TOWN NAMES

LUSAKA - Zambia is about to extend its Africanization program to include the names of some of the principal towns throughout the country. Up for changing are Broken Hill (Kabwe), Abercorn (Mbala), Fort Rosebery (Manse), Bancroft (Chitilaomwe) and Fort Jameson Chopeta.

MASERU - Lesotho (formerly Basutoland) has entered into an air service agreement with Africa for twice weekly air travel between Johannesburg and Maseru. The agreements call for Lesotho airways and South African Airways to alternate weekly the round trip flight between Maseru and Johannesburg.

UNDER CABINET STATUS
CANBERRA - A new look has come into the Australian government, with the establishment of an Office of Aboriginal Affairs, as a means of coordinating policy and providing machinery for consultation between state and federal departments relating to the country's 130,000 aborigines. Aim of the new office is to help the aborigines become an integral part of the Australian community life.

WHAT'S ITS NAME???
RIO DE JANEIRO - Brazil, by any other name, is still Brazil, but some confusion has erupted over just what the correct official designation of the country is. Under the old 1946 constitution, the country was known as "United States of Brazil." The new constitution labels it "Constitution of Brazil," while a bill has been introduced in Parliament to make it "Republic of Brazil." Still, the air ministry wants the country to be known simply by its popular name, "Brazil," and the foreign ministry prefers "State of Brazil."

METRO IN MEXICO
MEXICO CITY - The Metro (subway) is expected to be in operation in the capital city by June, 1969, and will provide initially three key sections. One section will link the northern limits of the city with a southern suburb; another will run from Chapultepec park in the west, to the International airport, in the east, and the third will traverse a northwest residential area through an industrial suburb to Ecaco, in the center of the city. Total cost, is expected to be around $200 million.

HIGH SCHOOL
LUBWA, Zambia - Honoree and dedicatory speaker at the opening of a new high school in the Northern Province recently was Zambia's President Kenneth Kaunda. And the name of the school appropriately is the Kenneth Kaunda Secondary School, recently completed to handle a portion of the 34,206 pupils throughout the country who have reached high school age.

SELF-RULE
PRETORIA - Self-rule of a sort is coming to the Bantu (black African) authorities in the near future. According to the government, each territorial authority will be given greater responsibility in such internal areas as finance, economic development, community affairs, educational and culture and justice.

RESTRUCTURE
NEW YORK - An eight-point plan to restructure the Commission on Religion and Race, United Presbyterian Church, was approved by CORAR's executive committee last month. The proposal, is aimed at strengthening the entire program of the church in matters of race for the ensuing years.

Ex-SNCC Executive Secretary Dies

On Saturday, Oct. 7, Ruby Doris Robinson (Former Executive Secretary of the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee) passed away after 10 months of severe illness. Ruby Doris was born April 25, 1942 in Atlanta, Ga., to the Rev. and Mrs. James Smith, attended the Price High school and enrolled in Spelman College in 1960.

During her freshman year she became involved in the struggle for black liberation. Her activities included the following:

1. Working with the NAACP Youth Council as the Georgia representative.
2. Active with the Atlanta Committee on Appeal for Human Rights (Atlanta Student Movement), Ruby, along with State Representative Julian Bond and others, organized the Atlanta Movement, and from that point on the remainder of her life was dedicated toward the liberation of her people.
3. In 1960, Ruby attended the founding conference of the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee in Raleigh. She was one of the original Freedom Riders to arrive in Jackson, Mississippi, and was jailed for 42 days in Parchman Penitentiary as a result of that ride. (Charge: "Preach of Peace.")
4. Ruby was one of the first activists in the Sit-In Movement, which resulted in a 32 day jail sentence in Rock Hill, S. C. after demonstrating in February, 1961. (Charge: "Trespassing.")
5. She was arrested on eight other occasions on charges stemming from various protest demonstrations and direct-action tactics, which caused her to serve an additional 17 days in jail.

6. As a full time staff member of SNCC, Ruby worked in Nashville, Tenn., McComb, Miss., Atlanta, Ga., Charleston, S. C., Albany, Ga. and many other areas. She has served as Personnel Officer, Southern Student Coordinator, and Book-keeper for SNCC, as well as the administrator of the Sojourner Motor Fleet, which provides a ment workers in eight southern states.

7. In May, 1966, she was elected Executive Secretary of SNCC. Ruby Doris (Smith) was married in 1964 to Clifford Robinson of Atlanta, Ga., and gave birth to her son Kenneth Toure (named after President Sekou Toure of Guinea) in 1965.

Despite the many obstacles she encountered while participating in the struggle for black people, Ruby was able to maintain her family life and complete her college education from Spelman in 1965. In May, 1966, she was elected Executive Secretary of SNCC, but unfortunately could not complete her term after becoming critically ill in January 1967.

Ruby's passing is especially tragic for all those involved in the struggle for human rights and the liberation of black people. During her seven years in the "Movement" she was the heartbeat of SNCC, as well as one of its most dedicated administrators.

THE VETERAN'S CORNER

EDITOR'S NOTE: Below are authoritative answers by the Veterans Administration to some of the many current questions from former servicemen and their families. Further information on veterans benefits may be obtained at any VA office.

Q--I am the parent of a veteran who draws compensation for service incurred disabilities. How much income can I have and continue to be considered a dependent?

A--Each case must be determined on its own merits since dependency of the parent must be established. The payment to the veteran is based on the fact that he is responsible for the principal support of his parent.

Q--As a non-veteran, may I buy a G. I. home when it has been repossessed and again offered for sale?

A--The Veterans Administration has for sale to anyone who can qualify as to credit standing a large number of homes which have been foreclosed following non-payment by the G. I. purchaser. See your real estate broker, since most brokers are cooperating with the VA, to find out if any of these homes are in your area.

Yes, We All Talk

BY MARCUS H. BOULWARE

CHICAGO, Ill. - While looking through the periodical room last week, I came across your article on "Coping with problems of snoring children" in the May, 1966 issue of Rehabilitation Literature. Your profession is speech pathology, and I am wondering how did you get concerned in such an unrelated field. -- C. L. N.

ANSWER: From the viewpoint of oral communication, the article may seem far afield. However, from the respiratory (scientific) viewpoint, there is a relationship. For instance, speech is a superimposed function of the respiratory system, while snoring (sonorous breathing) is an abnormal function physiologically.

Often an organic dysfunction will cause snoring and, secondly, a speech or voice disorder. For instance, obstructions in the nasal cavities may cause snoring as well as the voice problem hypersensitivity.

Sonorous breathing is an interesting study, and those desiring a source list should send for my bibliography on sonorous breathing for two dollars to defray cost of publication and postage.
