Moore now has a 6-0 record in the conference and a 5-1 overall record. Nash Central is 3-2 over-all and in the conference.

Apex News
BY MRS. LOUISE COLVIN
APEX - The young adult choir was in charge of devotion for the 11 a. m. worship service, and did a good job of rendering the music. The speaker was Rev. S. W. Williams. His text was taken from the book of Romans 8:35, subject, "Tried Salvation?" It was an interesting and most informative sermon. We especially like his way of falter call. Many went up for prayer, for strength and courage. As the minister pointed out, we all need prayer. This is a beautiful world, but with a lot of cruelty in it. We are looking forward to listening to him again. Rev. S. T. Harris of Raleigh will be the guest speaker for our Sunday morning service and Holy Communion will follow. We invite you to worship with us if possible. Sunday after at 2:30 the First Baptist Church observed its 13th homecoming. Deacon J. F. Hunter presided. Deacon A. L. Justice gave the invocation, Deacon Elmo Thorpe the welcoming address. Mrs. Telson Perry a member of Fayetteville St. Baptist Church, gave the response. Mrs. Bernice Bullock read the church history. Mrs. E. H. Williams introduced the speakers. Rev. W. B. Lewis, pastor of the Fayetteville St. Baptist Church, delivered a most fitting sermon. His text was taken from the book of St. Mark 5:19, subject, "Come Home." Rev. Lewis Gospel choir rendered the music and sang to the glory of God. We gratefully appreciate Rev. Lewis and his assistant for rendering such a fine service. His ushers also accompanied him. Visiting ministers were: Revs. S. W. Williams, Hooker, and Patrick Burt. Money raised was $2,926.97. Our goal is $3,000. We are thankful to God for the success of the program. The ladies had gobs of food beautifully arranged. PERSONALS
On Saturday, Ronnie Bigelow and Irene Hedgepeth of Durham, visited Teresa and Robert Corfield. Sunday afternoon, Patricia Bigelow was the guest of Teresa and Robert. They had a long visit, and motored to Monroeville, to visit the former Cathy Taylor and her husband. We were happy to see Ida Mae Leth home for the weekend. She pop called on Teresa. We happened to see Patricia Smith home also for the weekend. Both girls attend Kittrell Jr. College. We were happy to have word-

LINCOLNVILLE AME - The Sunday School lesson was entitled, "Is God Really In Charge?" It was answered by the Sunday School scholars of Lincolville AME Church. The answer was found in the memory selection which stated, "God reigns over the nations. God sits on His holy throne." The teachers were at their best. A brief summary of the lesson was given by Melvin Jones. The banner offering went to class # 5, teacher, Miss Judith Hall. The banner attendance went to class # 5, teacher, Miss Dianne Pennington. The total attendance was 31. Everyone is invited each Sunday. The Richard Allen Youth Council met Sunday afternoon at 4 p. m. with the president Irvin Shaw presiding. This was the first meeting for the RAYC since their organization. It was very well attended. Committees were formed and plans began for the operation and success of the council. The young people are beginning an organization to promote christian education in the church and assume the task of responsibilities in the church program. Some of the members of Lincolville attended the Sunday School night and fellowship program at the St. John AME Church Sunday night. The topic for discussion was "The Test of the Holy Spirit." We had eight classes. The teachers were Ross Fowler, Mrs. Clara Ballew, Mrs. Harrison, W. A. Wilder, W. A. Rainbow, James White, Alton Matthews, George Tucker, and Mrs. Millie Veasey. Mrs. Bessie P. Hall presided over the program. Miss DeVonne Hemry acted as secretary. Mrs. Millie Veasey of St. Ambrose Church gave a summary of the lesson. Ministers present were Rev. E. E. Worthy, Rev. B. L. Hemby, Rev. Earl Wilson and Rev. Bailey. These Sunday School fellowship programs have been very inspiring and very helpful. We do hope that there will be another one in this vicinity soon. Prayers went out Sunday morning for Mrs. Pearlite McCullers, one of our members who was very fruitful in attending Sunday School, has been ill for some time. Mrs. Bessie P. Hall and her daughter, Judith, will celebrate their birthdays on Oct. 21 and Oct. 22. Birthdays are real blessings. The pastor, Rev. Isaiah Andrews conducted services at St. Mary's AME Church in Apex Sunday. We invite you to fellowship with us the 4th Sunday in October. A THOUGHT

CARY - Union Bethel AME services were held with Sunday School beginning at 10 a. m. The Supt., M. L. Jones was in charge. Worship services opened at 11 a. m. The senior choir was in charge of music. Scripture lesson was read by Leon Statton from the book of St. Mark 10:29 verse and St. Matthew 19:27 verse, theme: "What Shall We Have There?" The pastor, Rev. E. M. Hemby, delivered a very spiritual message. He admonished us to live a christian life. Visitors are always welcome to our services. Sunday afternoon was Rally Day. The guest speakers were Sisters Hemby of St. John A. E. Church and Sister Annie Hooker of Lincolville AME. Sister Hooker's subject was taken from St. Matthew 28:36, subject, "If Jesus Had to Pray, What About Us?" Sister Hemby's subject was taken from the Book of Psalms, "Wait On The Lord." The subjects were inspiring. Music was rendered by the St. John's choir and the Voices of Harmony from Lincolville AME Church. This program was sponsored by Mrs. Mary L. Jones for the building fund. A nice sum was acknowledged.
