

J. L. MALBON D. L. BRADLEY B. H. ALSTON

Norfolk Oil Dealers Honored; One Has 45 Years Of Service

NORFOLK - Leaders in many segments of community life in Norfolk, Va., joined Humble Oil & Refining Company in honoring B. H. Alston, above right, one of the longest-service dealers among more than 31,000 operators of Humble's Esso and Enco stations throughout the country, and J. L. Malbon, another Norfolk independent businessman, who has represented the nation's largest refiner and marketer of petroleum products for 20 years.

D. L. Bradley, Humble's assistant Norfolk District manager, presided at the banquet in the Golden Triangle Hotel at which Mr. Malbon, left, received a 20-year plaque and Mr. Alston received a plaque signifying 45 years of continuous association with the Esso marketing organization. In the photo, Mr. Bradley simultaneously congratulates the guests of honor after the plaque presentations.

The first two Esso stations that Mr. Alston operated were not as durable as their veteran proprietor, who is still active in his mid-eighties.

Few independent dealers for Humble or any other oil marketer can say, as Mr. Alston can, that they have "worn out two company buildings and are working on a third," Mr. Bradley told the audience of about 70 people - including doctors, lawyers, clergy and educators; political, civic and business leaders; and a delegation of Humble officials.

Mr. Alston has received other citations and awards in his long career as an Esso dealer, but said afterward that previous honors were "eclipsed" by the latest tribute from his fellow citizens and business associates. He and Mr. Malbon have both been active participants in community and civic affairs.

Paul D. Malboeuf, manager, General Parts Division, Industrial Relations Office, Ford Motor Company, Ypsilanti, Michigan, will be the second speaker in Shaw University's Annual Public Affairs Forum series when he is heard in Spaulding Gymnasium on the campus, at 11:30 a. m. Friday, Jan. 12.

Mr. Malboeuf, who holds the B. S. degree in business administration from Salem State College in Massachusetts, was awarded an M. A. degree in education from Worcester, Mass.'s Clark University.

He assumed his present position in November of 1966, after being promoted from manager, training department of the Industrial Relations Staff.

The Shaw speaker joined the Ford Motor Company in September of 1950, serving as an Industrial Relations Trainee at Ford's Somerville Assembly Plant.

From 1942 until 1946, Mr. Malboeuf was a Lieutenant, College Recruiter, and Boat Group Commander in the United States Navy.

He has served as teacher, department head and vice principal of several high schools in New England, as well as County Organizer, Massachusetts State Republican Party.

The public is invited to hear Mr. Malboeuf.

Virginia Pilot Directs Testing Of World's Most Advanced Bomber

NELLIS AIR FORCE BASE, Nev. - Testing of the world's most advanced fighter - bomber - the F-111A - is being directed by Lt. Col. James E. P. Randall, a 41-year-old Air Force fighter pilot from Roanoke, Va.

Col. Randall, whose alma mater is Hampton institute, is operations and plans officer for the operational testing and evaluation of the bomber's weapons system.

This evaluation, known as Category III Test, is being conducted at the U. S. Air Force Tactical Fighter Weapons center. During the testing, Col. Randall and other Air Force Technical command veteran fighters are refining the tactics and techniques that will be employed by F-111 crews should the new fighter be assigned to combat.

A veteran of 75 combat missions during the Korean conflict, Col. Randall is a command pilot with more than 6,000 flying hours. He has been associated with tactical fighter aircraft since he joined the Air Force in 1949.

Where The $ Is

LOS ANGELES (NPI) - Which college degree will bring in the most money after graduation? A survey of recent UCLA graduates shows that engineers are drawing the biggest monthly paycheck $735--compared to $537 for social science graduates. In general, technology and business-oriented graduates are making top dollar. However, the survey did point out that social science graduates while often starting at lower pay frequently move up to better paying positions than engineers and accountants.

Highest In Scouting Guion Receives Silver Beaver

Adolph Gulon, scoutmaster of Troop 108, was presented the Silver Beaver Award, highest adult honor in Boy Scouting.

Presentation was made at Antioch Baptist Church by C. I. Bland, chairman of Torhunta District Number 8.

A native of Savannah, Ga., he is one of 14 children born to John and Rose Morning. He acquired the name Gulon from a white family who raised him.

Gulon grew up in eastern North Carolina at Bristan, near New Bern, on the farm of Charles Gulon, where he learned a variety of things to do, and much of his philosophy of life. Gulon quit school at an early age and went to work as a hay baller. Though a dropout, he urges his boys to stay in and finish school. He says he was lucky as he has never been in trouble. He attributes reason to strong guidance from his guardians, he now attends night school.

Remissing, Gulon says he was in a group once that use to give service to their community, but were not called Boy Scouts, however their function was about the same, running errands for neighbors, catching chickens hitching up the horses or mules and etc. This kept him so busy, he did not have time to get into trouble. They also went hunting and fishing.

Gulon is a veteran of 4 1/2 years of military service, with overseas duty in Germany. He was a cook, which comes in handy now as a Scoutmaster. He is a family man. His first wife was Mattie E. Robinson of Pollockville. They had six children, all grown. His second wife is Lonnie Mae Weeks and they have one child.

The award winning scoutmaster is a mason and an Elk, and attends Antioch Baptist Church.

Gulon came to Goldsboro five years ago with Vasco Construction Company to work at Carolina Power and Light Plant at Quaker Neck. He liked Goldsboro and stayed when the job was completed. He joined Bryant-Best post 215, American Legion and was assigned to the boy scout troop 108 as assistant master. The next year he was named master, a post he still holds.

7 Convicted Of Slayings Still Free

JACKSON, Miss. - Seven white men remained free on bond after being sentenced to prison terms in the 1964 slaying of three civil rights workers.

U. S. District Judge Harold Cox, in sentencing them from three to 10 years allowed them to remain free on bond pending an appeal of the conviction to the Fifth U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals.

Although the seven men still weren't behind bars, their sentence signaled an end in Mississippi to the days when white officials could conspire against Negroes and civil rights workers with impunity.

Reputed Ku Klux Klan leader Samuel H. Bowers, Jr., and Alton Wayne Roberts, a former Meridian nightclub bouncer drew a maximum federal penalty - 10 years on a conspiracy charge.

The seven were convicted of conspiring to violate the Constitution rights of civil rights workers, James Chaney, Meridian; and Michael Schwerner and Andrew Goodman, New York.

As murder is not a federal crime, except on government property, the seven men were convicted on a federal conspiracy charge.

Ohio City Taps Woman As Mayor

SPRINGFIELD, Ohio - First, a Negro mayor. And now a woman mayor.

This city has capped Robert C. Henry's selection as the first Negro mayor of a large American city by naming the first woman mayor in its history. She is Mrs. Betty Brunk, wife of dentist, who was elected by fellow city commissioners to succeed Henry. She will serve two years.

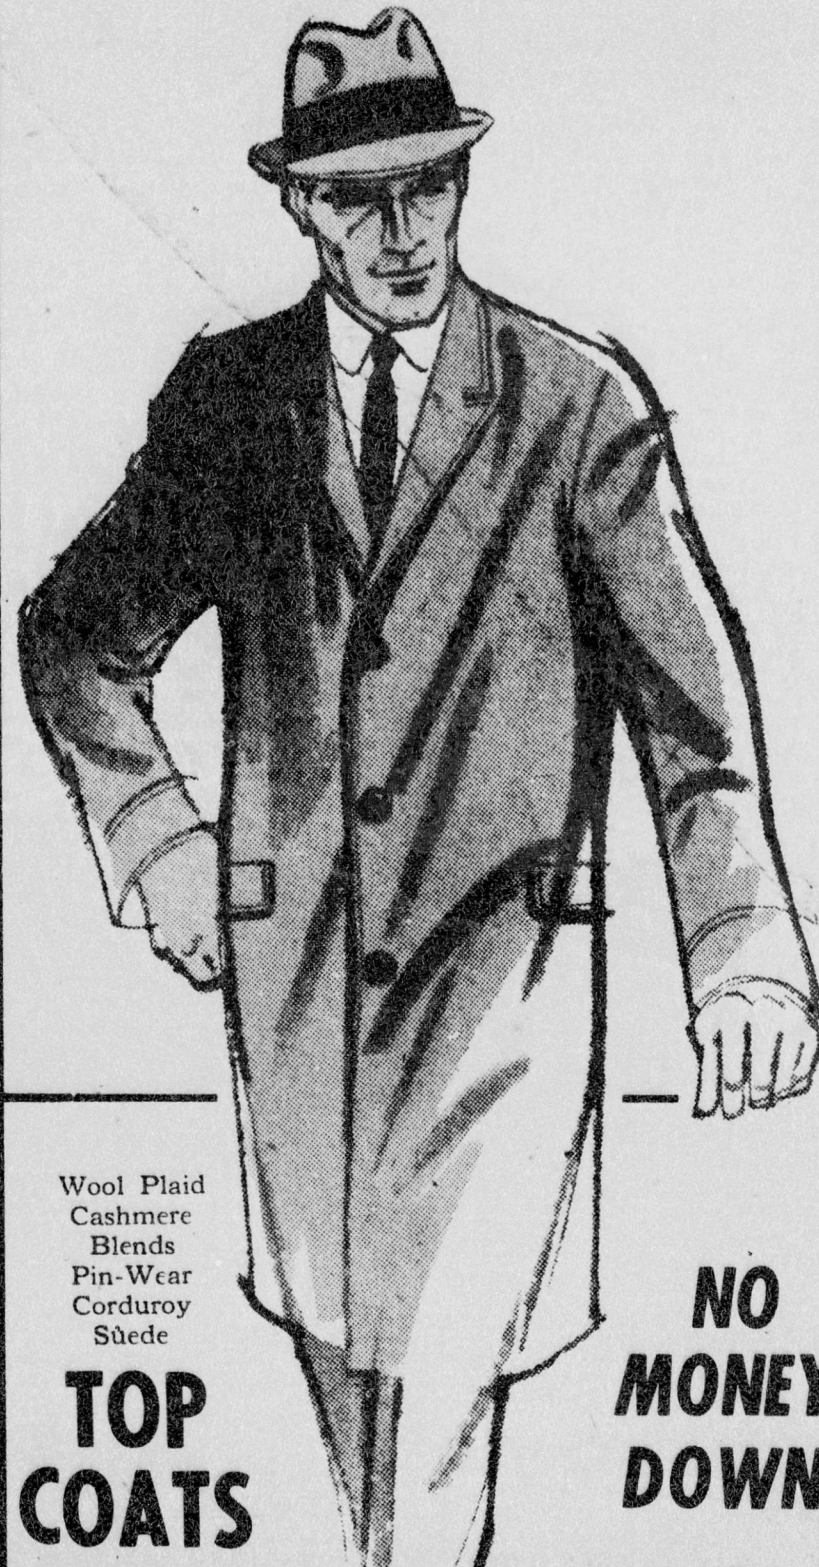

Unlike Cleveland's Carl B. Stokes and Gary's Richard G. Hatcher, who won city-wide elections, Springfield's mayors are chosen by the city commissioners.

Mixed Feelings

NEW YORK (NPI) - NAACP officials have mixed feelings about an agreement made at Ohio State university which guarantees 140 jobs for Negroes at university construction projects. While they are happy about the job breakthrough NAACP heads are disheartened that the state and federal agencies have not enforced job equality.
